Children in India Cheer Soviet Leaders

Bombay, India — (U.P.) — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev drove past thousands of cheering children today on another stage of their triumphal progress through India.

The influential Times of India, in an editorial on Bulganin's attack on the West in an address to the Indian Parliament, said today the "occasion was not happily chosen for such aggressive advocacy of the Soviet point of view."

It said the strictly partisan approach of Bulganin was heavily garnished with one-sided accusations which did no justice to the cause it was supposed to observe.

Commissioner Blanco White granted him the decree, commenting that pouring away a man's shaving water was calculated to send him off in "a mood of desperation."
