Taylor Can't Figure Out How Indians Lost To OSC

By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer
San Francisco — (U.P.) — Chuck Taylor, the optimistic coach of the Stanford Indians, is learning about the law of averages—something many folks thought had been repealed in his favor years ago.

The youthful chieftain can't, for the life of him, figure out how his team lost to Oregon State last Saturday after controlling the ball more than two-thirds of the time.

Chuck ought to look back at the records for 1951, his first year as head coach, when he piloted the team to the Rose Bowl.

That was the year the Indians got pushed around something fierce by just about every football team on the coast—but still won every game except the one with California and, of course, the Rose Bowl tilt.

Now the ball is bouncing the other way, and there is the possibility that there may be a drought of good fortune for a couple of years to offset some of the accumulated breaks in the past.

If the Oregon State game is any criterion, it looks like a long, gloomy season for the Red Men.

Stanford had the ball for 89 plays against 34 for Oregon State, but lost, 0-10. Stanford picked up 205 yards net rushing to 82 for the Beavers; and 158 passing against 68. Oh, yes, and the Indians had 23 first downs against seven for Tommy Prothro's new single-wing boys.

Lady Luck Took Hand

"How it was possible to lose that ball game, I'll never know," said Taylor afterwards. "It just couldn't be done."

But it was—and it again is the case of Lady Luck taking a hand in determining the outcome of a ball game. This is not to take anything away from Oregon State. But even Coach Prothro will have to admit that his club might have had just a few more of the breaks than normally is anticipated.

"But there's one thing about losing that tilt," philosophizes Taylor, "and that is that it will stop all that silly Rose Bowl talk. Now we can just take the games as they come!"

Large Crop Of Frosh At Oregon State

Corvallis — (U.P.) — A big crop of freshman athletes, including six-foot-10-inch basketball star Gary Gobbi of Toulle Lake, Wash., and two-time all-state hoopster, Ted Miller of Milwaukie, were enrolled at Oregon State college today.

Eight preppers who played in the 1955 state high school Shrine game in Portland were included on the football roster. They are Tony Arana of Vale; Nub Beamer of Roseburg; Terry Salisbury of North Salem; Duane Marshall of St. Helens; Mickey Gray of Roosevelt; Gene McMullen of Lincoln; Dennis Brundage of Roseburg and Buzz Randall of Estacada. All but Brundage and Randall are backs.

From Los Angeles came Jim Brackins, winner of the Naval Academy award for the outstanding student athlete in Southern California. He plays guard. Several other California prep stars enrolled.

Copple Enrolled

Miles Boardman of Bend, named the most valuable back in the 1953 Shrine game, entered school after two years in the service.

Miller, also a football quarterback, plans to play only basketball at OSC. Other basketball standouts include Larry Copple of Medford, Leighton Tuttle of Eugene and Don Stamps of Albany. Don Pino, Los Angeles hoop-ace who was sought by several schools, also is here.

Football Briefs

Moscow, Idaho — (U.P.) — Coach Skip Stahley hinted today he has something up his sleeve to cure his University of Idaho Vandals' "sickly running offense" when they meet Arizona Saturday at Tucson.

Stahley sent the Vandals through a two-hour light workout yesterday in their first practice since Saturday's loss to Utah. Starting halfback Ray Bittner, who sprained an ankle against Utah, remained off the field but was expected back in uniform tomorrow. Stahley said he probably will see action against Arizona.

IVERNON PROGRESSES

Pullman, Wash. — (U.P.) — First string quarterback Bob Iversen, who suffered a mild concussion in Washington State's loss to Kansas, was pronounced in good condition today but it was doubtful he will see action against UCLA Saturday.

Two other injured Cougars rejoined the team yesterday, however, and looked good in two hours of rough contact work. Sophomores Ben Millam, fullback, and Floyd Richmond, halfback, suited up for the first time since they were sidelined with injuries before the season got under way.

PRaises Huskies

Seattle, Wash. — (U.P.) — Coach Johnny Cherbeg, greatly pleased with the University of Washington's 30-0 win against Minnesota, praised his Huskies today for their "great team effort."

He said he has "every confidence the team will show this team effort every Saturday of the season."

The Huskies held a light workout yesterday, but scheduled heavy drills today in preparation for Saturday's conference game against Oregon. Tackle George Struger and guard Nat Davis, who suffered sprained ankles Saturday, were reported in good shape.

PROUD NEW LOOK

Corvallis, Ore. — (U.P.) — Coach Tommy Prothro, proud of his "new look" Oregon State Beavers for their starting 10-0 upset victory over Stanford, sent his team back to heavy drills today in preparation for their next "big one"—against UCLA Oct. 8.

