

Hornets Rap Pointer Gang

Hedrick junior high eighth grade collected touchdowns in the first, second and third periods last night to defeat the Central Point grade footballers 19 to 6.

The Hornets tallied on two long runs by Don Cranston and an end romp by Gary McGill. Loyal Higinbotham scooped a fumble and scampered for the Pointer score in the closing canto.

McLoughlin school ninth grade continued action for Medford junior high teams by playing Ashland there this afternoon. Seventh grade intramural games were also billed today with McLoughlin Whites and Blacks in one game and Hedrick Reds and Blues in the other.

Game at KF

In Saturday conflicts Hedrick ninth graders vie at Klamath Falls at 1:30 p.m. while McLoughlin eighth has a 2 p.m. date at Grants Pass.

Cranston went 35 yards up the middle in the first quarter to end a 65-yard surge for Hedrick's Hornets. McGill's end gallop in the next stanza went for 10 yards, ending a 60-yard drive. Cranston busted through the middle and went 55 yards for the other TD. Higinbotham's run was for about 65 yards.

McGill suffered a slight concussion in the second quarter. Coach Karl Kahle praised the teamwork of his club and the unit functioning of the line. Guard John Frohnmayer, Tackle Doug Kliever and Ends Henry Olson and David Dunn were mentioned for their play.

"MR. TOE" OF WEBFOOTS — Jack Morris, above, ex-Medford high star, has played a major role in University of Oregon football this fall. His extra points, punting and kick-off work lead the team. UO Webfoots Hope for Dry Gridiron for Idaho Fracas

Eugene — (U.P.) — Oregon hoped for a dry field today as the Webfoots were warned by Coach Len Casanova not to take too lightly the invading Idaho Vandals in their Pacific Coast Conference football game here tomorrow afternoon.

Idaho is primed for an upset. The Vandals still seek their first win of the year and hope they can catch the Ducks off base after two straight one-sided Oregon victories.

Oregon is after its third straight win and its second of the PCC campaign.

But coaches this week said the Webfoots were unimpressive in practice sessions, although mid-term exams may have had something to do with it.

Halfback Dick James and End George Slender, hurt against Arizona last week, were pronounced ready to play.

Oregon, a heavy favorite, is pinning its hopes on its speedy backfield of James, Jack Morris, Jim Shanley and Tom Crabtree. James leads the team in rushing with 373 yards; Shanley leads in pass receiving with 121 yards; Crabtree leads in passing with 16 out of 38 for a 421 mark, and Morris leads in scoring with 46 points.

Hoad Expected To Reject Offer

Sydney, Australia — (U.P.) — Lew Hoad, 20-year-old Australian Davis Cup star, was expected today to reject promoter Jack Kramer's $56,250 offer to quit the amateur ranks for a professional tour.

Hoad said Thursday that Kramer, who flew here to reopen negotiations after the Aussie's first "no," had booster his offer by 5,000 pounds but indicated he still would turn it down.

"I'll not decide without talking to my wife," Hoad said. "But I think she'll still be against the idea of my turning professional."

Game Men Will Address Students At High Schools

Portland — As in the past five years, junior and senior high school students will again have an opportunity to gain knowledge of conservation and management of Oregon's wildlife resources when the schedule of school assembly programs prepared by the game commission gets under way in early November.

Two members of the commission's department of information and education, Austin Hamer and Cal Giesler, will spend the next five months touring schools throughout the state, giving illustrated talks and showing wildlife films to student groups.

Last year, approximately 70,000 students were in school audiences where wildlife programs were given. Each year a different phase of wildlife management has been discussed. At the present, there are four separate programs, each using a different color film. Titles are "General Conservation," "Big Game Management," "Fishery Management," and "Waterfowl Management."

Schools in Lake and Klamath counties are first on the travel itinerary, followed by Grant, Harney, Crook, and Deschutes counties. Coastal counties are being scheduled for late November and December; southern Oregon for January, 1956; and the north-eastern schools for February and March.

School principals and teachers interested in having one or more of the programs presented at their schools should request a date immediately as the schedule is rapidly being filled.

Jackson Tussles With Jim Slade

Cleveland, Ohio — (U.P.) — Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, the fast climbing, clowning heavyweight contender, will lay his title ambitions on the line tonight in a 10-round bout with spoiler Jimmy Slade in the Cleveland Arena.

Tonight's non-televised fight is the third meeting of the New Yorkers. Slade took a decision from Jackson in April, 1954, but Jackson came back last June to even the score.

The fight card also has middleweight Rocky Castellani of Cleveland paired against Pedro Gonzales of Pittsburgh in a second 10-rounder. Castellano decided Gonzales in a previous meeting.

BASS DOING WELL

Largemouth black bass fry aerial lifted from Ardmore, Okla., in June of 1955 and planted in northeastern Oregon ponds have found their new homes much to their liking according to Homer Campbell, northeast fishery agent, Oregon Game commission. Recent surveys conducted at several release ponds indicate a satisfactory growth of the young fish.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—ELEVEN

Walt Alston Honored by Press Vote

New York — (U.P.) — Walter Alston, the silent man who touched off the noisiest celebration in Brooklyn since the end of World War II, was named by the United Press today as the National League Manager of the Year.

Alston, who directed the Dodgers to a pennant in record time and went on to lead them to their first World Series triumph after seven previous futile tries, drew the honor in a vote of 54 baseball writers from the league's eight cities.

Alston received 36 votes to win by a comfortable margin over Mayo Smith, the Frenchman manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, who brought them to a fourth place finish after early season travail. Smith received 13 votes. Birdie Tebbets of Cincinnati and depose Leo Durocher of the New York Giants received two votes each while Fred Haney of the Pittsburgh Pirates, another departing pilot, picked up one.

Rocky Point, R.I. — (U.P.) — The annual college beauty queen contest was called off because Rocky Point Amusement park officials could not find any contestants.
