Sentence Scheduled

Eugene —(U.P.)— Virgil G. Kingsley, former superintendent of the Cottage Grove High school district is scheduled to be sentenced in Circuit court here next Wednesday for wrongful conversion of more than $10,000 in public funds.

Kingsley pleaded guilty in the court of Lane County Circuit Judge Frank Reid yesterday to the conversion of $10,912. Kingsley, who resigned as superintendent last August, was charged in a secret indictment by a grand jury last week.

The money was discovered missing in an audit of the district's special account fund which is derived from student fees and used to buy books and other school equipment.

Reward Offered for Fish Wearing Glasses

Monroe, Mich.—(U.P.)—James DeVaney, Weirton, Pa., will pay $25 to anyone catching a fish in Lake Erie—if the fish is wearing either pair of DeVaney's glasses.

DeVaney was fishing in Lake Erie near here when his sunglasses became unfastened from his regular glasses and fell into the water. He made a quick attempt to retrieve the sunglasses and also lost his regular glasses.

Some sea anemones live for more than 70 years, says the National Geographic Society. Individual specimens have been observed along the Scottish coast for that long. Other species live for only a year.

Vitamins in Dairy Feeding Subject of Club Meeting

Vitamin fortification of dairy feed was discussed at the October meeting of the Rogue River Jersey Cattle club, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mongold, Eagle Point.

Great advances are now being made in the field of dairy nutrition, according to Keith Hockersmith, field representative for the Grange Co-operative Supply association of Central Point and Ashland.

The roles played by vitamins A, D and the B complex group in assuring maximum efficiency in the body functions of the dairy animal were outlined by Hockersmith.

Individual differences among dairy cattle and the complicated digestive system of the ruminant contribute to the problem of why cattle fail to make adequate use of vitamins already present in their rations, he said.

The importance of additional vitamin supplements in dairy rations has been so well established through research and experimentation that some organizations are now adding them to all their dairy feeds, Hockersmith added.

Where a cow has been suffering from inadequate nutrition, it may take her up to six months before results of the new feeding program became apparent, he pointed out, but it is believed that once an adequate level of nutrition is achieved, increased efficiency will more than offset the cost of the vitamins.

The quality of hay produced in this area is fully equal to that imported from the Klamath basin and from California, provided it is properly handled, Hockersmith declared. He emphasized that it is the proper degree of maturity and correct harvesting and handling that determine the ultimate value of hay as a dairy feed.

Many Medford People To Attend Meeting of Oregon Cities League

A number of city officials have indicated they plan to attend the 30th anniversary convention of the League of Oregon Cities in Portland starting Sunday, Oct. 23.

League founders, eight of whom are planning to attend, will be honored at the three-day convention. W. H. Miller, one-time mayor of Gold Hill, who with Mayor George L. Baker of Portland suggested formation of the league, will serve as spokesman for the founders at the League banquet Tuesday.

Miller, 84, has been living in Grants Pass for several years. He served as temporary secretary and as a member of the committee of three to draft a constitution and by-laws for the League.

The convention will open at 5:30 p.m. Sunday with a "get-acquainted" reception in Multnomah hotel. Mayor Allen C. Thompson of Jackson, Miss., president of the American Municipal association, will be principal speaker at the League's convention luncheon Monday, Oct. 24.

Sixteen past presidents will be honored at a Tuesday luncheon when Dr. James H. Gilbert, dean of the college of social science at the University of Oregon, will speak. A ladies luncheon will be held Tuesday noon at the Kamm House Restaurant colony in Portland.

Other Events

Other speakers include O. W. Campbell, city manager of San Diego, who was elected president of the League of California Cities, and Dr. George C. S. Benson, president of Claremont Men's college and director of research for the commission on intergovernmental relations.

Among problems which will be discussed are finance, financial procedures, planning, fire protection, building regulations, legal problems, and intergovernmental relations. There will be a special session for officials of small cities where problems of communities under 2,000 population will be discussed.

Reuther Pledges End Of Strike Violence

New Castle, Ind.—(U.P.)— A pledge by CIO President Walter Reuther against further union violence at the Perfect Circle Corp. today brought hopes of a quick end to martial law in this strife-torn city.

Observers here were optimistic there would be a return to civil law in the near future after Gov. George N. Craig said he was "very much pleased" with Reuther's promise.

Nine persons were wounded in a gun battle between strikers and non-strikers at the Perfect Circle firm Oct. 5.

Craig's statement in Chicago Wednesday came shortly after he labeled as "false" a charge by Reuther that he pulled a "double-cross" by failing to end martial law at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Wisconsin Issues Warning To Rustlers

Ladysmith, Wis.—(U.P.)— A warning against rustlers was issued here recently—and it was no joke.

Cattle thieves stole a 900-pound bull from a Rusk County farm and a 1,500-pound Holstein in Ingram County. The evidence indicated a truck was used. Rustlers have been reported active in several other counties in this area of northern Wisconsin.

Other speakers include O. W. Campbell, city manager of San Diego, who was elected president of the League of California Cities, and Dr. George C. S. Benson, president of Claremont Men's college and director of research for the commission on intergovernmental relations.
