

Schools Observe Education Week

Rogue River — Rogue River schools observed American Education week with open house November 9 under the auspices of the parent-teacher association. Approximately 125 parents, friends and teachers took part in the observance, with parents visiting the different classrooms to become acquainted with the teachers.

The PTA also held the first business meeting of the year.

Mrs. Lloyd Morrow was elected treasurer to take the place of Mrs. E. Nightengale who has left to make her home in California. Mrs. Warren Bottorff, president, announced committee chairmen, and asked members to cooperate with committees to which they would be appointed.

Tentative plans are being made for an auction to be held during the early part of December to take the place of the annual talent show which has been held for the past several years. This will be the only money-making event of the year. Mrs. Dick is chairman, and all persons having items which would be available for this purpose were urged to contact her direct. All items donated or given on consignment will be picked up by the committee.

Refreshments were served by the executive committee, and a cake auction at the close of the meeting added generously to the fund. Larry Sheehan acted as auctioneer.

Minister, Wife To Be Honored

Members and friends of Eastwood Baptist church are invited to attend a covered dish luncheon to be held Sunday, November 20, at the church following the morning service.

The luncheon will honor the Rev. Richard M. Jones, new minister of the church, and Mrs. Jones, and provide an opportunity for the congregation to meet the couple.

Those attending are asked to take either a hot vegetable dish or salad and table service.

West Side Mothers Plan Coming Events

West Side—West Side Mothers club women held their November meeting Wednesday evening, Nov. 9, at the home of Mrs. Francis Cheney, Hillside dr.

Plans were made for a school Christmas party and program to be held Dec. 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium.

The December meeting will be in the form of a workshop, to complete party preparations, and will be held in the school cafeteria Dec. 14, at 8 p.m.

Thanksgiving vacation for the school will be Nov. 24 and 25.

Woman Honored On 77th Birthday

Mrs. Alice Hood, 127½ Almond street, celebrated her 77th birthday Monday, November 14 at Community hospital where she was convalescing from a broken hip. During the day relatives and friends called at the hospital and presented Mrs. Hood with gifts.

Mrs. Hood was moved November 16 to the Jackson County Farm home where she will be for a few months while recuperating. She is able to receive visitors at the home.

Rogue River Club Holds Initiation; Projects Reported

Rogue River—Initiation ceremonies were conducted by Rogue River Lions at a dinner meeting November 14 at Fellowship hall of Hope Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Basil Frazier, Mrs. Lewis Robinson, Mrs. Alfred Bamforth, Mrs. Dudley Fabrick, Mrs. Howard Norwood, Mrs. Robert Pentecost and Mrs. Charles Clark were the candidates. Mrs. Douglas Decker was a guest.

Reports of an Oregon State Lions auxiliary workshop for District E and a bazaar were given.

In the future regular meetings of the club will be held on the second Monday of each month at Fellowship hall. The November board of directors meeting has been cancelled. The club will participate in community Christmas projects, and plans for a Christmas party with Rogue River Lions club members also are being made.

Paintings Shown At Public Library

The six paintings which won prizes in the recent exhibition held at the Medford hotel under the auspices of Medford branch, American Association of University Women, are now on exhibit at the Medford public library. Among them are Robert Miller's "Mills and Smoke," John Ahern's "Winter Headlights," and Clifford Platz's "Coastal Fog."

Paintings selected from the student group for exhibit are Pat Calloway's "Covered Bridge," a portrait of a tree by Ronald Wisdom, and a poplar avenue by Carol Ballard.

Valley residents are cordially invited to visit the library to see these paintings, which will be on exhibit until December first.

Gold Hill Postponed Cemetery Work Day; Benefit Dance Planned

Gold Hill—The fall clean-up and work day which was scheduled for Saturday, November 13 at Rock Point cemetery has been postponed due to the weather, according to Mrs. A. A. Walker. She is chairman of a benefit dance which will be held Thanksgiving eve November 23, at the Gold Hill Grange hall to raise funds for cemetery maintenance.

Those who wish to contribute to this community cause may send a gift to Mrs. A. A. Walker, Gold Hill.

Republicans Plan Course For Politically Ambitious Women

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Cooperator

New York — (U.P.) — When women want something, they will wait out, outwork and outfox their competition and get it.

Now we have a fresh young generation of women who want careers in politics. They have political backgrounds their mothers can't match. They grew up, unlike their mothers, in households where women voted as often as the men and did more of the door-bell ring drudgery than men had time for in political campaigns.

A training course for these young women with political ambitions opens here this week, specifically designed for the girl who thinks she would like to run for office some day.

The first half dozen girls to sign up for the course have interesting similarities. They have the patience to take the long route to public office; they have demonstrated they are willing to work hard as volunteers in political campaigns; they are well educated and intelligent — and in almost every case their own mothers were active political volunteer workers.

Hard Work

"We assume their enthusiasm will last," said Helen Mobert, a member of the Women's National Republican club which is sponsoring the course for its own junior members. "But they have chosen a terrifically hard future. It is hard physically and emotionally. We want them to understand what they're up against."

The club agreed to organize the course for its junior group of women members, ranging in age from 17 to 35, after numerous requests. They contacted eight high-ranking women in politics, including Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), Rep. Katharine St. George (R-N.Y.), and Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.), for advice.

Mrs. St. George sent word from Washington that "you must have a sense of humor and the hide of a rhinoceros. Politics is no place for the over-sensitive."

Mrs. Smith's words of advice, which will be read to the ambitious young women at one of the classes, reminded them that "Politics is simply home operation on a large scale. Home is government in miniature. The operation of government is not unlike in principle the basic operation of keeping a home well-regulated."

The Qualities
Mrs. Rogers listed the qualities indispensable to a woman politician as, "character, courage, health, patience, intelligence and a desire to serve."

Barbara Witzell, a 23-year-old "Girl Friday" in an advertising agency here and some of the 25 young women expected to show up for the first class tomorrow night, says she "certainly" hopes to run for Congress some day. Womanlike, though, these young political aspirants reserve the right to change their minds. They do not put a career above everything.

One of the early registrants dropped out three days ago. She got engaged.

"Would your boy friend object to your going into politics?" she was asked when she resigned from the course. She had been one of the girls most adamant about wanting to run for office.

"Oh, no," she said, "but I just don't think I'll have time."