Interest in the UCLA clash was already high. Prothro served nine years under Red Sanders as UCLA backfield coach and brought Sanders' single-wing attack with him when he came to Oregon State last spring.

WORK ON PASSES

Eugene, Ore. — (U.P.) — The University of Oregon Webfoots, known for their air attack in seven of the last nine seasons, concentrated today on developing passing talent to by-pass the heavy Washington Huskies' line in Portland Saturday.

The Ducks, who have completed only five throws in two games, met Washington in Multnomah Stadium and will face a huge line topped by several men tipping the scales at more than 220 pounds.

SIX INJURED

Stanford, Calif. — (U.P.) — The Stanford Indians counted six men on the bench with injuries today, but three of them are possible starters for Saturday's game here against Ohio State.

Halfback Lou Valli, tackle Chris Plain and end Joel Freis have been declared definitely out of the Ohio State tilt. The other three, halfback Gordy Young, center Don Geddes and end Steve Doctor, were expected to see some action Saturday.

The Indians ran through a series of defense plays yesterday which they expect Ohio State to spring on them.

Webfoots Oppose Huskies In Portland On Saturday

University of Oregon, Eugene — Oregon's Ducks begin a three week end home stand this Saturday when they play host to Washington's Huskies at Multnomah stadium in Portland.

This will be the first chance for Webfoot grid fans to see the 1955 version of Len Casanova's football club, probably the youngest outfit that the veteran grid coach has had in his five years at Oregon.

It will be the 49th renewal of the Ancient football wars between the two schools, Oregon winning last year 26-7 behind the brilliant passing of quarterback George Shaw.

Shaw is gone this year, as well as 15 other lettermen, including all but four of last year's starters. Compared to the Ducks' 13 returning monogram wearers, Washington's Johnny Cherbeg had 25 returning vets on hand to start this season.

Ducks Outweighed

Oregon will go into this one outweighed as well as out-experienced. Average weight of the Husky forward well is 207 compared to 199 for the Webfoots. A similar difference is apparent in the backfield where Washington outweighs Oregon 192 to 180 per man.

What the Ducks lost in weight they have shown they can replace in speed. Starting at the halfbacks for Oregon are Dick James, co-owner of the 1954 PCC scoring crown, and sophomore flash Jim Shanley. At fullback there is another sophomore, sprinter Jack Morris. Although the heaviest of the lot at 188, Morris is expected to be a stand-out for Coach Bill Bowerman's tract team.

With the incomparable Shaw no longer in the Duck plant, passing was looked at with considerable doubt for 1955. But a pair of unrelated juniors going by the name of Crabtree have developed rapidly in late drills.

Better Balance

Tom Crabtree, a converted halfback from the 1954 squad, is the most familiar with the Casanova T formation system. Jack Crabtree, a transfer from San Bernadino junior college, has flashed good form at the handoff slot and as of late is beginning to look like a potential passing threat.

Casanova is hoping this year to have a better balanced attack than in his four previous years at Oregon. Before, with Shaw, and before that, Norm Van Brocklin, the Oregon attack has always been heavy in air traffic.

This season in the James-Shanley-Morris trio, the Webfoot head man has one of the fastest set of backs at Oregon since the war. The balance, he hopes, will come from one of the Crabtrees, Tom or Jack.

Morris has shown that he can block well, running interference for scooters James and Shanley. Morris also does the footwork for the Ducks, place-kicking, kicking off and a fair share of the punting.

Should the Ducks ever need a power threat, they have right behind Morris at fullback, Boise JC transfer Fred Milkian, a 213 pound, 5-11 junior. And in back of James and Shanley at the halves are another pair of extremely fast men, both JC transfers, Jack Brown and Chuck Osborne.

TO MANAGE OFFICE

Portland — (U.P.) — Mrs. Jean L. Lewis, Democratic state representative from Multnomah county, today was named manager of the Oregon office of Sen. Wayne Morse which will open here in the near future.

Seals Ask City For Support

San Francisco — (U.P.) — The San Francisco baseball club has asked the city to help it fight its way back from threatening bankruptcy.

"We have reached a point where it is impossible to continue under the present circumstances," Seal President Damon Miller told the Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Miller said he believed the problem would be solved if the city bought Seals stadium from multi-millionaire Paul I. Fagan and rented it to the club at a "nominal rate." That would also solve the present heavy tax bite. Seals $280,000 in debt.

The Seals are approximately $280,000 in debt and Miller listed the heavier expenses as $29,000 in stadium rent, $35,000 for maintenance of the park and $36,000 in city taxes.

Miller's so-called "Little Corporation" bought the franchise and the players from the league in the fall of 1953 after Fagan sold all his holdings except the park. The corporation then rented the stadium from Fagan on a basis of 10-cents per paid admission.

