

VFW, Auxiliary Announce Events For Shady Cove

Shady Cove — Mrs. Russell Stelle recently was appointed as the auxiliary chairman for the annual Thanksgiving turkey shoot to be sponsored Sunday, November 20 by the Steelhead post and auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mrs. Reed McKay was appointed to the "cherry tree" committee and Mrs. Gene House was selected to take charge of the annual children's Christmas party.

A dinner which will be open to the public is planned by the auxiliary for December 4 at the VFW hall. Any one from the vicinity who brings proof that they have donated to the blood bank since the last dinner will be given their dinner without charge.

The auxiliary received a note of appreciation from E. W. Ricker for the assistance given at parties held at the Camp White domiciliary.

Mrs. Jim Cassal reported on a Halloween party at Camp White. She also reported that she had contacted Shady Cove and Elk-Trail schools regarding a poppy post contest. She reminded auxiliary members that poppy sales are to support the VFW national home and suggested that they work on the project throughout the year.

Other reports made during the recent meeting were on community service by Mrs. Dan Krotz, and publicity by Mrs. Russell Stelle.

An article, "The Flag Endures," by Calvin Coolidge, was read. Members voted to send a contribution to the "American Museum of Immigration," which is a museum being built in the base of the statue of Liberty.

A dance held November 10 also was discussed.

The auxiliary had as guests several members from the Del Rogue auxiliary of Grants Pass.

Refreshments were served to the post members, guests and auxiliary at the close of the meeting.

Eagle Point Unit Meets at Camp; Plan Workshop

Eagle Point — Eagle Point Home Extension unit met November 10 in the Employees' club at Camp White.

Mrs. K. B. Black reminded unit members that Queen Bess coupons are to be taken to the unit secretary, Mrs. F. J. Glonning, Camp White, not later than November 19 for delivery to Mrs. Weatherford, county agent.

The second demonstration in gift wrapping was given by Mrs. T. H. Shearin. It was decided that each member attending the December meeting bring ribbon, paper and a 50 cent gift for the third gift wrapping demonstration and then be used for the gift exchange.

Mrs. R. H. Denning, assisted by Mrs. Black and Mrs. Max Hawks of the Shady Cove unit, presented the second demonstration on basket weaving. Two workshops on basket weaving have been held at the Employees' club at Camp White and the third workshop will be held Thursday, November 17, also at the club. The unit members are reminded to bring all tools necessary for the workshop.

Rogue River Club Announces Dinner

Rogue River — A turkey dinner and Christmas party to be held December 7 were planned at the November 2 meeting of Laurel Garden club. The events will be held in the Civic Improvement club rooms.

Mrs. Isa Forcyst was the hostess assisted by Mrs. Homer Classic. Dessert luncheon was served.

Mrs. Charles Babcock, president, presided. Mrs. Joe Golding and Mrs. Clair Douglas were visitors.

Mrs. W. A. White, conservation chairman, read an article on tree planting in forests. Mrs. E. Patterson read an article concerning Thanksgiving day and Mrs. Gertrude Friden, who was elected treasurer for the remainder of the year, spoke regarding the Hawaiian islands, her birthplace. Chrysanthemums were exhibited and Mrs. Forcyst furnished a rose bouquet.

Return to Gettysburg Farm Is Best Present for Mamie

By PATRICIA WIGGINS United Press Correspondent

Washington (U.P.)—One of the nicest presents Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower could have on her 59th birthday today was her return to her home in Gettysburg.

The first lady has made no bones about the fact that her heart has been at Gettysburg since the Eisenhower's farm residence there became their first real home in 39 years of married life.

But, more important, the trip home marked another step forward in the President's road to recovery.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty Saturday described the farm as the apple of Mr. Eisenhower's eye. He could well have said the same for the first lady's feeling about the farmhouse.

Because of her love for the handsome redecorated home and its 189 rolling acres, it was inevitable that some of the presents she got today would be "something for the house."

