National Party Managers Scan City, State Voting For Clues

By UNITED PRESS
Voters turned out today for hundreds of state and city elections which offered the last large-scale test of political sentiment before the 1956 presidential campaign.

Although state and local issues were dominant in virtually all cases, national party managers watched the balloting for clues to what may happen in the big show next year. They were particularly interested in these contests:

1. The Kentucky gubernatorial race in which former Gov. and former Sen. A. B. (Happy) Chandler was trying for a political comeback against Edwin R. Denney, the Republican nominee. The GOP hoped that bitterness growing out of the Democratic primary campaign would help Republicans win the governorship and improve their chances of carrying normally Democratic Kentucky next year.

2. Indiana municipal elections which have sometimes foreshadowed the results of future national elections.

3. The Philadelphia mayoralty election in which Richardson Dilworth is the candidate of the Democratic reformers who ousted a long-established GOP machine four years ago. His opponent is a GOP reform nominee, W. Thacher Longstreth. The outcome can affect the 1956 outlook in the critical state of Pennsylvania, where Democrats elected a governor in 1954 for the first time in 20 years.

4. The New Jersey contest for control of the legislature. The Democrats, who put Gov. Robert B. Meyner in office last year, were trying to finish the job by wresting control of the legislature from the GOP.

Today's elections provided no clear test of sentiment among farm voters, whose sagging income is supposed to be threatening trouble for the Eisenhower administration and its GOP supporters in 1956. However, municipal elections in small towns may give some indirect indications of how the farmers feel.

Along with Kentucky, Mis-issippi also was electing a governor today. Attorney General J. P. Coleman, the Democratic nominee, was unopposed.

Virginia, Kentucky and Mississippi, all Democratic states, were electing members of the legislatures, as well as New Jersey.

Besides Philadelphia, major cities holding elections today in-

More Polio Cases in Malheur Bring Rush For Gamma Globulin

Nyssa — (U.P.) — Idahoans living across the Snake river from this polio-infested area visited their family doctors in Nyssa and nearby Oregon communities for gamma globulin shots today following reports of two more Malheur county polio cases.

The cases were the county's 40th and 41st of the year in an epidemic which has taken the lives of three teen-age girls. The latest cases involved a three-year-old Ontario girl and a one-year-old Nyssa girl. The latter was the 30th victim of the Nyssa area so far in 1955.

2,800 Immunized
The new cases, reported yesterday, followed a mass gamma globulin inoculation program that immunized 2,800 persons against the disease in the Nyssa school district last week.

Dr. Grant B. Hughes, Malheur county health director, said neither of the latest victims had received either gamma globulin shots, which give almost positive polio immunity for a short period, or injections of the Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Two other cases—one in Nyssa and another in nearby Adrian

Oregon State Blind Workshop Closed

Portland — (U.P.) — The workshop of the Oregon State Blind Commission here was closed indefinitely today. An official said it was closed because of a ruling by Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton that 21 of the workers are not state employees and must provide their own industrial accident insurance.

Clifford Stocker, commission administrator, termed the ruling a "gross injustice." He said workers in the shop have been covered for the last six years by State Industrial Accident Insurance. Coverage, he said, was based on a legal opinion by the State Industrial Accident Commission.

An insurance agent said private insurance would cost each of the blind persons from $20 to $30 a month. Average earnings range from $140 to $240 a month.

UN General Assembly Balloting Postponed

United Nations, N.Y. — (U.P.) — The United Nations General Assembly today postponed for two weeks the deadlocked Security Council election between U.S.-backed Philippines and Yugoslavia.

The Assembly cast nine ballots this morning but failed to break the deadlock. However, U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., speaking in favor of the postponement, told the Assembly that "a new idea" had been put forward for consideration which made it advisable to suspend the voting.

cluded San Francisco, Boston, Indianapolis, Ind., Memphis, Tenn., Columbus, O., and Hartford, Conn.

In Michigan, both Republicans and Democrats in the 15th congressional district held primaries to nominate a successor to the late Rep. John D. Dingell, a Democrat, who died last summer.

Eisenhower May Make Two Brief Speeches Friday

Denver — (U.P.) — The White House today announced plans for President Eisenhower's return to Washington Nov. 11. He will arrive back in Washington between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. (EST) and probably make two speeches during the day.

