Smoking Chickens Test Lung Cancer

Glasgow, Scotland—U.P.—Research scientists at Beatson Memorial Hospital said they are teaching chickens to smoke to find out if there is any connection between cigarettes and lung cancer. "Many of the chickens took only a vague interest in the smoke issuing from their beaks," a research report said. "But others took to the smoking habit quickly and are smoking half a cigarette every other day." The scientists puff smoke into the chicken's lungs through tiny holes in their throats. On The Side

By E. V. DURLING (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.) If I chance to meet With a woman fair and sweet, She my loyalty shall obtain, Loving her for love again. But when we have tried each other, If she better like another, Let her quickly change from me. Then to change am I as free, He or she that loves too long Sells their freedom.—BEAUMONT How is your weight for a man of your age and height? If you don't know check same on a health chart at once. Having the right weight is a major secret of longevity. How about your paunch or "corporation"? Does it bulge excessively? Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, celebrated surgeon, believed the larger a man's paunch the less his chances for a long life. Sir William said: "I can tell when a man is going to die by one look at his paunch. At banquets I pick them out. I say to myself for example: 'A man with a paunch like that will last about eight years.' And I am always right."

Asking Queries from clients. Q.—What are the three best hotels in Paris? A.—Plaza-Athenee, Lancaster and the Ritz. Q.—Who wrote the song titled, "I Could Love a Thousand Girls"? A.—Edgar Allan Wolf and Cassius Freeman. That's the song Harry Short, of the cast of Marmelle Champagne, had just finished singing before Harry Thaw shot Stanford White on the Madison Square Garden roof. So They Say Aquarian (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) males are fond of being mothered by their wives. Are distinctly the "little boy that never grows up" type. They have an appeal for the highly domesticated "home girl" type of female who is heavily endowed with the maternal spirit but eventually have a tendency to prove bores to sophisticated, experienced women of the world. Or so say the stargazers. (Note—Clark Gable is an Aquarian.) Passing By Gladys Cooper, Distinguished British actress. On Christmas day this year she will celebrate her 50th year in the theater. Early in her career Gladys was one of the extremely glamorous chorines of Georges Edwardes' Gaiety Theatre company. And in common with many Gaiety girls she married into the nobility. Efficiency Efficiency experting reaches a high peak in Los Angeles. It was a Los Angeles efficiency expert who originated a ham slicing machine that is said to cut the world's thinnest slice of ham for sandwiches. This was designed to save money for restaurants, fountain lunch counters, etc. Another Los Angeles efficiency man, working for a cemetery, had the size of the graves reduced from 33 and a third square feet to 30 square feet. He pointed out the reduction would make it possible to bury more people in the cemetery's vacant area and thus substantially increase the profits. Lucky Trio A trio of young women who have available an unusually extensive wardrobe are three sisters of Boston who all wear the same size clothes from hats to shoes. They are all five feet five and weigh about 120 pounds. They have a system of borrowing each others clothes which enables them to live in perfect harmony. Sidelights "It was a brave man who first ate an oyster," observed Dean Swift. How right he was. Authorities on the subject say the only proper way to eat an oyster is to eat it raw. The champion American eater of all time was Mary Austin, Civil War nurse, who in 33 years of married life gave birth to 13 pairs of twins and six sets of triplets. The average American says a statistician, gets his hair cut every four weeks. I get a haircut every week.
