

Bridges Says Ike May Designate Group Of Potential Presidential Candidates

Washington—(U.P.)—Sen. Styles Bridges said today that President Eisenhower may designate a group of Republicans as potential presidential candidates if he decides not to seek reelection himself.

The New Hampshire Republican made no prediction on whether the President will seek a second term. But he said he thinks Mr. Eisenhower will make his own intentions known before state presidential primaries are conducted early next year.

Bridges was asked whether he thinks the President would personally put the mantle of party leadership on a successor if he decides not to run again next year. Bridges said he believes

Mr. Eisenhower would be "more likely to pick a group."

Selection Important

By naming a group of possible candidates with good qualifications President Eisenhower would thus leave the actual selection of the party's candidate to the national convention. His choices would, of course, have an important advantage at that time.

One senator said Thursday that he "assumes" Mr. Eisenhower will not seek the presidency again. Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) the unofficial dean of the Senate, said he thinks the presidential race is "wide open" in both parties.

There were these other developments:

1. Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.) again stated that he is supporting Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democratic nomination. Lehman's statement made it clear that he is not bolting the Stevenson ranks to join the forces behind his state's Democratic governor, Averell Harriman, as a favorite son candidate.

Endorsed No One

2. George told a news conference he thinks Stevenson could get the nomination, if he made a serious bid for it, at a convention held tomorrow. But George endorsed no one and said no one can tell what the situation will be by spring.

3. The unannounced candidacy of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) got a boost from J. Howard McGrath (D-R.I.) former senator and attorney general, who came out for Kefauver in Providence, R. I. McGrath declined to say whether he was instrumental in getting a meeting of Rhode Island young Democrats to table a resolution endorsing Stevenson.

4. Oklahoma Gov. Raymond Gary said in Whitesboro, Tex., Thursday night that he believed Texas and Oklahoma "maverick Democrats" would be "fully repentant" and would return to the fold in the 1956 presidential elections, Gary spoke at a "Sam Rayburn Appreciation Rally" in Whitesboro Thursday night.

Ike Won Battle Over European Security, Geneva Record Shows

Washington—(U.P.)—President Eisenhower fought and won at last summer's summit meeting a battle against Russian efforts to set up a European security pact ahead of German reunification.

A new State Department record of the four-power session showed that Mr. Eisenhower told Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin bluntly that the chief source of Europe's insecurity was the division of Germany. Thus, he said, the problem of European security and German reunification are "inseparable."

The Eisenhower-Bulganin squabble was revealed clearly in an 88-page record of the July meeting of U. S., British, French and Russian heads of state at Geneva. The record, which was not complete because some of the other powers refused to agree to full publication, was made public just a week before the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

Controversies Expected

Publication of even the partial record was expected to touch off new international controversies. None of the other three nations involved was anxious to have the record published.

The State Department record showed that the Eisenhower-Bulganin controversy developed July 20, the third day of the meeting, when Russia proposed a general European treaty on collective security.

$380,000 Provided For Development Of Shasta Region

Yreka, Calif. — The sum of $380,000 has been allocated for Mount Shasta development through the 1957-58 budget of the federal forest highways fund, according to information received by Paul Statham, Shasta Trinity National forest supervisor.

Announcement of the allocation was made at a meeting of the Northern California Inter-County Chamber of Commerce in Mt. Shasta.

The Mount Shasta project has the largest development potential of any other place in the western United States, Sen. Randolph Collier stated.

Hurdle Surmounted

The major hurdle in development of Mount Shasta as a recreational area has been surmounted, Jerry Carpenter, director of travel and recreation of the California State Chamber of Commerce, told members at the session. The obstacle he referred to is the appropriation of construction funds by the Bureau of Public Roads for the alignment and surfacing of John Everett Memorial highway to Panther meadows.

Consideration is being given to a $500,000 chair lift, a larger one than originally was proposed. The Siskiyou county board of supervisors appropriated $60,000 toward the road construction and for accepting responsibility of snow removal and all-year maintenance of the road.

The necessity for publicizing the Mount Shasta ski bowl and recreation area was stressed by Carpenter.

Episcopal Bishop May Move to City

Episcopal Bishop Benjamin Dagwell has indicated he may move from Portland to Medford, it was reported today.

The bishop has declared he would like to be in Medford during construction of the proposed Rogue Valley Memorial hospital. He is slated to be here Oct. 28 for a meeting with the hospital committee and the architect in connection with start of a $1,750,000 fund raising campaign for the hospital.

In the event Bishop Dagwell moves to Medford, he would conduct his ecclesiastical supervision from this area.

Because of his desire to be in Medford during construction of the hospital, it is believed that the bishop may decide to live in the southern half of the diocese. This would place the northern half under the supervision of the Very Rev. James W. F. Carman, who this week was elected bishop coadjutor.

Bishop Dagwell has suggested that Dean Carman moved from his Phoenix, Ariz., home to Portland, and it is believed that the dean would be assigned all of Oregon north of Linn, Benton and Lane counties.

