MOTHER, PICK UP BABY

When Lalla Rookh was born we had the best doctor in town (by the name of Brady), yet there were some complications. The complications grew out of a conflict of nurses. Lalla's mother had been a student nurse in the hospital when I first lapped her and decided she'd be an ideal mother for my children — and I never made a better prognosis. Then we had a graduate nurse to take care of mother and baby. And 24 hours after the baby's arrival her mama's big sister, a graduate nurse, blew in.

Right away — well, big sister, accustomed to working "with" (rather than for) the leading physicians of her city, unethically brushed aside the nurse in charge and countermanded certain orders of the attending physician, a callow youth by the name of Brady.

Things became pretty serious and I was about to blow my top when it occurred to me to call another doctor into consultation. The doctor I called in was not a one-horse-and-buggy man. He examined the patients, shrewdly sized up the situation,

Deer of Choice Season Scheduled In Certain Areas

Portland—(U.P.)—Oregon deer hunters who failed to bag a buck during the regular season will have a chance to take a deer of their choice in certain areas starting Oct. 15, the State Game commission reminded today.

Most of the state east of the Cascades is to open for one deer of either sex from Oct. 15 through Oct. 21 with the exception of an area in central Oregon which roughly includes the Deschutes national forest and parts of Lake, Klamath, Jefferson and Deschutes counties. Other smaller areas remaining closed include Sherman county and various Indian reservations and federal refuges.

The central Oregon area is marked with red cross hatching on the hunting synopsis map and opens on Oct. 18.

In western Oregon, the hunter's choice season is confined to areas generally outside the national forest boundaries and within one mile of agricultural lands in the Willamette valley.

In southwestern Oregon, there is to be no general hunter's choice season. However, the buck season extends through Oct. 21.

closeted himself with me in his office, tapped my knee with his index finger and gave me his diagnosis in four words: "Brady, damn the women." That was all I wanted to know. I told big sister in a few well chosen words (you know me, folks) where and when to go, and in a few hours everything was back to normal or as nearly normal as we could expect, after such interference.

Many young babies cry too much because of hunger. Too many young mothers and certainly too many hospital nurses obsessed by the fear of overfeeding, keep the baby half starved. A baby may puke part of a feeding if it is excessive; but seldom does a baby cry because of overfeeding. This is not just my notion. I copied it from a lecture to Harrogate Medical Society by Professor Ilingworth of the University of Sheffield.

Much crying is due to being too warm. Young babies should be allowed to enjoy themselves in nothing but diapers for an hour, more or less, every day, and in hot weather all day long. If you are in doubt whether the baby is warm enough feel of the feet; if the baby's feet are warm the baby is warm enough.

The discomfort of being wet or soiled makes any normal baby cry.

A common, and commonly unrecognized cause of crying is loneliness. This crying soon stops if you pick up and cuddle the baby.

Some mothers are too dumb to understand why the baby cries for hours when left in a carriage outside with nothing

Infected Tonsils
Also had my tonsils out by diathermy (electro-coagulation). Our doctor recommended the method. I can't say enough in approval of it. It was so easy, with no particular discomfort and no risk of life... (H. L. F.)

Answer—Since electro-coagulation (diathermy) does not remove tonsils it is not quite correct to say you had your tonsils taken out—say treated, rather. That is, the method disinfected,