The chief executive, according to his Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, probably will speak briefly upon his departure from Lowry Air Force Base at about 11 a.m. (EST) Friday. Hagerty also expected the President would have "a few words" upon his arrival at the Military Air Transport Service terminal in Washington.

The forenoon medical bulletin on Mr. Eisenhower reported continued progress in his recovery from a Sept. 24 heart attack. This morning, he walked up a flight of 10 steps in a fire escape between the eighth and ninth floors of Fitzsimons Army hospital.

To Walk up Ramp
He covered the 10-step route three times without stopping, resting briefly at the top of the stairs before starting his downward trip. Hagerty said that later in the day Mr. Eisenhower was expected to cover the same stairway route three more times.

What the President and his doctors were doing was a rehearsal for Friday when Mr. Eisenhower will walk up the ramp to his plane, the Columbine III.

The President was aware that a civic reception in Washington was being organized and after checking with his physicians, he found no medical objection to a large street crowd awaiting him in the nation's capital.

Stores To Remain Open November 11

Medford merchants will remain open on Veterans Day, Friday, Nov. 11. Banks, the city hall and courthouse offices will be closed.

Medford retail merchants voted at their last meeting to follow the lead of Portland, Salem, Eugene, and Klamath Falls in relation to closing for the holiday. Since retail stores in those cities were planning to remain open it was decided to follow suit.

State liquor stores and agencies will be closed. Licensees of the Oregon liquor control commission, however, need not close unless they wish to do so, according to an OLCC report.

Private clubs which have master locker permits may not sell bottled liquor containing more than 14 per cent alcohol by volume on Friday, but other sales and services allowed by their license will be permitted.

Santa Monica, Calif. — (U.P.) — Songwriter Hoagy Carmichael, 55, was divorced today by his wife, Ruth, 41, on charges he was "cold and indifferent" during their past three years of marriage.

Someone from one out of every two groups of door to door magazine salesmen coming to Medford is arrested, Sgt. Lyle C. Perkins, city police, declared Monday.

The President will drive through the streets of Washington to the White House in what was described as the "bubble-top" limousine. This is a car with a plastic covering over the rear seat which protects the President from the weather and still permits the public to see him.

Ashland Paving Contract Referred

Salem — (U.P.) — The State Highway Commission said today it had referred to the state engineer for final award a contract for paving in the city of Ashland.

T. W. Thomas, Portland, was low bidder at $118,136 when the commission opened bids in Portland last week. It is a federal aid project and approval from the Bureau of Public Roads is required. The project calls for .51 mile of grading and paving for northbound lanes of the Pacific highway in Ashland.

Problem of Door to Door Magazine Sales Is Stickler for Police, Chamber Chiefs chamber receives more than 100 complaints a year from people who have been defrauded by salesmen or desire information as to whether or not a particular group of salesmen is reputable.

It was pointed out that door to door sales groups have become more numerous in recent times. Perkins stated that it is not uncommon to have three different groups of magazine salesmen working the Medford area at the same time and that it would require two men full time for the police to fingerprint, photograph and obtain accurate information about all door-to-door salesmen.

McNeil stated that an ordinance has been passed in Tacoma to prohibit soliciting at night because of the unsavory character of some of the sales-

One Killed, Seven Hurt In County Auto Mishaps

Jack B. Welling, 67, Camp White, was killed last night in one of three automobile accidents in Jackson county. The fatal accident occurred at about 8:15 p.m.

Welling was walking across Crater Lake highway at the Camp White intersection when he was struck by a car. It was the third similar fatal accident at the Camp White intersection this year.

State police said Welling was struck by a vehicle operated by Gordon Lee Hayes, 32, of Apartment 1, School apartments, Eagle Point.

Hayes' car was eastbound at a speed of 40 miles an hour. He told investigating officers that he did not see Welling in the highway until just before the car hit the man. Welling evidently was standing in the eastbound lane of traffic with his back toward Hayes' oncoming car.

Killed Instantly
Welling was killed instantly, according to Coroner Carlos Morris. The coroner said Welling suffered multiple injuries, including a broken neck, both legs broken, a back wound, and a possible skull fracture.

