

Red Raiders To Take On EOC Gridders

Ashland — Southern Oregon college's grid squad is expected to be at full strength this week end and there's every indication the Red Raiders will have to be.

Their fourth conflict of the season takes them to LaGrande on Saturday to tackle the Eastern Oregon college Mountaineers, a club which spilled Oregon Technical Institute 27 to 6 last week.

SOC's passing showed need of further labor last Saturday when the Raiders bounced Portland State 20 to 6. So that department has got considerable attention in this week's practices.

Coach Al Akins has reported Halfback Ten Tenney back with the squad. Tenney, out of action last week end because of a bad ankle sprain, should see duty but he's not slated to start.

A 1954 hand of the Raiders moved back into his old place. Herb Colley, ex-Central Point high player, reportedly has regained his starting tackle spot. He was a late returnee to the SOC squad this fall.

Starters Listed

At the other tackle Saturday will likely be Al Sodaro, who drew praise from Akins after the Portland State mix for turning in his finest game of the year. Possible starting ends against the Mounties are Hank Smith and Walt McCoy while Chuck Romine and Don Dickson may be at guards and Chuck Quinowski at center.

The Raiders will be up against plenty of ball club. Assistant Coach Ted Schopf, who scouted the Mountaineers at Klamath Falls, brought back reports that EOC could have won by an even bigger margin.

Top back of the Eastern Oregon club is Bill West, a first string linebacker for Oregon State college before entering military service. He was a star at LaGrande in high school. A pair of scathbacks are Dick Quinn and Terry Zeigantzen. The Mounties have a fine pass-receiving end in Frank Good.

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE SPORTS

RED RAIDER COG—Chuck Romine, above, former all-conference guard at Medford High and 1949 Shrine game player, is currently one of the line cogs of the Southern Oregon college football team. Romine figured strongly in the Raiders' 20 to 6 victory over Portland State college last week end. He's being counted on for lots of service this Saturday when SOC plays Eastern Oregon college at LaGrande.

"We're ready" was the main statement from each school as Medford and Crater high gridgers awaited tonight's 8 o'clock kick-off at the local stadium for their third annual fracas.

Coach Fred Spiegelberg of the Black Tornado elaborated little beyond those two words. But he did add, "We'll be out there."

At Central Point, where the picture was mighty dreary after Wednesday night's workout, Crater Coach Leonard Warren reported, "The boys are more ready than I thought they were. They might do something after all."

Hope for the Comets to give a favored Medford aggregation a rugged scuffle stemmed from more fire and more life shown in Thursday afternoon's drill. The Comets had been sluggish and spiritless in their Wednesday practice.

Near Full Strength
Both clubs will be at near full strength for their engagement. Tornado players sidelined are Tackles Rodney Hammer and Mel Morgan and End Ed Reinking. The two tackles have broken hands in hard casts and Reinking has a broken bone in his foot. Hammer's injury came early in the season. Morgan was hurt a week ago Thursday and missed the Milwaukee game but his injury somehow has previously escaped mention. Mel has been a first call defensive lineman. His spot likely will be filled by Larry Cranston tonight. Reinking was crippled in practice this week.

Halfback Jack Lilly is the principal Comet hobbled. He was banged up in practice Wednesday and his hip is troubling him the most. Lilly likely will see limited service with Bob Mason likely getting the starting offensive call in his position. Duane Krout figures as defensive half. Mason is a linebacker.

Medford and Crater both took it light last night. The Comets worked over some defensive switches and worked on offensive signal drill with the idea of improving the elements of faking and speed.

The Comets will place a split T attack against Medford's combined T and single wing offensive. Concentration in both camps this week has been on sharpening those offenses. The result could be a wide open contest unless a Medford objective is achieved. Tornado players hope to grab possession of the ball as often as possible and make their offensive move sufficiently to have control of the pigskin most of the time.

Tonight's affair is sort of a rubber game. The Comets won the first meeting two seasons back and Medford was victor last year. Crater is still an A-2 school while Medford is in A-1 class. Therefore prestige rather than any conference or district honors are at stake. However, the Comets appear almost certain to join Medford, Ashland, Grants Pass and Klamath Falls in the A-1 category next year.

The battle is also the fifth this year for each club. Medford has a 12 to 6 nod over Cleveland of Portland, a 13 to 0 loss to Gresham, a 14 to 6 win over Roseburg and a 7 to 7 tie with Milwaukie behind it. Crater whipped Glendale 32 to 0, lost to Yreka, Calif., 13 to 12, beat Redmond 32 to 20 and lost to Phoenix 30 to 7.

The game will be the last for Medford before meeting conference opponents.

ACTRESS WEDS YANK
Hollywood ... (U.P.) — Actress Lucy Marlow, 22, and New York Yankees third baseman Andy Carey, 24, were married last night and left immediately on a honeymoon trip to Japan with the baseball team.

scatback from Dallas, Tex.; halfback Joe Francis, another sophomore from Honolulu, and tackle John Witte.

Maryland held the Bruins to a minus 21 yards net from ground plays but Sanders' club finally got rolling last week in its 55-0 rout of Washington State. Fullback Bob Davenport, tailback Sam Brown and wingback Chuck Hollaway all piled up big chunks of yardage in the victory.

Brown starts again at tailback for UCLA, but the injured Ronnie Knox is expected to get into the game for some action. Knox bruised a shoulder in the Maryland loss.

