Three Sewage Disposal Plans Studied by Phoenix Council

Phoenix — The Phoenix city council is considering three proposals for construction of a sewer system and means of disposal of sewage.

The council recently received a report from Harvey and Watkins Consulting Engineers, Medford, on financing three possibilities of serving Phoenix with a sewer system. Del Harvey represented the firm and discussed various plans with the council.

One proposal is to construct a separate treatment plant for Phoenix, which would cost an estimated $315,250. The plant, according to the report, would be capable of serving 2,000 population.

Second Plan
The second alternative is to construct a treatment plant in cooperation with South Bear Creek Sanitary district. Phoenix' share in the cooperation estimated to be $312,395, including construction of a trunk line to connect with a treatment plant.

The third alternative would cost an estimated $224,950, and calls for a trunk line through South Bear Creek Sanitary district and a contract with the city of Medford for disposal. The estimated cost includes fees to Medford and maintenance expenses.

Mayor Dan Adams said the council indicated it may schedule a meeting with officials of South Bear Creek Sanitary district and Medford city officials of South Bear Creek Sanitary district and Medford city officials to discuss possibilities of a trunk line connection.

Residents of Phoenix earlier this year approved a $40,000

Errol Flynn Home Sold for $1,988

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Actor Errol Flynn still had a chance today to regain his $75,000 Hollywood Hills estate which was sold for less than $2000 to satisfy a $1500 judgement.

The mansion at Mulholland and Torreyson Drs. was sold yesterday to J. N. Benson of La Jolla, Calif., for a total of $1,988.62. Benson was the only bidder for the property.

But under conditions of the sale, the actor can regain title to the property anytime within the next year by paying the sale price.

The home was ordered up for sale to meet a judgement obtained by Robert, George and Thomas McElwaine and William Marshall, who said the actor owed them $1500 for publicity work on a film made in Nice, France, in 1950.

Church Paper Attacks Archbishop's Statement

London — (U.P.) — The Archbishop of Canterbury's opposition to a Margaret-Townsend marriage was attacked today by the "British Weekly," unofficial publication of British Protestant churches outside the Church of England.

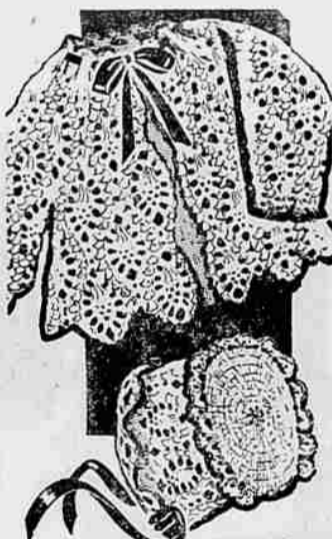

It termed his stand against divorce and remarriage of divorced persons "blasphemy" and said the Archbishop speaks "falsely" when he describes this stand "as the position of his church."

To Furnish Water

The council also agreed to furnish water for the Phoenix Garden club for parks at triangles where Highway 99 divides north and south of the Phoenix business district.

The garden club also asked the city to maintain the parks, but the council rejected the proposal because a maintenance man is not available.

Pink Caterpillars Dine On Upholstery

Los Angeles — (U.P.) — A fan palm may be handsome in the front yard, but it has created a new household problem in southern California — an invasion of homes by upholstery-chewing fan palm caterpillars.

University of California Entomologist Roy J. Pence reported the pink caterpillars naturally feed on the palm fiber to spin their cocoons, but when they fall from the tree during heavy winds, they enter homes where they shred clothes, drapes, upholstered furniture and expensive rugs.

Pence said the best way to control the pest is to send a "palm skinner" up the tree, to prune out the infested parts and treat adjacent areas with DDT.

Marine Corps Has 180th Birthday Anniversary Today

The United States Marine Corps celebrates its 180th anniversary today.

Originated in 1775 as the Continental Marine Corps, members of the corps made their first landing in the Bahamas about four months later.

The first Marines served without pay. Their reward was a share of the prizes of war from ships captured on the sea and loot taken from raids on land.

What is believed to be the first Marine Corps recruiting poster, dated January 1776, begins, "Great Encouragement, American Revolution."

"Brilliant Prospect" "What a Brilliant Prospect does this Event hold out to every Lad of Spirit, who is inclined to try his Fortune in that highly renowned Corps, The Continental Marines. When everything that swims the sea must be a prize!

"Thousands are, at this moment endeavoring to get on Board Privateers, where they serve without pay or Reward of any kind what so ever; so certain does their Chance appear of enriching themselves by Prize Money!..." The poster was tacked on the door of Tun's Tavern in Philadelphia by the tavern keeper and first recruiting officer in corps history, Capt. Robert Mullen.

With the approach of cool weather, clover mites move into houses, but they can be stopped by spraying the lower parts of the house foundation with 2 per cent summer oil emulsion aramite, dimite or malathion.

Group To Study Amazon Pattern

Philadelphia — (U.P.) — A Philadelphia scientist will lead an expedition to the Amazon River this year for the purpose of studying the biological pattern of the stream.

She is Ruth Patrick, Curator of Limnology in the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia. For eight years she and her staff of biologists have been studying North American rivers. To advance knowledge of what constitutes a healthy stream, it is necessary to examine a tropical river for comparison, she said.

The expedition is sponsored by the Catherwood Foundation, of which Cummins Catherwood, of Bryn Mawr, is president. This foundation has been backing the academy's research extensively, one important phase being development of the Catherwood Diatometer, an instrument originated by the academy.

It is used in collection of diatoms, one-celled microscopic members of the plant kingdom, the populations and species of which in any stream is an index to its condition.

Beginning in 1948, the academy has made studies for governmental and private agencies on rivers from coast to coast, and in Canada. Its reports are results of applying the "academy yardstick," which holds that the comparative health of a river depends upon its ability to support populations of animal and plant life from microscopic forms up to fishes.

From the knowledge thus gained, in the field and the academy laboratories, the department is able to furnish its sponsors valuable information affecting treatment and disposal of industrial and municipal wastes.

In the short life of the department, it has grown until it employs in the field survey seasons more than 20 scientists and technicians.
