Rookies Hold Packer Key To Success

By DON BRYON

Green Bay, Wis.—(U.P.)—Lisle Blackburn starts his second season as coach of the Green Bay Packers with a group of eager rookies holding the key to success or failure.

The Packers started the 1945 season with high hopes, but inability to win the close ones landed the club in fifth place in the National Football League's Western Division at the finish with a 4-8 record.

Green Bay's chances to improve on that record this year depend on a discouraging degree on newcomers. The attack last year was built almost entirely around quarterback Tobin Rote and ends Billy Howton and Max McGee. When that aerial combination failed, the Packers lost.

This year McGee has been lost to the armed forces and Blackburn is still looking for a number one left end. The top candidates are rookies Jim Jennings of Missouri and Bob Peringer of Washington State, with second year man Gary Knefel also in contention.

But none of the prospects has looked good enough in pre-season exhibitions to take his place alongside Howton, one of the best pass catchers in the league when the opposition can't double-team him.

The Packers also need a top reserve quarterback, and they may have found one in an unlikely place—Prairie View, (Tex.) A.M. Charlie Brackins, who passed, kicked and carried the ball to set a flock of records at Prairie View, has taken the switch to pro ball in stride and should stick as Rote's understudy.

Defense One Of Tops

The Packers' defense, already one of the best in the league, has been strengthened considerably with the addition of rookie guard Tom Bettis of Purdue. Green Bay's first draft choice, George Timberlake of Southern California and Hank Bullough of Michigan State also have shown promise of sticking at guard.