Her husband, family and friends on other recent gift-giving occasions have chosen such items as fireplace tools and mantles for the farmhouse which were received with delight.

Sen. George Bender (R-O.), entered into the spirit of the day by sending as his birthday token a box full of assorted gay gloves designed for amateur gardeners' wear.

In Denver last month, Mrs. Eisenhower was reported "anxious" to get back to the farm. She wrote friends she hoped the President soon would be able to get in some "front porch farming" from the Gettysburg retreat.

Vigorous Social Season Last spring, when Mrs. Eisenhower went up to Gettysburg to rest from a vigorous social season at the White House, she stayed on to supervise final decorating plans on the farmhouse almost steadily until she left for Denver.

Perhaps one of the reasons she likes the farm so is the way her Gettysburg neighbors treat her on occasional shopping trips to town—just like any other citizen. In Washington her trip to a store starts a mob scene.

Besides being back home with a much-improved husband, Mrs. Eisenhower could be happy for another reason—she does not look her 59 years.

With three strenuous years as White House hostess behind her, and despite her trying vigil at Denver—where she was reported to have lost 14 pounds—Mrs. Eisenhower today looks just like the smiling, cheerful woman who waved at crowds from the rear of campaign trains in 1952.

November Issue Of Publication Creates Interest

"A Message to Altruists," by General Carlos P. Romulo was read at a meeting of Medford Altruists club held last week at the home of Mrs. Maisie Daily.

The article on "what all free women should know" opens the November issue of the magazine of Altruists International which is named the "Spotlight on Asia" issue.

The article was read by Mrs. Edith Baker, international relations chairman of the group, who stated that the club has ordered a number of extra copies to be distributed to other interested groups and for local libraries. The Chicago Council of Foreign Relations has named the issue "pamphlet of the month."

Miss Lotus Eaton, vice-president, presided at the meeting in place of Mrs. Maude Codding, president, who was in San Francisco on business.

The vocational grant committee, which met Tuesday evening at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Enid Rankin, reported that letters announcing the vocational training grant of $250 had been sent to churches, clubs, PTA groups and the county Grange units asking their assistance in finding a woman who needed training or to re-train former skills in order to gain employment.

Applications for this grant can be obtained by calling or writing any member of the club, the president, Mrs. Codding, or Mrs. Rankin at 18 Richmond avenue, before December 1. The club is offering this grant in the fall instead of the spring in order that the recipient can start training the first part of the year 1956 when colleges and business schools begin their second semester. Miss Eaton, secretary of the Oregon State Board of Nursing, stated that another school for practical nursing would be starting in Coos Bay very soon, there being only one now in southern Oregon, this being at the Oregon Technical Institute at Klamath Falls.

A social time followed the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Daly and Mrs. Rankin. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Mabelle King of Santa Ana, Calif., Mrs. Carl Beebe, Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mrs. D. W. Robertson and Miss Anna May of Medford. Mrs. King has been spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. William Frake and family.

Junior Tri-Hi-Y Elects Officers

Miss Nancy Eck was elected president of the Medford Junior Tri-Hi-Y at a meeting last Wednesday. A constitution was introduced and approved during the session.

Miss Brenda Barrell was elected vice-president; Jo-Ann Doe, secretary; Margie LaFevre treasurer; Jean Alley, historian; and Jan Schlip, chaplain.

After the meeting the new officers met to appoint members for the finance committee, membership, social activities and religion.

Dead line for Sunday Classified is at noon Saturday.

Guests Attend Last Meeting of Artists' Group

A number of guests attended the November meeting of Oregon Society of Artists held at Mon-Desir Dining Inn.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ted Table, Scotts Bluff, Neb., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kelley, Central Point and Miss Kathie Funken, Medford. Mrs. Kelley and Miss Funken made application for associate memberships.

The application of Dr. E. O. Muhs, Camp White, for active membership, was approved by the judging committee.