TORNADO BACK—Dave Bosworth, above, offensive fullback and defensive halfback, is among the Black Tornado players who will mix with Crater high at 8 o'clock tonight at the Medford field. Bosworth lettered as a sophomore but an auto accident sidelined him just before the season started in 1954.

McLoughlin Plays Crater On Saturday

McLoughlin junior high ninth grade has its first full-fledged ruckus of the season Saturday. The Bulldogs take on Crater at the Medford gridiron at 1:30 p.m.

Coaches Mel Boldenow and Bill Shepherd have placed heavy stress on fundamentals in drills so far this season. Saturday's hassle will be first regulation game in which the mentors can see how well the training has paid off.

A practice scrimmage last week, in which McLoughlin edged Hedrick 13 to 0, gave the coaches their first look at their club in action against another team. Since then much work has been aimed at perfecting blocking in the line.

Head man Boldenow has indicated possible starters in the line as Bob Plankenhorn and Bob Greier, ends; Donald Mann and Jim Fontaine, tackles; Doug Meier and Warren Chick, guards, and Dennis Barr, center. In the backfield it may be Fred Funston, quarterback; Bill Wallace, left half; John Conley, right half, and Gerry Lyons, fullback.

Since Medford junior high talent is split between two schools, McLoughlin and Hedrick, for the first time this year, fans are interested in seeing how well the two clubs stand up against outside opposition in comparison to previous years when all the players were combined into one squad. Hedrick played Grants Pass here this afternoon.

Tommy Jackson Faces Rex Layne

Detroit—(U.P.)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, a perpetual motion pugilist ranked number three contender for heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano's title, paused briefly between calisthenics and said he wouldn't predict the outcome of his nationally televised fight tonight with Rex Layne.

Sweat streaming from his 192-pound frame as he pumped to and fro doing situps, Jackson said only that he was in "good condition and ready" for Layne, a ponderous Utah farmer rated 10th among challengers for Marciano's crown.

"I get lazy when I stop working and I can't afford to be lazy against Layne tonight, modestly asserted Jackson, a four-to-one choice to win his ninth straight fight. The 24-year-old native of Far Rockaway, N. Y., appeared in top shape for the bout which could speed his chances for a shot at the Brockton Block Buster.

Webfoots Run Up Against Colorado in Video Tangle

Eugene—(U.P.)—Oregon Ducks, victims of beatings by Southern California and Washington on two successive week ends, run up against a big, rugged Colorado team here tomorrow in a regionally televised football game.

Colorado, winner of two straight games, over Arizona and Kansas, is favored in this one. The Big Seven team files in this afternoon and will skip the usual pre-game warmup.

Oregon will miss starting right tackle Harry Johnson, who has a bad leg. Johnson also sat out last week's Washington game. John Raventos was named to replace him. The Ducks were to take a light limbering up drill.

Oregon and Colorado have met twice previously in the gridiron. In 1949 the Ducks won 42-14 at Eugene. The next year Colorado won at Boulder, 21-7.

MOORE NAMED COACH

New York — (U.P.) — Donald (Dudley) Moore of Duquesne has been named to coach the College All-Star basketball team that will meet the New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association in their fourth annual game at Madison Square Garden.

Moore Still Rated No. 1 Contender

New York — (U.P.) — Archie Moore is still ranked top heavyweight contender in today's issue of Ring magazine's ratings—perhaps the early harbinger of a return title fight with Rocky Marciano next June.

Although old Archie was knocked out in the ninth round on Sept. 21 by Marciano, "the fighter of the month," his great stand against the unbeaten champion kept him atop the contenders' heap.

Big Bob Baker and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson remained at number two and number three respectively; but Nino Valdes of Cuba rose from seventh rung and replaced Don Cockell of England to fourth position because of his kayo over Cockell.

Moore, Baker, Jackson and Valdes are the "big four" proposed by promoter Jim Norris for a contenders' elimination tournament.

Oregon Staters Take On UCLA Bruins This Evening

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — UCLA, a four touchdown favorite, meets Oregon State in Memorial Coliseum tonight as Bruin Coach Henry Red Sanders gets a first hand chance to find out how well a former pupil learned his lessons.

conference records. In the other OCC contest scheduled, Portland State travels to Monmouth to play Oregon college, defending co-champions of the league.

The other coach, Oregon Tech, is scheduled to meet Compton Junior college of southern California, a highly touted squad.

SOC, which knocked over Portland State, will have Ted Tenney, star halfback, back in uniform for the EOC contest. Easter Oregon has been strengthened by the return of Bill West, its big fullback.

A crowd of about 40,000 is expected to attend the Pacific Coast Conference clash.

Oregon State Coach Tommy Prothro was an assistant coach to Sanders for nine years, six at UCLA and three at Vanderbilt. Sanders also was Prothro's coach when Tommy attended Riverside Military Academy.

The unbeaten Beavers boast a 10-0 upset win over Stanford which stamps them potentially as a danger to UCLA, winner over Texas A&M and Washington State but loser to Maryland. The oddsmakers however, believe Sanders' single wing packs too much speed, power and bench depth to be stymied by Oregon State.

Almost Same Squad
Prothro has substantially the same Oregon State squad which suffered a 61-0 loss to UCLA last year. Key positions are 145-pound Sam Wesley, a sophomore