Miller told the city board yesterday that other Pacific Coast league cities are helping their baseball teams in some manner.

a one-day rest because of the bruising Maryland game.

Coach Henry (Red) Sanders, who drilled his second and third teams yesterday, takes the Bruins to Pullman, Wash., Saturday or their first Pacific Coast Conference game of the season with Washington State.

Team doctors said tailback Ronnie Knox, injured in the Maryland game, suffered only a bruised shoulder and not a separation as feared at first. End Ronnie Loudd suffered a minor knee injury against the Terps but also will be ready for Washington State.

DEFENSIVE DRILLS

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — Coach Jess Hill worked his Southern California Trojans today on ways to stop quarterbacks Joe Clements of Texas, the nation's total offense leader.

The Trojans meet Texas Friday night in Memorial Coliseum. Clements completed 17 of 22 passes against Tulane for 215 yards and three touchdowns as Texas won 35-21.

SC drilled yesterday both on passing offense and defense. Quarterback Jim Contratto, Ellisworth Kissinger and Frank Hall handled the Trojan passing from the T formation with end Leon Clarke and right half Don Hickman doing most of the receiving.

RESUME WORKOUTS

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — The UCLA first team resumed workouts today after getting a one-day rest because of the bruising Maryland game.

Coach Henry (Red) Sanders, who drilled his second and third teams yesterday, takes the Bruins to Pullman, Wash., Saturday or their first Pacific Coast Conference game of the season with Washington State.

Team doctors said tailback Ronnie Knox, injured in the Maryland game, suffered only a bruised shoulder and not a separation as feared at first. End Ronnie Loudd suffered a minor knee injury against the Terps but also will be ready for Washington State.

Rochester Takes Lead in Little World Series

Minneapolis — (U.P.) — Rochester had the Little World Series title in clear sight today in the wake of its 8-4 victory Monday night over the Minneapolis Millers.

The Redbirds' victory gave them a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven game series.

What was even more important, Rochester had well-rested Gary Blaylock ready to hurl at Minneapolis. Blaylock beat the Millers on a three-hitter Saturday.

Minneapolis, however, was expected to use its workhorse, Al Worthington, who has won twice in the series but pitched a full game Sunday.

Ziegler To Stay As Bevo Manager

Portland — (U.P.) — Joe Ziegler will guide the Portland Beavers baseball club through another season next year.

President Clay Brown of the club said last night that Ziegler had inked a contract as Beaver general manager just before taking off by plane for the world series in New York.

"Directors of the club are very pleased that Joe will be with us again," Brown said.

Ziegler was named front office boss of the Beavers shortly after the team was purchased from the George Norgan interests in a community effort last fall. He came here from Buffalo where he was general manager of that city's entry in the International league.

Golf Putting Contest Decides Dish Washer

Memphis, Tenn. — (U.P.) — It was the age-old battle of wits over who should wash dishes.

College student Martin Lifer of Greenwood, Miss., was practicing putting a golf ball on his living room floor when his wife, Gerlene, said he should wash dishes.

Martin, who classes himself as a pretty fair golfer, challenged Gerlene to a putting contest to see who would wash.

Losing the first contest, Martin made a second bet for stacking. He stacked, too.

Paralytic Success Making Animal Lures

Oskaloosa, Ia. — (U.P.) — Hugh Walker, 49, has made a success of making animated lures for trappers since he was paralyzed from the hips down by a fall five years ago.

Although confined to a wheel chair, he has a thriving business making lures like the ones which made him an outstanding trapper before the accident.

Walker, with the help of his wife still sets some traps each fall.

Buffaloes, like cattle, have hollow, permanent horns. Deer antlers are solid and are shed annually. Antelope shed the outer sheaths from permanent cores.

Morris' Knee Recovering

Eugene — (U.P.) — Jack Morris, speedy sophomore fullback from Medford, appeared well on the way to recovery today from a knee injury suffered in the last quarter of the Oregon-Southern California football game last Friday night.

Morris took part in dummy drills and booted several long punts in practice yesterday. But Casanova, who wants Morris in shape for Washington Saturday night, kept him out of a lengthy contact session.

Players Request Salary Boost

New York — (U.P.) — Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick is studying a group of proposals made by major-league players, through their team representatives including a plea for a boost in the minimum salary from $8,000 to $7,200.

The proposals were approved by the 16 representatives of the big league clubs yesterday and forwarded to Frick by the players' attorney, J. Norman Lewis.

The players also asked for a change in the "bonus rule" to keep "bonus babies" from counting against the teams' 25-man rosters, clarification on what players should be paid for appearing on television programs, and permission to make individual deals to play in the Caribbean winter leagues.
