

Copco, Commission Sign Agreement; Value Questioned

Sacramento, Calif. (U.P.)—The California-Oregon Power Company and the California-Oregon Klamath River Commission late yesterday signed an agreement for priority use of water in the Klamath basin. But there was doubt expressed whether the agreement had much value.

In the agreement, COPCO agreed to the principle of "subordinating" generation of electric power in favor of other water uses—home use, irrigation, recreation and industrial use.

But attorneys for the commission said the agreement would have little value unless it is incorporated in Copco's federal operating license issued by the Federal Power Commission. They said state laws would be insufficient to enforce the agreement because both the Klamath river and the land surrounding it were in the federal jurisdiction.

When it came to adding the agreement to the federal license, COPCO reneged. Attorney Gregory Harrison said "I am sufficiently fearful that inclusion of this agreement would require the FPC to go into a redetermination of the entire project."

The project involved is Big Bend No. 2 development, for which Copco recently acquired a permit.

Harrison said the company would be no part of any move that might reopen the hearings on that permit. He explained the company had fought since 1952 for the federal license and did not want to jeopardize it in any way.

60,000,000 Turkeys Due on U.S. Tables

Kansas City, Mo. (U.P.)—Americans will gobble up 60,000,000 turkeys during Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday seasons this year, and pay the highest prices on record for them.

But the meat will be better and there will be plenty to go around for everyone.

James Hoekstra, poultry manager of Armour Packing Company, said turkey prices will be about 10 per cent higher for top grade birds and that there will be 3,000,000 fewer available for table consumption.

Armors, the world's largest supplier of turkeys, estimated retail prices for top grade birds will be near 60 cents a pound for hens and 45 cents a pound for toms.

Queen Elizabeth At Royal Premier

London (U.P.)—A smiling Queen Elizabeth II attended the royal film performance last night, the brightest event of the year in British movie-making.

She had smiles for the thousands who jammed into Leicester Square to see the sovereign and the stars arrive for the gala performance of Alfred Hitchcock's "To Catch a Thief."

And she showed concern for Italian movie star Gino Lollobrigida who almost did not get to attend because a plane with her clothes was delayed in Paris.

The queen asked Miss Lollobrigida if things had turned out all right and said she could appreciate the star's anxiety.

Greek Police Fire On Cyprus Rioters

Paris, Greece (U.P.)—Police opened fire on rioters protesting Britain's Cyprus policy in this Peloponnesian island city today.

At least 40 civilians and 35 policemen were reported injured in the demonstrations against British occupied buildings. The riots began this morning and continued on into the afternoon.

Patras is about 110 miles from Athens.

A second riot was reported from Mitylene on the Greek island of Lesbos, only a few miles off the Turkish coast. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

SURPRISE RIBBON
Cheboygan, Mich. (U.P.)—Mrs. William Blaszcak was mystified when she received a blue ribbon recently from the Northern Michigan Fair. Then her daughter, Nancy, 11, explained that she had taken along one of her mother's coffee cakes when she entered a pan of muffins in the baked goods contest. Nancy won a red ribbon for her muffins.
