Mayor Proclaims Art Week AAUW Show Opens Thursday

In cooperation with the American Artists' Professional League, Mayor Earl Miller has proclaimed October 30 to November 5 as American Art week for Medford.

"Art is a measure of civilization and the influence of artists is felt in creation of buildings, homes, clothes, food, pictures, magazines, furniture, tableware, cars, sculpture," the proclamation states. "Art is a spiritual quality which enriches the lives of individuals and is of great importance to the people of our community," the document also states.

The mayor also asked the cooperation of local citizens in making a success of the annual art exhibit sponsored by Medford branch, American Association of University Women. The exhibit will be held at the Medford hotel, opening Thursday, November 3, and continuing through Friday.

Mrs. Emerson Anderson, president of the branch, and her officers, Mrs. Gordon MacKenzie, Mrs. William Knope, Mrs. Stanley C. Jones Jr., and Mrs. J. V. McGoodwin will open the exhibit Thursday night, receiving as special guests the exhibiting artists, and others. The opening night reception will be from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. R. H. Denning, chairman of the show, and her committee, Mrs. John Warneke, art chairman, Mrs. Sam Taylor, Mrs. Paul McDuffee and Mrs. A. J. Johannson, are in charge of all arrangements, guest book registration and introduction of artists and

Quaker Religion Topic for Meeting

Clinton Crisman, pastor of Medford Friends' church, was guest speaker for a meeting of Alpha Lambda chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, last Monday evening.

Mr. Crisman explained the beliefs of the Friends or Quakers and traced the history of their religion from George Fox, their founder, of 17th century England up to today. The Friends church is one of the oldest denominations in America today.

Friends in the Northwest maintain Greenleaf academy, a Christian high school at Greenleaf, Ida., and George Fox College, a college of liberal arts, at Newberg, Ore. The church has youth camps and conference groups on the Oregon coast, on Payette Lakes in Idaho, on Puget Sound in Washington, and on the Greensprings mountains of Southern Oregon. The Friends also maintain a strong missionary program in Bolivia, South America.

Mrs. Charles Jones and Mrs. Harold Adams were hostesses for the meeting.

Gardeners Plan Program on Birds

The Rev. Thomas McCamant will be speaker for a meeting of Medford Garden club Thursday, November 3, at 2 p.m. at the Pythian hall, Fifth and Grape streets. The minister's stopic will be "Birds of our Valley," and he will show slides.

Mrs. Howard Bush will discuss "Shrubs, Attractive to Birds."

Initiation of new members will be held. There will be an executive board meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Charles C. Stearns, 522 West Fourth street, Monday, October 31, at 1:30 p.m.