Mrs. Kelley submitted as her entry an autumn scene in oils, and also an oil depicting Mt. Hood, and Miss Funken submitted two black-and-white lithograph prints of woodland scenes.

An oil of the Laurelhurst covered bridge in Upper Rogue river and a scene from his former home in the mid-west were shown by Dr. Muhs in his application for active membership.

Mr. Ahern selected a nominating committee for the forthcoming election of officers. Appointed were Mrs. Effie White, Mrs. Marie Starks and Mrs. Afton Carter.

Oil paintings for the December exhibits were as follows: Barker's "Picture-of-the-Month," Mt. Shasta," by Afton Carter, Puruckers, a still life by Elizabeth Sheffield, and two landscapes for Burgess Paint Store were entered by Mrs. Ralph Hixson, Central Point, and Mrs. Sheffield.

Royal Neighbors Of Central Point Give Recent Party

Central Point—Central Point camp, Royal Neighbors of America, entertained members of Mistletoe club of Medford Royal Neighbors at a party in the Central Point Grange hall last Wednesday. Decorations on the buffet and dining tables were in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. Dessert was served at one o'clock.

Mistletoe club conducted a business meeting, and a program was given by the Central Point camp. Mrs. Frank Ward sang, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Gillman at the piano. A skit depicting a rummage sale was given by Mrs. Mel Pennoyer, Mrs. Workman and Mrs. Dye. Mrs. Emma Collins, orator of the lodge, gave a reading.

Mrs. Workman and Mrs. August Sukow conducted a quiz contest, and perfect scores were made by Mrs. E. M. Lovell, Mrs. Win Arnold and Mrs. Gillman of the Medford club. Each was presented a prize. Mrs. Clayton Walker, district deputy of the lodge, gave a reading.

Mrs. C. R. Allred was general chairman in charge of the event, given by the Central Point group in appreciation for assistance received from the Medford women on lodge projects.

Lodges to Hold Annual Dinner

The annual Thanksgiving potluck dinner of Loyal Order of Moose and Women of the Moose will be held at the Moose hall, 11 South Newtown street, Wednesday, November 16, at 6 p.m.

All members of the two orders and their families are invited to attend.

Members are asked to take a covered dish for the meal, and the meat will be furnished by the lodge.

Gold Hill Lodge To Hold Election

Gold Hill—Amethyst Rebekah lodge will hold election of officers at a meeting Wednesday, November 16.

The lodge recently paid for a membership in the Southern Oregon Child Guidance Clinic association, and will be represented in the association by Mrs. Wilmer Bailey.

A "white elephant" table has been found a successful way of raising funds for the president's project. Mrs. Paul Thompson was auctioneer at the last meeting. Mrs. Clarence Parsley reminded members to continue bringing articles to each meeting for the table.

An attendance prize will be given at the meeting Wednesday night to the Rebekah who brings the most members who were not at the last meeting. Mrs. Lester Parker is in charge of the prize.

Mrs. Clyde Kell, chairman, Mrs. William Hittle, Mrs. Tom Smith and Mrs. Jim Clement will serve refreshments after the meeting.

"Clever gal, my Carol!"

I'm tickled pink with the smart way my Carol handles her household. Take wood floors for instance. Most gals complain about all that scrubbing and waxing. But not my Carol! She cleans and waxes them in one easy operation with Bruce Cleaning Wax. It takes her half the time and a lot less elbow grease. And we've yet to have a guest who hasn't commented on our beautiful wood floors. My Carol and her Bruce Cleaning Wax really make easy work of a hard job. I'm mighty pleased with both of them.

P.S. For lighter waxing on linoleum and wood, Carol uses Bruce Floor Cleaner.

Lone Pine Pupils Provide Program For PTA Session

Lone Pine school pupils provided entertainment for a meeting of Lone Pine Parent-Teacher association held Tuesday evening in the school gymnasium. The school band played under direction of Richard Schuchard, and the chorus, directed by Mrs. Enid Maurer, sang.

