Accidental Deaths 10

Traffic Mishaps Account for Four During Week End

14-Year-Old Boy Victim of Gunshot

By UNITED PRESS
Nine persons met accidental death in Oregon during the week end. Four died in traffic, three drowned, a 14-year-old boy was accidentally shot to death and a man died from burns.

The gunshot death occurred yesterday about 6 p.m. Coroner L. L. (Jim) Powers said the victim, Marland Theiss, was shot by his 16-year-old brother, Roland, as the older boy was practicing drawing his .22-caliber pistol.

Marland died about 10 minutes after the accident in Forest Glenn hospital. The boys were sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Theiss of Canyonville.

Drowning claimed the life of three-year-old John Avery O'Conner 20 miles north of Lakeview Saturday as the tot walked into a stream to recover a toy he had dropped. He was not missed for about an hour.

Jack Quinn, 17, Creswell, was presumed drowned yesterday in the Willamette river about five miles southwest of Creswell when his horse stumbled and threw him into the water.

Another drowning victim was James Brace Adams, 42, Idanha. His body was recovered from Detroit lake yesterday after his car plunged off North Santiam highway late Saturday or early yesterday.

A head-on collision seven miles east of Oakridge early yesterday killed Ralph L. Baker, 23, Westfir, who was flung from his automobile by the impact. Four others were injured, three of them seriously.

A 37-year-old Crescent City, Calif., man, Lee Ahyta, was injured fatally early Saturday when his car skidded into a bridge abutment south of Cave Junction on the Redwood highway.

Victor Miller, Spokane, Wash., was fatally injured 20 miles south of Bend Saturday when his car ran off the road and overturned.

Peter Paris Threlkel, 61, Marion, died en route to a Salem hospital Friday night after his car plunged from Cloverdale road into a creek near Marion.

E. H. Spool, 67, Mitchell, died Saturday several hours after he was burned in a fire at an auto court caused by a heating unit explosion.

Shasta River Water Not For Domestic Use

Yreka — The city of Yreka received a setback last week in its search for new and additional supplies of municipal water.

The city received a report from the state bureau of sanitary engineering which indicated that water from the Shasta river "is not satisfactory for domestic use during summer and fall months unless extensive treatment is provided."

Use of Shasta river water has been suggested as a supplemental to well water now used in Yreka which in recent years has proven insufficient for the demand during summer months.

Stewardesses Credited With Calming Fears of Children on Crippled Plane

Hilo, Hawaii — (U.P.) — Two stewardesses were credited today with keeping nearly a dozen scared children calm while their plane limped overwater for 300 miles with two of its four engines feathered.

The stewardesses, Barbara Bajt of Walnut Creek, Calif., and Bobby Vineyard of Alameda, Calif., were aboard a California Eastern Airlines DC4 that lost its No. 1 and No. 2 engines yesterday.

TALENT PROJECT CONSTRUCTION FUNDS MAY BE SOUGHT BY IKE

By A. ROBERT SMITH
Mail Tribune Correspondent
Washington — The prospect that President Eisenhower will ask Congress in January for funds to start construction of the Talent division irrigation project is considered good by informed administration officials.

Congress last year approved planning funds for the project, but construction funds fell by the wayside in the midst of a verbal slugging match between Rep. Harris Ellsworth and Sen. Richard L. Neuberger over who was to blame for it.

Interior department officials who have been involved in preparations of the annual budget that goes to Congress in January say the outlook for new projects is very favorable, despite the concerted effort in many quarters to reduce federal spending and balance the budget.

Last January's budget submitted to Congress by the President did not contain a request for construction funds for Talent.

Medford Trucker Injured in Crash

Robert Glen Cosler, 33, of 808 Broad st., Medford, was injured when the truck he was driving was involved in an accident about a mile south of Gazelle, Calif., on Highway 99 Saturday.

Ira Thompson, 51, of Mt. Shasta, Calif., driver of the car, was killed almost instantly in the Willow creek bridge accident.

Cosler was admitted to Mt. Shasta hospital with hand and arm fractures and possible internal injuries. His condition Saturday was listed as critical. He was transferred to Sacred Heart hospital here late Saturday.

California police said the vehicles collided on the bridge, and Thompson's car sheared off a bridge railing and landed on the hood of the truck where it caught fire.

Nine States Reach Trucking Agreement

Salem — (U.P.) — Eight Western states and Kansas reached an agreement over the week-end under which transport trucks will pay pro-rated license fees charged to trucks of such states, but based on the mileage traveled by the out-of-state trucks.

Secretary of State Earl T. Newberry said today.

At present these states operate under reciprocity agreements which permit the trucks to travel through the states without payment of motor vehicle fees.

