

Invitations Bring Variety of Replies

Madison, Wis. — (U.P.) — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yost probably don't bargain for the answers they received to a different type of invitation they sent out for their 40th wedding anniversary party.

Because both are of German descent, they decided to word parts of their invitations in German.

The RSVP's they got back in an assortment of languages including Lebanese, Hawaiian, Chinese, French, Spanish, Norwegian and Korean. One was written in German on a handkerchief. Another was in Japanese, translated into German.

One answer came on a physician's prescription blank.

The reply that caused the greatest puzzle was merely the letters of the English alphabet—without "N" and "O".

Finally the Yosts deciphered it. Since there was no "no" it meant "yes."

Reyes Trial Jury Tentatively Seated

Corvallis — (U.P.) — The murder trial of Martin B. Reyes entered its second day today with a jury of nine men and three women tentatively seated.

However, any one of the 12 could be excused today by preemptory challenges by either the state or the defense.

Yesterday, the prosecution indicated it planned to seek the death penalty for Reyes by asking prospective jurors if they objected to capital punishment.

Reyes, who was dramatically reunited with his mother, Mrs. Mary Verzola of Seattle, before the trial began is accused of the fatal shooting of James R. Applegate, a Benton county posseman.

Falling Tree Kills Colton Lumber Man

Oregon City — (U.P.) — Ray O. Bradfield, owner of a mill near Colton, was killed instantly last night when high winds knocked down a 200-foot fir tree over the cab of his truck on the Colton-Estacada highway, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriff Tom Cutsforth said the big tree also struck power lines, knocking out electric service to a wide area.

Charles Luther, who was driving about 300 feet behind Bradfield, said he was watching the tail light ahead when suddenly there was a bright flash. Rescuers had to cut up the big tree before Bradfield's body could be removed.

The reddish egret of Florida is one of the most skillful balancers in the world. He can stand on a swaying vine even in a strong wind.

Bulls Claimed Most Savage of Animals

Burlington, Vt. — (U.P.) — Never tease a bull!

That's the advice of Dr. James Wadsworth, animal pathologist at the Vermont Extension Service.

Dr. Wadsworth said bulls are the most savage, unpredictable domestic animals in America. Although accident statistics do not record attacks by wild animals, he said bulls are responsible for nearly eight times as many fatalities among farmers as firearms.

Because bulls are unpredictable, even the tamest may turn on his owner without provocation. Their disposition gets worse with age.

UN May Be Asked To Enter Egypt Dispute

Jerusalem — (U.P.) — A reliable Israeli source today said Maj. Gen. John Bagot Glubb promised to ask the United Nations to prevent Egypt-trained "do-or-die" commandos from using Jordan as a base for raids on Israel.

U.N. truce observers continued to investigate the scene of the latest clash between Israeli and Egyptian forces in the bloody Gaza strip.

Both Israel and Egypt accused the other of provoking the two-hour exchange of automatic weapons and mortar fire in the Deir El Balah area and filed stiff protests with the U.N. Mixed Armistice commission.

Coos Man Fined For Evasion of Taxes

Portland — (U.P.) — A Coos Bay plumber and business man yesterday was fined $250 in U.S. District Court here after being found guilty of evading $5,000 in federal income taxes.

Federal Judge William East said he would impose neither prison nor probation on Albert Bick, 50, Coos Bay, because the defendant had already suffered enough because of his high standing in his community.

Judge East heard the long case without a jury last month. He imposed the fine immediately after announcing his finding.

Texas Murder Trial Shown on Television

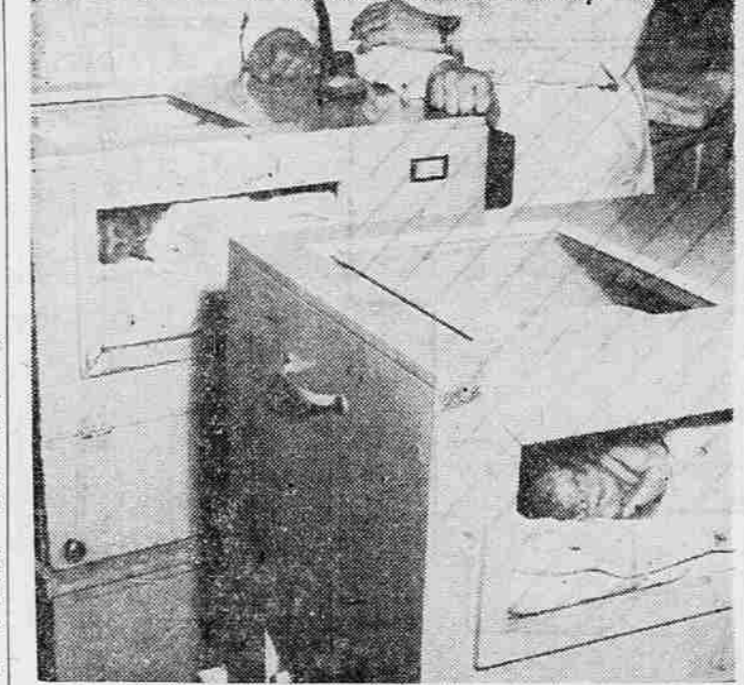

Waco, Tex. — (U.P.) — Television cameras focused for the second time today to take the dramatic action of a tense murder trial into thousands of homes.

The cameras recorded a live courtroom scene for the first time yesterday as the opening of the grim trial of Harry L. Washburn, a 38-year-old Houston resident charged with planting an explosive that killed his mother-in-law when she attempted to start her car.

Judge D. W. Bartlett said the experiment was a success and gave his permission for the remainder of the trial to be televised.