During the business meeting it was reported that the school carnival had netted more than enough to buy new curtains for the stage.

Mrs. Charles Bird reported on the last city PTA council meeting, pointing out the council's budget problems. The unit voted to send the city council 5 cents per unit member per year, as soon as this can be written into the city council by-laws. In the meantime the unit will pay the $2 that it previously agreed upon.

Many parents took advantage of the open house preceding the meeting by visiting their children's schoolrooms and talking with the teachers.

Mothers to Hold Card Party Friday

Mothers of children in the second grade at St. Mary's school have planned a card party for Friday, November 18. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the activities' room of the school and bridge, canasta and pinocle will be played.

Refreshments will be served. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Buzz Session

Parents of seventh grade pupils in Howard school will hold a buzz session Tuesday, November 15, at 8 p.m. at the school. Refreshments will be served and child care furnished.

Oldest Civil War Veteran Reaches 113 Years of Age

Franklin, Tex. (U.P.)—Col. Walter Williams, oldest surviving veteran of the war between the states, is 113 years old today. He says he hopes to live to be 120. Then, he says, he will have topped his father, who died at 119.

"I figure I stand a chance of making it," Williams said. "I feel real good now."

The colonel—the title is honorary—fought with "the confederacy of course." He was a drummer boy with Company C, Fifth Cavalry, General Hood's Texas Brigade.

The temperature in the brake system of a car may exceed 250 degrees after a series of quick stops.

Around Hollywood

Hollywood (U.P.)—Oscar entrants are at the starting post today, and the 1956 Academy Awards race shapes up to be a battle to the last eyelash between two tempestuous stars—Italy's Anna Magnani and Hollywood's Susan Hayward.

By now the Hollywood film studios top-grade 1955 contributions to the world's screens have been unveiled. Although motion picture industry workers won't begin voting on the nomination until January, the armchair cinema experts already are picking the winners.

Magnani Probable The dark-eyed Magnani, a heavy woman with straight black hair yet with a deep beauty that surpasses Hollywood standards, seems a sure-fire nominee for her fiery, one-woman movie, "The Rose Tattoo."

Susan also apparently has a nomination under her shapely arm for her emotional portrayal of a tragic drunk in "I'll Cry Tomorrow." She once won a nomination for another alcoholic role in "Smash-Up."

The male race includes many more top entries, the ladies having come out on the short end of the good roles this year. But the two top contenders probably will be the late James Dean for "East of Eden" and James Cagney in "Love Me or Leave Me."

Eleanor Parker of "Interrupted Melody," Julie Harris of "I Am a Camera" and Bette Davis of "The Virgin Queen" also are likely to be nominated for the world's top film acting honor. Katharine Hepburn is another favorite for "Summertime."

The other three nominees for the best male acting performance of 1955 may be Fredric March of "The Desperate Hours," Henry Fonda of "Mister Roberts" and Ernest Borgnine of "Marty."

But some voters are just as excited about Burt Lancaster in "The Rose Tattoo," Arthur Kennedy in "Trial," Spencer Tracy in "Bad Day at Black Rock," Tom Ewell in "The Seven Year Itch" and Jack Palance in "The Big Knife."

Best Picture The best picture race might be fought out among "East of Eden," "I'll Cry Tomorrow," "Love Me or Leave Me," "Marty" and "The Rose Tattoo."

After sitting through approxi-

imately 180 hours of film previews this year, my selection for the winners is James Dean, Anna Magnani and "The Rose Tattoo," plus supporting players Jo Van Fleet of "East of Eden" and Rod Steiger of "The Big Knife."

The award for the worst picture of the year could go to "The Girl Rush," which marked Rosalind Russell's return to the screen. Paramount preceded this picture's preview with a press dinner at a Scandinavian restaurant. The smorgasbord definitely emerged the winner.