Newberry said Oregon had pioneered the plan in 1949 but had not been successful up to now in getting it adopted. He predicted the plan would become nationwide in scope within the next year or two.

The states entering into the agreement include Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Nevada, Colorado and Kansas.

The project was authorized in 1954 under legislation sponsored by Congressman Ellsworth and the then Sen. Guy Cordon.

Sen. Neuberger, who unseated Cordon last year, charged that failure of the GOP administration to ask for money for Talent showed that it had been used "as a campaign device to drum up Republican votes" before the election but that after Cordon's defeat the administration "evidently abandoned interest in the project."

Ellsworth called this a "smear-like attack" and pointed out that the administration had asked for $30,000 to plan the project and $352,000 to rehabilitate the Medford and Rogue River Valley irrigation districts' facilities.

Ellsworth also contended that a simple typographical error made by a government clerk had resulted in the Bureau of the Budget gaining the impression the Talent project did not have the favorable benefit-to-cost ratio which correct figures showed it to have.

When debate on the public works appropriation bill came up, the House turned down requests for construction funds for Talent but the Senate agreed to put up $500,000 for this purpose. However, the resulting compromise between the two houses on the bill caused the deletion of the funds for Talent construction.

The total estimated cost of the project is $21,065,000. The project would provide supplemental water for 9250 acres that presently are inadequately irrigated, and it would provide for 8640 acres of new land.

Recommendation of funds by the president in his forthcoming budget message would very likely end the partisan battle that began last session.

Molotov Expected To Present New German Proposals

Geneva — (U.P.) — Big Four conference sources predicted today Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov would return from Moscow with new proposals that could break the current deadlock on German unity.

Molotov took advantage of a three-day conference recess to fly home to Moscow for consultations with the other Kremlin leaders. All three Western foreign ministers also were absent from Geneva.

The unofficial reports said Molotov was expected to return with new proposals on German unity and all-German elections that would go at least part way toward meeting the West. The Western Big Three and West Germany proposed Friday that free all-German elections be held in September, 1956.

The reports here said Molotov may accept the idea of free all-German elections sometime in the near future without agreeing to the September, 1956, deadline proposed by the West.

Western diplomats believed such a "concession" if it should come, would be designed to put the West on the spot with demands for similar "concessions" on its side rather than with any real intention of reaching a cold war peace settlement in Geneva.

Diplomats saw two developments high cast cold water on any rose-colored outlook, however:

1. The East German Communist observer delegation in Geneva already has turned down the West's proposals for all-German elections and said they were unacceptable as long as West Germany remains a member of the Western Alliance.

2. Soviet Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovich in a speech in Moscow Sunday made it clear that Moscow's aim still is to swallow up all Germany into the Communist system as well as to smash the Western alliance.

Portland — (U.P.) — Robert D. Maxwell of Redmond, Oregon's only living World War II holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, will lead the Portland Veterans' Day parade Friday as grand marshal.

Portland — (U.P.) — President Eisenhower notified Gov. Paul L. Patterson over the week-end that the southern section of Malheur county has been declared a major farm disaster area eligible to receive federal aid.

Winter forage in that section of the state has been damaged by prolonged dry weather and Gov. Patterson said that he and Rep. Sam Coon (R-Ore.) had been working to obtain federal relief for southern Malheur farmers.

The relief would be administered by the department of agriculture.

The president's wire said: "I am hopeful that the farmers of Malheur county will have an early and effective relief from their distressing situation."

Salem — (U.P.) — The fourth annual Oregon weed conference will be held here tomorrow and Thursday, sponsored by the Oregon State College extension division.

Election Of Talent Director Tomorrow

A director for the Talent Irrigation district will be elected tomorrow. A poll will be held between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the district office in Talent.

Joe H. Meyer, the incumbent, and David H. Holmes are seeking election as director for a three-year term starting Jan. 1, 1956.

Meyer is completing his first term. He is a truck farmer, raising tomatoes, onions, cantaloupe and other garden produce.

Holmes, president of Harry and David's Bear Creek orchards, also is a dairyman and stock raiser.

Politicians Keep Eye On Tuesday Elections

Washington — (U.P.) — Republican and Democratic strategists will have their political barometers out tomorrow when thousands of voters go to the polls in local and statewide elections.

They will be trying to determine what bearing the local elections — based primarily on 1956 national campaign.

The voting will be the first on a broad scale since the Democrats recaptured control of Congress a year ago and the first since President Eisenhower's heart attack upset calculations on 1956.

Two states, Kentucky and Mississippi, will elect governors; four — Kentucky, Mississippi, New Jersey and Virginia — will select state legislators, and several cities will elect mayors.

Malheur Declared Farm Disaster Area

Ike Will Return To East Friday; Race Up To Him

Denver — (U.P.) — Dr. Paul Dudley White today approved plans for President Eisenhower to fly back East Friday but said the chief executive will have to "decide for himself" whether to run again.