Maximum Wage for Social Security Deduction Higher

Maximum wage from which the social security deduction is made has increased to $4,200 for 1955 and succeeding years, according to W. V. Nusbaum, manager of the Medford social security office. The 1954 amendments to the Social Security act provided for this increase effective in 1955.

Nusbaum stated that the increase in wage credits thus established would mean higher maximum benefits in the future for retired workers and their dependents or for the survivor of these workers in case of death. The $3,600 maximum allowed before 1955 permitted maximum monthly benefits of $98.50 to a retired worker, while the new $4,200 maximum can mean $108.50 to insured employed or self-employed persons retiring after mid-1956.

Should Check Deduction

All employees who earn wages of more than $3600 in a calendar year should make certain that the new maximum is being reported for them by their employers. They can do this, Nusbaum continued, by checking their pay slips or by checking with their employers.

"The social security administrations also advises all workers to check on their wage records each five years. Post card forms are available at all social security offices for this purpose," Nusbaum added.

Local 4-H'ers Place In Livestock Show

Dale Smith, Central Point, and Linda Mallory, Eagle Point, placed seventh and eighth in the senior division of the 4-H Beef Showmanship contest at the Pacific International Livestock exposition in Portland, Oct. 18.

Miss Mallory also placed tenth in the fat Angus steer competition. Her entry was in the 851-1000 pound weight division.

WCLA Sets Talks On Grading Rules

Grading rules will be main topic of discussion at a district meeting of the West Coast Lumbermen's association set for Tuesday, Oct. 25 at the Jackson hotel Pioneer room.

The session will begin with a social hour at 6:15 p.m., and dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

About 35 men, members of the association from this area, are expected to attend.

H. B. Simpson, Portland, vice-president and executive secretary, will be one of the main speakers. Harris Smith, Portland, association secretary, also will be one of the official speakers.

Others who will participate, all directors and all from this area, are Antone Lausmann, Ed Pease and George Flanagan.

Though an unofficial discussion of the box car shortage may be conducted, nothing official will be done, officers said. A permanent committee is in charge of car supply and it is not expected that the committee will report at this session.

STEVENSON TO SPEAK

Ashland—Dr. Elmo N. Stevenson, Southern Oregon college president, has accepted an invitation to attend the dedication and inauguration ceremonies for Portland State college on Sunday, Oct. 23. A full program of special events has been scheduled, according to Dr. Stevenson, and the event in itself will constitute a milestone in the history of higher education in Oregon.

Librarians Attend Session at Salem

Miss Cora Mason, of the Ashland Public library, and Miss Helen Webster, of the Medford Public library, are attending a meeting in Salem this week end of the Oregon Library association's library development committee. The meeting has been called by the chairman, Miss Eleanor Brown of the Deschutes County library, to plan the year's program of activities.

The work of the library development committee concerns the development of library service in areas of Oregon which do not now have access to books. Plans will be made at the Salem meet-

NEW CONTINENTAL—The new Mark II Continental, designed by a special division of the Ford Motor company, is on display at Medford Motors, Sixth and Ivy sts., beginning today. The car, which will be in limited production, features many of the same styling features of the famous Continental which made such a name for itself before World War II. The new car also incorporates a theory of "modern formal" design, emphasizing clean lines, simplicity and elegance.

Chamber Delegation Visits Copco Plants

Thirty representatives of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce yesterday visited California Oregon Power company's multi-million dollar North Umpqua hydroelectric power projects in eastern Douglas county.

Traveling by chartered bus, the group visited eight projects on the North Umpqua and Clearwater rivers.

Frank Benesh, of Copco, conducted the tour, which was designed to acquaint Chamber members with the projects and their economic value to the Rogue valley.

Among the projects visited were Lemolo No. 1, Clearwater No. 1, Clearwater No. 2, Toketee, Fish Creek, Slide Creek, and Soda Springs, all of which are producing electricity, and Lemolo No. 2, which is scheduled to go into production in about a year.

A highlight of the trip was the visit to the Toketee power house, where controls for all units of the North Umpqua projects are located. This arrangement allows

Private Services For Hodiak Saturday

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Rosary will be recited tonight for actor John Hodiak, 41, who died suddenly Wednesday of a heart attack.

Private funeral services in the Eastern Roman Catholic faith will be held tomorrow in the North Hollywood Mortuary with interment in Calvary Cemetery. Father Constantine Berdar of the Ukrainian Catholic Church of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary will officiate at tonight's rosary services.

Hodiak's family asked that friends who might desire to send flowers send contributions instead to the American Heart Association.

'Miracle' Metal Said Carried by Enterprise

London—(U.P.)—The News Chronicle said today that the Flying Enterprise was carrying a supply of pure zirconium, the "miracle" metal used in atomic power plants when the ship went down off Falmouth nearly four years ago.

The article said the Enterprise picked up a consignment of the ore—"almost all the world supply of pure zirconium"—in Brazil. It said the vessel was en route to Germany, "the only country with the chemical engineering plant to reduce the ore to pure metal" when it sank.
