

Local and Personal

Vandalism—Mrs. Irene Burns, 1498 Spring st., has informed the sheriff's office that her mail box was wrecked by vandals last week. She said that boxes of neighbors also were damaged.

Gasoline Taken—Floyd Baker of Reter Fruit company has reported theft of 20 gallons of gasoline to sheriff's deputies. He said the fuel was taken Wednesday night from a spray shed at Pioneer orchards.

Burglary—The sheriff's office is investigating a reported burglary of the George William Leaned cabin on Williams creek near the Josephine county line. A rifle, ammunition, a pocket knife, shoes and field glasses were taken in the burglary which apparently occurred Thursday.

Horses Caught—Two horses found running loose on Stewart ave. between King and Peach sts. early Friday morning were caught by three police officers and two deputy sheriffs and taken to the sheriff's posse grounds until the owner could be located.

Fined—Gertrude Beverly Casto, 51, Portland, was fined $100 and sentenced to 10 days in city jail when she pleaded guilty Friday in police court to driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Judge James Main stayed the 10-day sentence upon payment of the fine.

To Active Duty—Lt. Col. Thomas A. Culbertson, 2509 Lyman ave., who is commander of the maintenance squadron of the 403rd Troop Carrier wing of the Air Force reserves, will go on active duty for 12 days Oct. 23, according to an Air Force announcement. He will attend the natural resources conference to be held in Portland.

Hearing Slated—City police said that Lewis Neill Rhodes, 49, of 145 South Grape st., entered a plea of innocent Saturday in city court on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under influence of intoxicating liquor. Hearing is to be set at a later date. He was arrested on South Grape st. between Eighth and Ninth sts.

Enters College—Dieter Trost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Trost, 2922 South Pacific highway, has enrolled for the fall term at California State Polytechnic college at San Dimas, Calif., according to an announcement from the college. A graduate of Phoenix High school, he will be a freshman and will specialize in ornamental horticulture.

MECHANICAL BRAIN—An operator stacks checks at console of Traveler's Check Scanner developed for use with the revolutionary electro-mechanical accounting machine built at the Stanford Research Institute Control Systems Laboratory in Menlo Park, Cal. The scanner "reads" the arabic numbers printed on each check in magnetic ink and punches IBM cards for use in the bank's check accounting system. The scanner will be incorporated in later models of the electro-mechanical accounting machine (ERMA), a 25-ton bookkeeping brain developed at the laboratory.

15 Books On Pacific NW Acquired In Sept.

Fifteen new books devoted to the Pacific Northwest are among the volumes acquired by the Medford Public library during September, it was announced last week.

Purchase of the books was made possible through the bequest of several thousand dollars to the library by the late Mrs. Ella J. Smith of Gold Hill. Her will provided that the funds be used to make a permanent improvement in the library, of a memorial nature.

The Medford Library board has established a trust fund memorial collection, named in Mrs. Smith's honor, and is devoting it to books about the Pacific Northwest. The September acquisitions are among the first to be placed in the special collection. They deal with Northwest history, tradition, parks, people, industries and animal life.

Other September acquisitions include works of fiction, including selections of westerns and mysteries, "how-to-do-it" books, volumes about people and institutions, and miscellaneous books. Here is the list of the new September books:

Searchers Contact 'Mystery Woman' in Attempt To Find Lost Portland Women

Portland—(U.P.)—Search parties have failed to find any trace of two Portland women missing in the Larch mountain area, but they have found a woman who has been a legend among mountain visitors for years.

Few have seen the "Larch Mountain Mystery Woman" but some have told of catching glimpses of her hurrying along remote mountain trails.
Find Tiny Log Hut
With scores of searchers combing the area, it was inevitable that some of them should have come upon her tiny log hut, a six-foot by six-foot log cabin like something out of a Gene Statton Porter novel. The tiny building hugs the ground among the ferns and searchers said it was possible to pass by a few feet away without seeing it, so perfectly does it blend with the foliage.

Sheriff's officers sought out the "mystery woman" in hopes she might provide some lead in the hunt for Mrs. Avera Ferguson and Mrs. Bernice Sharkey. When they found the hut, it was some time before the knocks were answered. They said the house was black as a cave inside and barely high enough to stand in. But it was neat.

Remembered "Cry"
The woman, said to be Hazel Arrington, consented to sketch a map of the area on the ground and she told officers she remembered hearing a cry in the night Sunday, "like a human imitating a coyote."

Some say the "mystery woman" has been in the mountains since 1912; others say it was since her parents died; and still others say it was since the time her face was disfigured in an auto accident. Her house appeared to be about 25 years old.