The Boston heart specialist said, "I have no precedent on which to base either adequate advice or predictions" on whether the President should seek another term.

"He'll probably have to decide himself," White told reporters at a Denver White House news conference after his final check on the President's condition at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

White said Mr. Eisenhower and the doctors agreed on plans to leave here by air Friday morning arriving in Washington that afternoon. On Monday, Nov. 14, the chief executive is expected to be moved by automobile to his Gettysburg, Penn., farm for recuperation.

White and Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the White House physician, agreed that it probably will be late January or February before Mr. Eisenhower is in a position to decide whether he should seek another term.

The internationally known heart specialist said he thinks the President first must resume some of the "full strain" of the presidency before deciding on his own future.

White said "He got to use his own judgment." He said all the doctors can do is tell the President how fully he has recovered from the moderate coronary thrombosis which felled him Sept. 24.

White gave newsmen a full, encouraging report on Mr. Eisenhower's recovery to date.

Group Arrives Safely In Hawaiian Islands

The 30 or so Jackson county people on the "Pears to Pineapple" good will tour to the Hawaiian islands, which left "Medford Trans Ocean and International Airport" Saturday, apparently arrived safely and well.

The Jackson County Chamber of Commerce office this morning received a seven-word cablegram from them, which said: "Wonderful trip. Will be back by spring."

Actually, the tour is due back Saturday, although a few of the members may stay on for additional time in the islands.

Twin Boys Have Same Weight and Height

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Yost, route 1, box 388, Gold Hill, are parents of twin sons, their first children, born Nov. 5 at Community hospital. Though not identical twins, the boys were identical in weight and height at birth. They each weighed 7 pounds, 5½ ounces, and each is 21 inches tall.

Yost is employed at Elk Lumber company. Mrs. Yost has a brother and a sister who are twins; and Yost's brother is father of a set of twins.

The boys have been named Upton Lee, the firstborn, and Thomas Dee.

Home Campaign of UMC In Porchlight Drive

Women volunteer workers in the United Methodist Crusade will wind up their campaign between 7 and 8 p.m. today with a "porchlight" drive.

Workers in the Home Crusade division will call on homes which signify a desire to give by leaving on porch lights. Mrs. E. A. Littrell and Mrs. Scott Davis are in charge of workers in the home division, which is to provide an opportunity for those who have not contributed elsewhere.

Republicans Hopeful Patterson Will Seek Election To Senate

Portland — (U.P.) — Wellington D. Rankin, newly elected chairman of the Western Regional Conference of the Republican Party, won the cheers of some 650 conference delegates here Saturday night when he declared that Republicans everywhere "hope and pray" that Gov. Paul Patterson of Oregon will announce his candidacy for the United States Senate next year.

Rankin, attorney general for Montana, made his remarks at the close of the two-day conference and following an address by Gov. Patterson.

Rankin said "the eyes of the west, the eyes of America are on Paul L. Patterson because America needs him in the United States Senate."

In his speech, Patterson did not disclose whether he would be a candidate to compete for the Senate seat now held by Democrat Wayne Morse. But he said Republican ideals would outlive and transcend any one man or group of men.

Patterson declared that the party had brought morality back to government; had restored public confidence; had brought history's greatest tax break, and had advanced civil rights as they had never been advanced before.

In the first of two Portland appearances, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell told the conference that "the American working man never had it so good."

Mitchell said "There are more people at work in the United States than ever before in our history. They are making more money. And their money buys more than ever before because prices have remained virtually steady for two years."

The secretary told the banquet audience that "this is not a Big Business government; nor is it a Big Labor government. It is a government devoted to the promotion and the development of the welfare of every single individual American."

Labor-management relations have reached new heights of harmony during the past two years, Mitchell said, and he attributed the peace on the labor front to the Eisenhower administration's "hands off" policy in collective bargaining.

Dulles-Tito Accord May Anger Kremlin

Geneva — (U.P.) — A joint declaration by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia that the Soviet satellites should be freed may anger the Kremlin, it was believed today.

Dulles flew to Yugoslavia and conferred with the Yugoslav president for seven hours on the Adriatic island of Brioni. They issued a "common accord" calling for independence for the satellite countries.

Diplomatic observers here said Tito's main idea was believed to be to have Communist states independent from Russia — as is Yugoslavia. However neither defined the meaning of the word "independent" and neither went into specific detail.

But his statement came on the eve of the October revolution which first brought Communism to Russia and was expected to cause anger in the Soviet Union. Informed sources said the Soviet Union always denied Russia was the "boss" of the satellites and would find itself in a difficult position because of Tito's demands.

