By UNITED PRESS

William M. Allen, president of Boeing Airplane Co., on plans of Pan American World Airways to spend $269,000,000 for a fleet of jet airplanes:

"The beginning of a new era in air transportation."

Douglas Stricker, Windsor, Ont., factory worker who inherited part of a multi-million dollar estate when asked how long he will stay at his late operating job:

"Just as long as it takes to get the check cashed."

John C. Sharp, president of Hotpoint Co., on "self appointed economists" who try to forecast the business future:

"In this country there are too many wide open spaces surrounded by teeth."

Former President Truman on the American Legion action in considering UNESCO:

"The Legion doesn't know what it's talking about. They've gone haywire in the last three or four years and don't know what they're doing."

Barbara Perry of Chicago after chatting with Prince Albert of Belgium:

"He's very, very handsome. He's the kind of fella a girl would like to go out with. He sent me."

British Wren Diane Claxton on the visit of 3,000 Russian sailors to Portsmouth:

"They are much more reserved than our own soldiers."

J. Addington Wagner, new commander of the American Legion in his acceptance speech:

"The cold war between the American Legion and Communism will continue. It will only end when the enemy lays down his weapons of propaganda and deceit and gives up his design on America."

Japanese Actress Hachiko Kyo revealing in Tokyo the vital statistics she refused to tell newsmen during a tour of Europe and America the last six weeks:

"36-23-36, but they vary a little with the weather, so I just leave everything up to my dressmaker."

Air Force Plane Smacks Mountain

Riverside, Calif. — (U.P.) — Air Force authorities today investigated the hillside crash of a B47 jet bomber in which four airmen were killed.

The crash occurred shortly after the medium bomber took off on an evaluation mission from its home field, March Air Force Base, about 10 miles from here. The plane was flying on instruments in a heavy fog but Air Force spokesmen said the fog was not responsible for the crash last night.

Identification of the victims was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Impact of the bomber and the accompanying explosion shook this city, only a few miles from the crash scene.

The plane, which normally carries a three-man crew, smashed into the hillside traveling at about 500 miles per hour, March AFB spokesmen said. It was part of the base's 320th Bombardment squadron.

BACK ON JOB

Platteville, Wis. — (U.P.) — When Robert White, physics instructor at Wisconsin State College here, became ill recently his father substituted for him. It was nothing new for J. W. White. He had taught the classes for 29 years before his son took over in 1949.

Effect of Taxes On Development of Industry Studied

Salem — (U.P.) — The Interim Tax Study Committee wants to know what adverse effects, if any, state and local taxes have on the development of new industries in Oregon.

Sen. Rudie Wilhelm Jr. of Portland, committee chairman, said Chambers of Commerce, business groups and others interested in taxation are being asked to supply the committee with names of companies and individuals who built plants or expanded old ones in their areas or constructed their factories elsewhere after studying an Oregon building site.

Sen. Wilhelm said the request for names is the first step in carrying out the committee's assignment of determining which, if any, of the state and local taxes now in force have an adverse effect on the location and development of industry and wealth in Oregon. When the committee receives the names, it will compile a master list which will be the basis of intensive study and examination.

Firms thus named will be asked to provide extracts from their materials on the relative importance of the factors which led them to select or reject an Oregon site. Sen. Wilhelm said the committee hopes to separate "fact from fiction" in the oft-repeated charge that Oregon's tax structure is driving business away.

Other members of the committee are Sens. W. Lowell Steen of Milton-Freewater, Lee V. Ohmart of Salem, Philip B. Lowry of Medford and John P. Housell of Hood River; and Reps. Edwin E. Cone of Eugene, Ward H. Cook of Portland, Patrick E. Dooley of Portland, Wayne R. Giesey of Monroe, Roderick T. McKenzie of Sixes and Charles A. Tom of Rufus.

SOC Teachers Conduct Classes at Brookings

Ashland — Instructors David F. Hill and Miss Florence P. Allen from the faculty of Southern Oregon college are conducting an extension course at Brookings on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings in the high school building.

The course, "Improvement of Instruction in Reading" is listed as an Education 378 course for three hours credit and will terminate at the end of fall term. The first class was held Oct. 8.

FISH WALLET

Boston — (U.P.) — Sounds fishy but a wallet made from the tanned skin of a salmon was one of the oddities shown at a new products exhibit here.

PENNY ANTE

Indianapolis, Ind. — (U.P.) — William E. Hilton, 30, was fined $81.75 for speeding. He forked over 6,100 pennies and 75 cents in larger coins.
