Bayes Said Early Friend of Reds

San Francisco—(U.P.)—Cpl. Thomas Bayes Jr., Flat Lick, Ky., was on friendly terms with his captors less than three months after he was wounded and taken prisoner in Korea, according to testimony at his court martial here yesterday.

The 32-year-old soldier is accused of 14 acts of collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner.

Yesterday's testimony came from Earl R. Smith, a laborer of Keego Harbor, Mich., and in a deposition taken from Jose Martinez, of Farmington, N.M. Both were also prisoners of the Chinese Communists.

Smith testified that Bayes had access to camp headquarters and was granted freedom to move between prisoners compounds. Both men said that the price Bayes had to pay for these freedoms was to become a Communist mouthpiece in the prisoners' circle.

Martinez's deposition asserted that Bayes admitted making propaganda broadcasts for the Communists, but the defense countered that Martinez and Bayes were unfriendly and that

Bloodhound Seeks Lost Prospectors

Spirit Lake, Wash.—(U.P.)—Maggie, a bloodhound who once hunted escaped convicts, today gave search parties slim hope that they may yet rescue two elderly uranium hunters lost since Sunday in the Mt. St. Helens wilderness area.

The dog today resumed her search of a "hot scent" picked up yesterday when she led searchers eight miles along the ridge of Goat Mountain. Missing are Charles Allger, 85, Tacoma, and Charles Dickens, 70, San Diego.

Jets To Commemorate
Air Battle of Britain

London—(U.P.)—Seventy-two modern jet fighter planes will fly over London today to commemorate the day 15 years ago when the Royal Air Force turned the tide in the air battle of Britain.

The fly-past, an annual event for the last ten years, will be led by a Spitfire and a Hurricane fighter, the piston-engine planes which took the brunt of Germany's air assault on Britain.

Martinez had himself signed a Communist petition.

Mixed rain and mist hampered yesterday's search and prompted District Ranger Marshall Stenerson to fear for the prospectors' lives. The weather halted use of a civil air patrol search plane.

Claude Crumb, 62, Riverside, Calif., who said he was an old prospecting "buddy" of the missing pair, told searchers yesterday he and Dickens had staked a claim in 1916 in the Clearwater Creek area, near Meta Lake.

A third member of the uranium hunting party, Joseph F. Castle, 92, Tacoma, had stayed behind at their camp at Meta Lake Sunday, and reported the others missing when they failed to return from "an hour and a half hike."

Castle said the two men were looking for a mine worked some 50 years ago by Dickens' father. The mine was said to have contained a heavy black material which might have contained uranium.

Portland—(U.P.)—Thomas B. Winship, retired building contractor, yesterday was elected president of the Oregon Humane Society to succeed the late Harvey Wells, legislator who headed the group for many years.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—SEVEN

Los Angeles Man Leases Claims

Albert A. Robbins of Los Angeles county, Calif., has leased six lode mining claims and six placer lodes in the Richter mountain area in northern Jackson county, according to records in the county recorder's office.

Robbins leased from George A. Culy and John E. McConochie six claims known as Old Coder Nos. 1 through 6, and from Culy, McConochie, Claude Stevens, A. Robbins, Mrs. H. B. Cotes, Wanda C. Robbins, Thomas H. Craig, and Rachel H. Craig about 160 acres of placer lode claims known as Stevens Nos. 1 through 6.

All claims are to be operated in conjunction with each other and be in operation by April, 1956, with a minimum production of 25 tons of ore and concentrates. The leases are good for 25 years.

Leases specify that royalties will amount to 10 per cent of the gross value of all ores, concentrates, minerals and metals refined, removed, stock piled and sold from the mines.

Canada Postpones Salk Polio Shots

Ottawa—(U.P.)—Canada's 1955 polio vaccination program may be delayed until late spring by a shut down of plants manufacturing Salk anti-polio vaccine for safety reasons, official sources said today.

Connaught Laboratories plants were shut down because they were not prepared to turn out with safety the increased amounts of the vaccine needed for the 1956 program.

New Connaught Laboratories, under construction near Toronto and at the University of Montreal, are not expected to be in operation for two or three months. One batch of the vaccine, enough for 90,000 to 100,000 shots, has been held in reserve from 1955 production.

Sources here said that all production at Connaught has halted when the demand and distribution difficulties increased the "danger factor."

While some batches had to be destroyed, batch No. 25, described as one of the last turned out by Connaught's Toronto laboratory, passed all safety tests.

It is the batch now held in reserve.

Some 880,000 Canadian children in the most susceptible age groups got two and in some cases three immunization shots. The program was halted in July and Health Minister Paul Martin announced that Canadian medical advisers recommended against giving the shots during the height of the polio season—late summer and early fall.

Freak Accident Kills Worker at Heppner

Heppner, Ore.—(U.P.)—A freak accident yesterday resulted in fatal injuries to 35-year-old Keith Johnson, of Heppner, a workman installing fire escapes on a grain elevator here.

Johnson was tossed 30 feet out of his boatswain's chair when a car inadvertently drove into the rope that held the apparatus through a pulley high up on the side of the elevator. The rope was anchored to another car on the ground below when a car driven by an unidentified motorist struck the line and jolted Johnson out of the chair.