Man Fails to Break Into Klamath Jail

Klamath Falls — (U.P.) — Sheriff Murray Britton said today a man tried to break into jail here but failed.

Britton said he and Jailor Richard Hunt early Sunday chased an unidentified man clad only in a T-shirt and shorts who placed a ladder against one of the walls of the jail and tried to open a window leading into the women's quarters.

Tipped off by telephone, Britton came to the scene and found the prowler fleeing toward a big sawdust pile across the street from the jail. The man wasn't found.

Two Injured When Thrown From Auto

Mrs. Marjorie Jean Ford, 21, and Debby J. Ford, 3, of 1024 North Central ave. were injured when they were thrown from an automobile involved in an accident at the corner of West Tenth and South Holly sts. at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Ford, who suffered head and back injuries, was reported in good condition today at Community hospital. The child was treated for cuts and bruises and released. They were taken to the hospital by Medford Ambulance service.

Drivers of the cars involved in the accident were Herbert Dean Ford, and Berda Mary Downing, 1518 Mae st. The latter was cited for failure to yield the right of way to oncoming traffic.

State to Buy $400,000 Worth of Chevrolets

Salem — (U.P.) — The state of Oregon plans to purchase $400,000 worth of Chevrolet vehicles next year, according to the State Department of Finance and Administration.

The vehicles will be supplied directly by the Chevrolet division of General Motors. Prices range from $1105 for a business coupe to $1612 for a station wagon.

Zhukov Asks Preparedness On Revolution Anniversary

Moscow — (U.P.) — Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov called today for "vigilance" and "battle preparedness" in a Communist Revolution anniversary celebration marked by the appearance over Red Square of a "mighty airborne battleship."

Marshal Zhukov reviewed the Soviet armed forces in a great parade on Red Square marking the 38th anniversary of the October revolution.

A giant jet bomber escorted by swept-wing jet fighters streaked overhead following Zhukov's speech atop the mausoleum of Stalin and Lenin.

Earlier First Vice Premier Lazar Kaganovich, in a speech before Soviet and Communist Party leaders, declared that the 20th century will see the triumph of Communism throughout the world.

"Under the banner of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin we have triumphed and will continue to triumph to full victory for Communism," Kaganovich said.

Struggle Continues
Zhukov spoke to thousands of troops and citizens massed in Red Square. He said the Soviet Union continues "undeviatingly and consistently to struggle for the cause of peace throughout the world."

The goodwill shown at the Geneva summit conference has led "to a certain relaxation in international tension" he added, but he warned sailors, soldiers and airmen not to relax their guard.

Arrest of Veteran After Discharge Declared Invalid

Swimming Pool, Park Segregation Ruled Out

Washington — (U.P.) — The Supreme Court struck down more racial barriers today. It ruled that racial segregation in public parks, swimming pools and golf courses is unconstitutional.

The high tribunal also invalidated a section of the 1950 Military Code of Justice that allows the armed forces to arrest and try a veteran after his discharge to civilian life for a serious crime committed while serving in uniform overseas.

In still another major action, the court refused to review a lower court's ruling that it is unconstitutional for the government to bar members of alleged subversive groups from federal low rent housing projects.

Follow Earlier Ruling
The court made its segregation rulings in two brief orders. There were no written opinions, but both actions evidently were based on the same reasoning as the tribunal's historic decision last year banning segregation in public schools.

In one of today's cases, the justices affirmed a ruling by the fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals last March, outlawing separation of whites and Negroes in public parks and swimming pools operated by the state of Maryland and the city of Baltimore.

In the other segregation case, the Supreme Court upheld an appeal by three Negroes who were barred from the Bobby Jones public golf course in Atlanta, Ga. The justices unanimously ordered the federal district court in Atlanta to direct the city to open its golf courses to all regardless of race.

Toth Wins Freedom
The court's 6 to 3 decision on the Military Justice Code freed Robert W. Toth, 24-year-old Pittsburgh steelworker, from prosecution on charges that he murdered a Korean civilian while serving as an Air Force sergeant in Korea in 1952.

The Air Force arrested Toth in 1953, five months after he was discharged, and whisked him to Korea to face a court martial. A federal judge ordered him returned to this country pending a test of the constitutionality of the Military Justice Code provision under which he was arrested.

The decision apparently frees from Army prosecution the three turncoat GIs who returned to this country last summer from Red China. All three are now civilians, having received dishonorable discharges when they first elected to stay with Red China.

Up To Congress
The court majority does not mean there is no way of trying an ex-serviceman whose crimes go undiscovered until he is discharged. The six justices suggested that Congress could provide for such cases to be tried before civilian federal district courts, with special jurisdiction.

In the housing case, the Supreme Court upheld, without a written opinion, a ruling made by the Wisconsin Supreme Court last June.
