

Southern Cal Choice by 13 Over Texas

By JOE SARGIS
 United Press Sports Writer
 Southern California, undefeated in two starts and the nation's eighth ranked team, is a 13-point favorite over once-beaten Texas in their intersectional clash at Los Angeles tonight as college football launches its second big weekend amidst the World Series hoopla.

The Trojans, who romped to 50-12 and 42-15 victories over Washington State and Oregon, respectively, are anxious to atone for their Rose Bowl loss to Ohio State by capturing the Pacific Coast championship. Texas, on the other hand, is trying to forget its opening game loss to Texas Tech — 20-14 — two weeks ago.

Wichita, perhaps the strongest contender for the Missouri Valley crown, is also favored by 13 points in its league meeting with Detroit tonight, while in another leading night game, Miami of Florida is a prohibitive choice over Florida State.

Saturday's program is a bit more crowded with the Maryland at Baylor game heading the list. The Terrapins, the nation's top ranked team, are favored by one touchdown, while the Bears, who like Maryland have won both starts this season, are primed for an upset. Maryland just did squeeze past Missouri, 13-12, in its opener and then whipped UCLA, the 1954 champion, 7-0 last Saturday.

Tenth-ranked Ohio State, the Rose Bowl champion and 28-20 winner over Nebraska in its season opener, is the 10-point pick over Stanford in the nationally televised game of the week from Palo Alto, Calif. Stanford has a 1-1 record.

Second-ranked Michigan, with an easy win over Missouri under its belt, is a strong 13-point pick over Michigan State in a Big Ten meeting, while third-ranked Georgia Tech is only a seven-point favorite over Southern Methodist in another intersectional game. Tech defeated Miami of Florida and Florida in its two games while SMU lost its only start to Notre Dame last Saturday.

Oklahoma, ranked fourth, is favored by 14 points over Pittsburgh. Fifth-ranked Notre Dame is a 20-point pick over Indiana; sixth-ranked UCLA is a solid 20-point choice over Washington State; seventh-ranked Army, one of the top teams in the East, is picked by 13 points over Penn State; and ninth-ranked Texas Christian, another Southwest-ern power, is favored by seven points over Arkansas, the defending Southwest Conference champion.

Huskies By Seven
 Here is how the oddsmakers figure Saturday's other top games: Northwestern one point over Tulane; Wisconsin one over Iowa; Purdue 13 over Minnesota; Illinois 20 over Iowa State; Kentucky 21 over Villanova (night); Cornell one over Colgate; Holy Cross one over Dart-

Phoenix, Crater Grid Crews Mix Tonight

Phoenix—The stage was set here for tonight's top prep football game in the Rogue River valley.

Phoenix high's Pirates and the Crater High Comets lock in a Rogue League and District 6 A-2 scrap, the first conference action for each team. The clubs have had close games in past recent years and this year is expected to be no exception.

Crater will be at least a slight favorite, but is anticipating no easy pickings with the Pirates who last week lost only 7 to 13 to Ashland after outplaying the Grizzlies through the evening. The Comets have come out on top in the most recent engagements with the Pirates, but Phoenix hopes are high for an upset this time in a "real good" ball game.

Both clubs have spent a lot of time on defense this week, but some good offensive action is anticipated. The Pirates have been polishing to overcome offensive fumble-itis which hurt against Ashland last week, and Coach Jack Woodard thinks the trouble has been corrected.

The Comets are expected to field the heavier aggregation. Phoenix has a light club, but makes up for it in overall team speed. The Pirates move in a hurry and they have lots of fight and spirit.

Both clubs are at least near full strength physically. Only Comet not likely to see action is End Carl Koellner, who has a bad ankle.

Ray Dahl may start at one end for Phoenix. At the other, Gary Simmonds is the listed starter.

Yale 14 over Brown; Clemson six over Georgia; Vanderbilt six over Alabama (night); College of Pacific six over Cincinnati (night); Auburn seven over Florida; North Carolina seven over North Carolina State; Duke seven over Tennessee; West Virginia seven over Wake Forest; Navy 13 over South Carolina; Marquette seven over Tulsa (night); Texas A & M seven over Houston and Washington seven over Oregon (night).

with Bill Madden filling in. At other posts the possibilities are Perry Sneed and Don Wallace or Delford Dean, tackles; Don Blankenship and Dennis Bradley, guards; Jim Hobbs, center, and Jim Korth, John Garner, Delmar Brood and Dan Lovett, backs.

Oregon Ducks Drill Hard For Fray With Washington

University of Oregon, Eugene, Sept. 29—Coach Len Casanova is leaving nothing undone in preparing his Oregon Duck footballers for their game next Saturday night against Washington at Multnomah stadium in Portland. The Duck coach is operating under the theory that his charges can stand improvement in all phases of the game, so he is drilling them accordingly.

Wednesday marked the third straight day that the Webfoots underwent heavy scrimmaging, both offensively and defensively. And as usual, the three Oregon quarterbacks, Tom and Jack Crabtree and Wally Russell, got in some passing practice.

Casanova especially has been stressing defense in this week's drills, particularly after Southern California romped to six touchdowns last Friday night.

Oregon has allowed its opponents 478 yards rushing in two games, hardly a notable defensive record. Duck foes also have recorded 220 yards by passing.

What worries Casanova is the fact that Washington has piled up 430 yards on the ground in two games, while holding its adversaries to 155. The Huskies also have picked up 196 yards by passing.

So the Webfoots drilled for a solid hour on defense Wednesday, as the third string ran off simulated Washington plays. Assistant Coaches Jack Roche and Bill Hammer directed the defensive platoons while head boss Casanova coordinated the operation.

Troy Picked Over Speiser

Washington — (U.P.) — Light heavyweight Willie Troy of Washington is favored at 7-5 to beat collegiate Chuck Speiser of Lansing, Mich., tonight in their nationally televised and broadcast 10-round bout at the New Capitol Arena.

Troy, who recently out-grew the middleweight class, is favored because of his greater experience and crisper punch. Willie registered 23 knockouts while winning 30 of his 34 fights.

Speiser, a graduate of Michigan State and a former Olympic light heavyweight champ, has had five fights since receiving his discharge from the Army. His total record of 15-3-0 includes 12 kayoes.

ST. MARY'S PLAYS GP CAVEMEN ON SATURDAY

Medford fans will get a sort of preview of the Grants Pass Cavemen football contingent here Saturday night.

St. Mary's high of Medford is host to the Grants Pass varsity reserves in an 8 p.m. struggle. The Cavemen replace Sacred Heart of Klamath Falls. Sacred Heart asked cancellation of the scheduled scuffle giving as a reason a small squad and too many injuries to enable it to field a team for this week end.

The Crusaders recognized as team to beat in the Jackson County B. League will go up against a Grants Pass varsity stripped of 12 to 15 of its top players. It will still be a stiff test for the Medford parochial school. Coach Mel Ingram of the Cavemen, who won't be on hand for the game, has termed his club a supervarsity. The crew will be handled by Bill Martell, assistant coach, and Russ Werner, jayvee mentor.

Grants Pass will pack more weight with the two huge Graves boys, Nathan and Dick, in the lineup. But the Crusaders will rely on speed and deception which has looked impressive in games, so far. St. Mary's would like to have played Sacred Heart but isn't unhappy over the meeting with the Cavemen which should keep it in tune for later
