

Quotes From the News

By UNITED PRESS

Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, former publisher of La Prensa, the Buenos Aires newspaper confiscated by the Peron government, on the political situation in Argentina:

"The restoration of La Prensa will be the sign that the flag of freedom is flying again in Argentina. When that day dawns, a newspaper will again be published, dedicated to serve a people that will never forget the moral support given by the free world to the cause of liberty."

The Rev. Roger W. Coon of Santa Barbara, Calif., a Seventh Day Adventist missionary to Africa, on the trend toward Christianity in the dark continent:

"I believe the average west African schoolboy knows more about the Bible than does his counterpart in America."

Fred Hutchinson, newly appointed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals when asked what type manager he is:

"I don't think you can stereotype me as a manager. I don't play bunt every time I'm supposed to."

Mrs. H. F. Powell of Evanston, Ill., national treasurer of the WCTU, on drinking:

"The doctrine of moderation is dangerous because an individual cannot tell in advance what influence alcohol will have on his career and his life."

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) in reply to a statement by Prof. Harry Kalven Jr. of the University of Chicago, who said he favored taking secret recordings of five to 10 more jury deliberations:

"I'll guarantee you are not going to do any 'bugging' after Congress passes some legislation."

Group Capt. Peter Townsend regarding rumors that an announcement will be made soon on his reported romance with Princess Margaret:

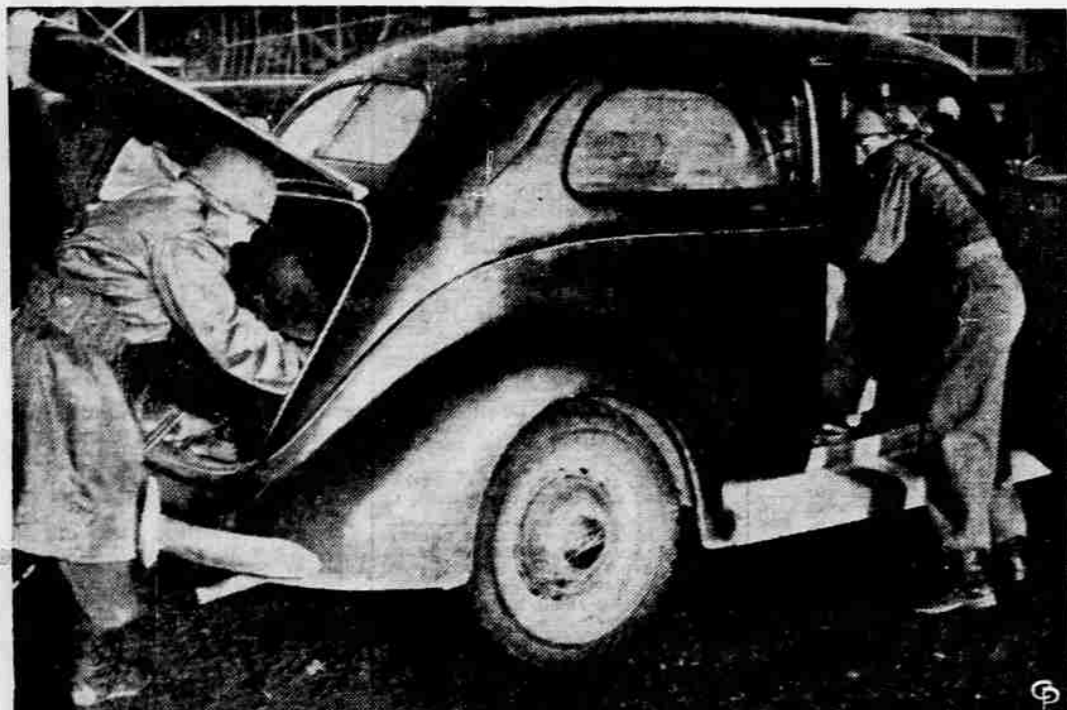

"What is in store for me in the future I know, but cannot say. I do not know whether or not I shall return to Brussels."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

It was Nietzsche who said: "A real man desires two things, danger and play. That is why he seeks women, who are the most dangerous playthings."

Callers at Night
Suppose somebody rings your doorbell late at night. Do you open the door without trying to find out who the caller is? Don't do it. It is very dangerous. Get yourself a "Doorsight." This enables you to see who the caller is. Also, have a speaking tube so you can interview the caller, if a stranger, before opening the door.