Conger-Morris funeral home is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Six people were injured in another automobile accident on Crater Lake highway. Five of the injured were treated and released and the sixth remained in the hospital today.

State police said the mishap occurred at the Four Corners intersection when a car operated by Eugene D. Winningham, 18, Prospect, collided with a vehicle registered to Tolbert G. Reavis, Camp White, and occupied by William J. Wilkin, 64, and Fred Montoya, 63, both of Camp White.

Although both vehicles involved in the accident were moving at the time of the accident, police said, both Wilkin and Montoya denied they were driving the second car.

Girl Injured
Most seriously injured in the accident was Patricia Sanderson, 15, Prospect, a passenger in the car driven by Winningham. She was taken to Sacred Heart hospital, where she is being treated for face cuts and a head injury.

Lawrence L. Sanderson, 18, and Jeanette Walls, 16, both of Prospect and both passengers in Winningham's car, were treated and released at Sacred Heart hospital. Winningham, Wilkin and Montoya were treated and released at Community hospital, where they were taken by Medford Ambulance service.

Protective Umbrella Over World Farmers May Be Withdrawn

Rome — (U.P.) — U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson warned today that the protective umbrella thrown over the world's farmers by the American price support program may be withdrawn.

The statement was made before the biennial meeting of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO).

Benson was unable to attend and his statement was read by Earl L. Butz, assistant secretary of agriculture.

New Production Seen
"In some nations today," Benson said, "many of us fear that present trends are leading toward 'quick return' attitudes, toward single-crop rather than balanced agricultural economies."

"We see new agricultural production springing up in some countries, not because it is economically justified, but only because it can creep under the umbrella-like protection of the United States price support program."

"Gentlemen, I must assure you that any production based on such hope of short-term benefits may sooner or later find its protecting umbrella withdrawn."

Benson made these other highlights:

1. American surpluses are "like money in the bank." The problem is not their existence but how to distribute them.

2. One aim of the U. S. flexible price support system is to make import controls "less and less necessary" so the United States can be genuinely competitive in world markets.

3. The time is ripe for all nations to join in lowering trade barriers.

4. The challenge in agriculture today is not greater production but distribution.

Budget Committee Scheduled To Meet
The Medford citizens budget committee will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the council chamber.

UMC Fund Drive At 84 Pct. Mark

The United Medford Crusade's fund drive climbed from 80 per cent of its $109,000 goal last week to 84 per cent this week, division leaders were told at a luncheon meeting yesterday.

The drive total now stands at $92,000, with $17,000 to go. M. M. Huggins, drive chairman, said he is confident this can be done.

Leading the divisions this week was the King Arthur group, with 103 per cent of its goal. It was one of the three low groups last week, but went over its goal during the ensuing days.

As a result, Chairman Dick House was the winner of the trip to the OSC-California game Saturday, offered by Huggins. House passed up the trip in favor of Guy Hays, who headed the real estate section of House's division, and who did a "bang up job," House said.

Western Hopes For New Plan Dashed in Speech

Reality Ignored, Molotov Declares

Geneva — (U.P.) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today flatly rejected the Western plan for free elections to unify Germany and made it clear that Russia intends to hang on to the Communist East Zone.

In the longest speech of the current Big Four foreign ministers conference, Molotov dashed Western hopes that he had brought back a new plan for Germany from Moscow.

He came back instead with a bitter cold war blast against the West's proposals for free elections and German unification.

Deadlock Tightened
"The Western plan for free elections ignored the reality of Germany," Molotov said in an hour and a quarter speech that deadlocked the conference tighter than ever.

He said the question of free elections is not "mature enough" and was an "artificial plan."

Looking across the square conference table to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Molotov said that Russia "cannot agree to see the workers of the Communist German Democratic Republic in East Germany deprived of their factories and land."

'Time and Patience'
He charged that the "Eden Plan" for free elections and unity would provoke a general dislocation in Germany.

He said the means for reunifying the split nation should be found but that it would not be simple. Then he added: "Time and patience are required."

A half hour before the plenary session opened, West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano, in an airport statement, said he had brought no new proposals. He said the West's proposals all had been drawn up in consultation with the Bonn Government and that it approved of them in every respect.
