Freighter Attempts To Salvage Crashed Plane in Pacific

San Francisco — (U.P.) — The freighter SS Harry Culbreath attempted Saturday to salvage a civilian-owned PB Catalina flying boat which landed safely on the ocean 500 miles offshore Friday after a futile five-hour attempt to fly on one engine.

The Culbreath rescued the amphibian's four-man crew after a Coast Guard rescue plane guided the Catalina to the freighter's area. The crew stepped into the Culbreath's power launch without even getting their feet wet.

A radio report from the ship said the Culbreath's crew was attempting to take aboard the disabled flying boat by means of a crane.

The twin-engined World War II navy patrol boat was being ferried to California from Guam where it had been purchased from the government by the Thorne Engineering Co. of Los Angeles.

The crewmen, all of whom were employed by Transocean Airlines, were identified as pilot Clark Dixon, Danville, Calif.; co-pilot Chris Angeles, Palo Alto, Calif.; navigator Robert Egerly, Soquel, Calif., and engineer Russell Verner, Guam.

The plane landed safely at 2:04 p.m. (PST) five hours after reporting to the Coast Guard that it had lost an engine 1000 miles west of San Francisco and its airspeed and altitude were reduced to the "critical point" of 90 knots and 2000 feet.

Seven-State Bus Strike Averted In Late Agreement

San Francisco — (U.P.) — A strike that would have tied up Pacific Greyhound operations in several Western states was averted Friday night when AFL office employees ratified a last-minute agreement.

The union membership, numbering about 300, accepted a company offer providing for an average wage increase of $20 per month spread over a two-year period. The action forestalled a midnight strike deadline.

Office members The contract covers office members of the Amalgamated Motor Coach Employees Union at San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and Phoenix. However, it was assumed that drivers in seven Western states would have refused to cross their picket lines.

Under terms of the agreement the average wage increase would be $12 a month for the first year, with an additional $8 monthly increase the second year.

NEW EMPLOYEE—Jerry Stambaugh, buyer at Mann's department store, is pictured here welcoming Harry Barker to the store. Formerly with Macy's in Kansas City, Barker is now in charge of the menswear department at Mann's. In a previous edition, Stambaugh's name was inadvertently spelled wrong.

Dean, 24, was driving from Hollywood to a road race in northern California at the time of his death on a darkening highway 28 miles east of Paso Robles.

Crash Head-On

U.S. Will Not Appeal Decision Clearing Bridges

San Francisco — (U.P.) — The government has decided not to appeal a District Court decision which cleared longshore labor leader Harry Bridges of charges he obtained U.S. citizenship fraudulently.

Chief Assistant U.S. Attorney Lynn Gillard, who prosecuted the government's civil denaturalization suit against Bridges last summer, said the Solicitor General's office in Washington notified him of the decision Friday.

Closes Case
"This closes out the Harry Bridges case so far as the government is concerned," Gillard said.

Bridges, presently in Honolulu, said of the government's decision: "It's good news for the union and all those who supported the fight so long — and its about time."

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman ruled July 29 that the 55-year-old Bridges, a native of Australia, did not swear falsely when he declared on his application for United States citizenship that he had never been a member of the Communist party.

The government initiated the civil suit after a criminal conviction was set aside by the U.S. Supreme Court on grounds the statute of limitations had expired.