Over There
It would seem Paris had already reached the peak in gaiety. Not so. The French capital is getting gayer and gayer every day in ever way. One Paris dance hall stages "strip-tease" contests every Thursday night. These are strictly for amateurs. Stenographers, manicurists, university students and shop girls are the chief competitors. The idea is to see which contestant can undress most provocingly.

That Yellow Rose
A historian informs me a song titled "The Yellow Rose of Texas" was popular with soldiers of the Confederate Army during the War Between the States. A Brooklynite says, as a boy in Dublin, he recalls his mother singing a ballad called

"The Yellow Rose of Texas." That was 45 years ago. A former United States Secret Service man who was assigned to act as one of the guards of the President confirms my claim that a song titled, "The Yellow Rose of Texas" was one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's favorites. He says he heard the President request orchestras to play it on several occasions.

Man Shortage
Miami Beach, Fla., has developed into quite a summer resort. However, this season girls outnumbered men there by ten to one. The shortage of males was so great that a dance called "The Threesome" was originated. In this dance, one man dances with two girls at the same time. That's better than two girls dancing together, but not much.

Stars
Some Jai Alai players are paid as much as star major league ballplayers. Emilio Equiluz, a Jai Alai star of Havana, was paid a salary of $7,000 a month. Jai Alai is the fastest game in the world. Don't let anybody tell you that ice hockey is.

Photo Finish
Which horse most often gets the decision in a photo finish, the outside horse? This is a much disputed question. The Crowley-Jones Camera Corporation checked thousands of races

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

Hillsboro—(U.P.)—James Branstetter, 38, Banks, was fatally injured early yesterday by a car that struck him as he walked across Sunset Highway near Manning, Ore.

DIDN'T TAKE OWN LESSON

Tokyo—(U.P.)—Police today arrested Noboru Higasa on suspicion of smuggling watches into Japan. Higasa is president of a local crime prevention society.

to get the answer to it. It has been found that the outside horse gets the decision 50 per cent of the time. The inside horse gets it 46 6/10 per cent of the time and the "middle horse," 3 4/10 per cent of the time.

Horses and Women
The popularity of brunettes continues to increase over that of blondes. So much in fact that many blondes, becoming alarmed at the situation, have changed to brunettes. An example of the upswing in popularity of the dark haired girls is that in Sweden, long hailed as the home of the world's most beautiful blondes, a brunette named Anita Astrand won the title of Miss Sweden in a beauty contest.

Asides
Norton McIntyre of Miami Beach, Fla., claims to be the world's tallest bricklayer. His height is six feet nine inches. . . The complete so-called "dead man's hand" is as follows: Ace of diamonds, ace of spades, eight of hearts, eight of spades, queen of hearts.

Parents Pray for Three-Year-Old Son Missing Four Days

Crane, Ind.—(U.P.)—The exhausted parents of three-year-old Ronnie Wietkamp prayed today that he is still alive, but leaders of a 1,000-strong search party feared he has been kidnaped or killed.

Ronnie has been missing for four days and searchers scoured the hilly, wooded reservation at the Crane Naval Ammunition Depot for the past 30 hours without finding a trace of him.

Believed Kidnaped
The boy's father, Lawrence, said he thought Ronnie had been kidnaped—that "somebody has just driven by and taken him away."

He and his wife asked radio and television stations to issue a plea to the kidnaper to return the tow-headed boy unharmed.

Ronnie Vanished shortly before noon Monday while playing near his small home in this village built for depot personnel.

Creeks Drugged
Searchers at first presumed Ronnie had wandered away and got lost. They carefully combed a 10 square mile area, dragging shallow creeks and marshes and inspecting wells, but found no trace. A helicopter whirled over the area but the pilot saw no signs of the boy.

A pack of bloodhounds appeared to pick up a scent, but became confused and lost it. The bulk of the search was called off at dusk, but Turner said "there are one or two small areas we want to go over a third and fourth time."

FIRE SHOW DISRUPTED
Wakefield, Mass.—(U.P.)—A fire prevention week demonstration by firemen from six communities broke up prematurely Wednesday when apparatus from five of the towns was called to answer alarms.

British Freighter Pulled From Shoal

Longview, Wash.—(U.P.)—A British freighter was pulled from a Columbia river shoal near here at 12:50 p.m. yesterday, after running aground Tuesday night.

The freighter "Hoperange" was freed at high tide by the Shaver tug "Captain George" and the Port of Portland steamer, "Portland."

The ship had taken on a load of barley at Vancouver, Wash., and was outbound for the Dutch port of Rotterdam when she grounded in soft mud 30 miles from the mouth of the Columbia.

The Hoperange proceeded under her own power to Astoria where divers will survey her hull. She apparently was undamaged.
