Marjorie Smith To Take Witness Stand

Portland—(U.P.)—Mrs. Marjorie Smith was expected to take the witness stand today as a state witness in the murder hearing of Victor Laurence Wolf, the admitted slayer of Mrs. Smith's husband, Kermit. Mrs. Smith was acquitted recently in McMinnville of a murder charge in connection with the death of her husband. Wolf was the state's chief witness against her.

First surprise of the hearing came yesterday when Fred Fritz, a Ridgefield, Wash., bus driver, testified he could identify Mrs. Smith as the woman he saw parked alongside a lonely road in Washington with Wolf last March.

He had originally testified in Mrs. Smith's trial that he could identify Wolf, but could identify Mrs. Smith only if he could see "her again as I saw her there."

Dr. Strand referred to the Harriman speech at Eugene as he extended an open invitation to politicians to express their views on the Oregon State campus.

He said Harriman, a possible Democrat candidate for the presidential nomination, had tried to discuss education at Eugene. "What does he know about education that the students don't already know?" Dr. Strand asked.

Coast Range Tunnel Bids To Be Received

Portland—(U.P.)—Bids for construction of a major highway tunnel through the coast range will be received here Dec. 19 and 20 when the State Highway Commission holds its monthly meeting.

Plans call for construction of .91 of a mile of highway roadbed and construction of a 1430-foot tunnel on the Mapleton-Richardson road six miles east of Mapleton in Lane county. Tunnel and roadbed construction is scheduled for completion by midsummer, 1957. The project will be financed in part by county funds, and in part by state and federal funds.

The commission will receive bids on projects to cost an estimated $4,600,000, including nine bridges, 32 miles of grading and 13 miles of asphaltic paving.

1955 Cotton Crop Down One Per Cent

Washington—(U.P.)—The Agriculture Department today estimated the 1955 cotton crop at 14,663,000 bales, down 180,000 bales or about one per cent, from the November estimate.

The final report this year compares with the 1954 production of 13,696,000 bales and 10-year average production of 12,952,000 bales. The department had set this year's marketing quota at 10,000,000 bales. But good weather and improved farming techniques sent production far above the quota.

The estimated cotton yields this year averaged 416 pounds of lint an acre. This is a new record and compares with last year's record 341 pounds and a 10-year average of 279. In November, yields of the 1955 crop were estimated at 431 pounds an acre.

Also in district court yesterday, George William Laymon, 29, of 651 Walnut st., Ashland, was arraigned on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Laymon was bound over to the grand jury. Around Hollywood

Liberalism—(U.P.)—Liberace's first starring movie is not smashing box office records so far, he admitted today. But the pianist served notice he is "not discouraged" and is forging ahead with his film career.

When Liberace's "Sincerely Yours" opened around the country, some experts predicted movie-goers would line up around the block. They did—for premieres when Liberace, teeth and all, showed up in his sheared white bear coat. After that ticket sales faltered.

Liberace defended his art today as more popular with families in smaller towns than with the big city sophisticates. "It's a little early in the game to come to a final conclusion about the outcome of the picture," the frank-friendly entertainer said at his San Fernando Valley home.

"It has not been nationally released yet all these reports are being printed about the bad business. We expect good business in small towns and in neighborhood theaters. We've always appealed to the family trade.

"After all," he added, "the picture cost only $1,100,000. That's not a high budget. I predict it's make $4,000,000—I'll get $2,000,000 and Warners will get two."

Ads for the movie at first showed Liberace in his familiar TV pose, elbow resting on the piano. These were changed to show him looking through binoculars as he does in the movie (one columnist sniped: "Liberace is looking for an audience.") He thinks the first ads led people to believe the film was "a blown up version of my TV show."

Liberace pointed out his movie is one of few that received an "A" rating from the Legion of Decency. Better-than-expected reviews also were given the film, a combination of the life of Beethoven and an Old George Arliss movie, "The Man Who Played God."

"My movie has been even compared to 'Going My Way,' 'Magnificent Obsession,' and 'The Jolson Story.' It's been said it is worthy of some academic nomination, Liberace said.

Schubert Next
Warner Studio is sticking to its plan for more Liberace movies. Next year film-goers will see the pearly-toothed entertainer playing the life of some composer such as Franz Schubert.

Jack Warner's only worry was that I would become discouraged," he said. "But my TV and nightclub career started slowly. It took me a good 10 years to build myself up in clubs.

"So we're already talking new scripts. If you feel inside that you've done a good job to the best of your ability, you can't be depressed about it."

$25,000 Damage Suit Filed In Court Here

A complaint asking $25,000 general and $2,668.35 special damages was filed in circuit court yesterday by Eldon Nelson against Al Gilhousen.

The complaint charges that Gilhousen was negligent in driving at excessive speed and in a fatigued condition which resulted in an accident Dec. 12, 1954, south of Kelso, Wash.

Nelson, who was a passenger in the car operated by Gilhousen at the time of the accident, suffered multiple fractures and permanent injury, according to the complaint.

MINOR ACCIDENT

A car driven by Harold Lloyd Davis, 25, Rogue River, went out of control and crashed on West Evans Creek rd. about three miles northeast of Rogue River about 7:35 p.m. yesterday. State police said Davis was traveling north and the steering wheel locked as he made a turn. Davis was not injured, and the car was not extensively damaged, police said.
