Lack of Space Hurts Athletics

Chicago—(U.P.)—Young Americans often aren't athletic simply because there's no space to be athletic, according to two site development engineers for parks, schools and other recreational facilities.

John McFadzean and Robert E. Everly offered that explanation to a criticism at a meeting

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, they feel more comfortable. Do not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEREETH at any drug counter.

The problem is not confined to the cities, the engineers said. Many suburbs now are feeling the pinch from failing to provide for parks, playgrounds, community centers or other public recreational facilities.

BEWARE THE BAD
HEART OBSESSION

Five years ago I told here, or at least I wrote for publication here a story about two men who, some months following coronary thrombosis, achieved outstanding athletic record, one in mountain climbing in Switzerland, the other in marathon in South Africa.

Not that such extreme physical effort is advisable for every one who has had one or more coronary accidents. I cited these achievements merely to show that a person who has or has had one or another kind of heart trouble is not thereby barred from working and playing.

On the contrary, as I try to explain in detail in Little Lesson 2, C.V.D., about heart and artery troubles, (for a copy send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope), graduated exercise is an indispensable part of the successful treatment of any and every kind of heart trouble.

So I say to the individual with heart trouble, if you're not a malingering, a tramp or a low-grade moron, by all means avail yourself of the remedial effect of graduated exercise, no matter what 19th century medical authorities thought about it. Whenever I see a poor geek who has or has had some kind of heart trouble walking on eggs I feel about the same as I do when some reader sends me a clipping of a newspaper reporter's story, in the traditional humorous style, of the wholesale tonsillectomy perpetrated on an entire family or at least upon the defenseless children in the family; or when some glib customer describes the suffering he or she endured for several days following the clamp and cautery operation for piles. I feel mad, I grit my teeth—and I still have a full complement of teeth in good working order, most of them my own—and I swear (mentally). Plague take such dumb doctors, I exclaim, or worse.

For many years I have told you timid souls that heart trouble, no matter just what kind of trouble it may be, should not handicap any one or prevent him or her from doing moderate work, walking, dancing, playing golf, bowling, gardening, skating, swimming or engaging in any ordinary physical activity. In my opinion any one who claims he or she is totally disabled by weak heart or heart disease should be given the alternative of going to work or submitting to examination by an independent commission of two or more competent physicians whose judgment would be conclusive.

Such an unemotional way of dealing with the bad heart obsession would be a blessing to all concerned.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS
Come, Now, Take It Easy

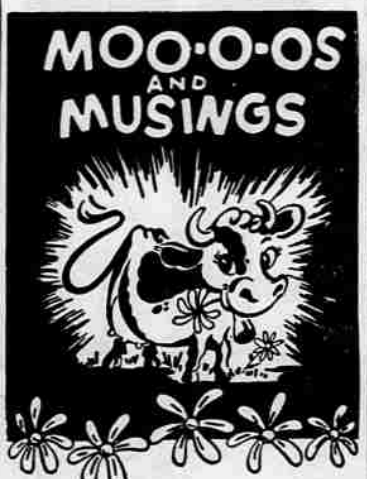

I have had pain in my right leg for about five months. Have consulted M.D. and D.O. without results. Please send your pamphlet "CALCIUM AND RHEUMATISM" in enclosed stamped envelope. (Mrs. D. A.)

Answer—Pain in the leg is probably not rheumatism (physical degeneration of joint tissues) and pain of more than minutes or hours duration is probably not tetany. So I have no advice for you, Ma'am, except that you should consult a physician who will endeavor to diagnose your trouble.

If the Cap Fits
We get lots of good advice and many chuckles—but sometimes we think your name-calling is a (G. A. E.) Answer—Have I called YOU anything you are not? (Protected 1955 by John F. Dille Co.)

Coarse stemmed or weedy crops that are hard to cure as hay and over-mature meadow crops make better silage than they do hay.

There are more automobiles registered in Wayne County, Mich., than there are families.

We like the idea of safety belts in cars but we can suggest one improvement.

An extra wide belt that will also cover a back seat driver's mouth.

As We Live

Lonely Wife More Devoted To Pet Than To Husband

Some people allow themselves to become so absorbed in some interest that it occupies the major part of their time and thoughts. This can be carried to an extreme where it will inconvenience others, as is true in the following case:

(Q) "We are a middle-aged couple with one daughter who was married two years ago. Her husband is in the service and she is with him, far enough away that we see her only occasionally. While she was at home, my wife never wanted to leave her."

As a result, we were tied down to the house, even after she started to date and go to parties. My wife always maintained that it wasn't right to have a young girl stay alone in the house or come home to an empty house. I agree that she was right about this.

"Since our daughter's marriage, my wife has wrapped herself up in our dog. We never can go away because she claims the dog is unhappy in the kennels. If we leave the dog alone in the house, he tears up anything he can get his paws on. We are tied down by a dog just as we used to be tied down by our daughter. I don't want to be on the go all the time, but I would like to go away occasionally for a week-end trip, or to see friends, a movie, or just get out of the house. I tell my wife that she is carrying this dog business too far, but she claims that the dog is her major interest now that our daughter is married. I am beginning to feel that she puts the dog ahead of me."

(A) From what you say, you are right in thinking that your wife is putting the dog ahead of you. And, by doing so, she is being unfair to you. While your child was at home, I am sure you were more than willing to make sacrifices for her. But a dog is hardly in the same category as a daughter.

Your wife's absorption in this dog is a form of compensation. She was doubtful at a loss when your daughter married and left home. She now concentrates her interest and affection on the pet, treating it as if it were a human.

Until your wife develops other interests, this absorption in the dog will likely persist. Can you not help her to become interested in some of the church and community affairs that would take her out of the home? Then she would put the dog in its proper place in her life.
