Godfrey Discharges Singer Lu Ann Simms

New York—(U.P.)—Arthur Godfrey yesterday fired singer Lu Ann Simms from his cast, making her the fourth member of Godfrey's cast to be dropped in three days.
Miss Simms husband, Lorrin Buzzell, said the 23-year-old singer received notice that her services will be ended as of Dec. 2.
"It's kind of a shock. She's a little bewildered," Buzzell said. "She took a leave of absence from the Godfrey cast to have a baby last spring and has been on salary ever since."
"All she did was have a baby," added Buzzell, "the most normal thing in the world."
It was only Tuesday that Godfrey gave the heavy-to producer Larry Puck, musical conductor Jerry Bresler and announcer George Bryan of his "Talent Scouts" show.

DEAR DOCTOR

DOG-IN-THE-MANGER

From 'way down south says she has had one difficult delivery and one easy one. She had her second baby at home and wishes she could have her third, soon to arrive at home. But she can't find a doctor who will attend confinement in the home.
I can only infer from the postmark that the lady lives in a town or village so small that its name is not in the gazetteer, not in the medical directory and not on the map. It may be that the doctor who will not attend a confinement in the patient's home just can't spare the time from his practice. If so, then why does the doctor not refer the lady to a doctor who does attend confinement at home? Again it may be that there is no other doctor in the vicinity. This lady's complaint reminds me of the difficulty the young Chicago couple had finding a doctor who attends confinement at home. They didn't like the idea of being thrust apart by hospital regulations and routines. They were in earnest about it, so they didn't give up just because several doctors brusquely refused the engagement and told them a hospital is the safest place to have a baby. Finally they found a doctor who not only accepted the engagement but delivered the baby without the use of anesthetics, by natural childbirth, at home.

The complaint reminds me also of the difficulty many lowerers have had trying to find a doctor who treats infected tonsils with diathermy (electrocoagulation), or one who gives office (ambulant) treatment for hernia (rupture, breach), or one who gives ambulant (painless injections in office) treatment for internal piles.
Formerly I tried to help these people choose the method of treatment they wanted, by naming doctors in their own communities who were skilled in these modern methods. But the task of compiling and maintaining such a directory became so laborious and so costly that I had to discontinue that service.
It is not at all likely that the Chicago doctors canvassed by the young people who wanted to hallow their home were unaware that some of their colleagues attend confinements at home and practice natural childbirth if patients prefer—and I'm in a position to tell the old timers that a steadily increasing number of prospective mothers do prefer this method.

This dog in the manger attitude of the old timers in the profession, in respect to new-fangled ideas or improved methods developed since they finished studying, is on the same plane as the bitter prejudice and intolerance of the profession for homeopathic doctors, in the past, and for osteopathic doctors even now.

RIGHT AND WRONG

Valentine, Neb. — (U.P.) — The parents of four-year-old Christine Lee Elliot were positive she had swallowed a penny so they rushed her to a Norfolk hospital. The parents were right — and wrong. The tot hadn't swallowed one penny—but three.

Morse Urges Denial Of Amortization Plan

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. Wayne Morse yesterday urged denial of Idaho Power Company's application for rapid tax writeoff certificates or the company's proposed Brownlee and Oxbow dams.

The Oregon Democrat made the recommendation in a letter to Arthur S. Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Morse said that under the accelerated amortization program, Idaho Power would be accorded tax savings of $31,357,000 on its Brownlee and Oxbow projects. He said the sum could be invested and over the 50-year period of its Federal Power Commission license would yield $38,406,000.

"Such a windfall at the expense of the nation's tax-paying public is counter to the public interest," Morse said.

Eight Persons Killed As Train Hits Truck

Salinas, Calif. — (U.P.) — Eight persons were killed and six injured yesterday when a southbound Southern Pacific freight train rammed a panel truck loaded with Mexican laborers at a private crossing 11 miles south of here.

According to the Monterey County coroner's office eight bodies had been delivered to Salinas mortuaries, while six injured were in the Salinas Valley Memorial hospital. Earlier, Southern Pacific reported nine persons died in the accident.

The accident took place at 7:15 a.m. near the little town of Chualar, eight miles south of Salinas.

HOT PAINT

Hull, Mass. — (U.P.) — Several streets in this coastal town got some impromptu decoration, but it didn't last. Police ordered three teen-agers to paint out the squaers and lettering they had daubed on the streets a few hours earlier. The teen-agers did the "second coat" in 95 degree heat. And they paid for the paint.
