

Dairy Here Plans New Plant Building

Plans of a new manufacturing plant at Jorgensen's Dairy Products company at the intersection of Court and Hood sts., were announced recently.

The new building, which is expected to considerably increase the company's output, will occupy about 14,600 square feet. It will be used principally for the manufacture of ice cream, butter, and by-products.

The building will have a 110-foot fronting Court st. and will extend back 156 feet along Ohio st. It will contain 3,100 square feet of office space and 3,600 feet of 20 degrees below-zero cold storage space.

Construction, which will begin as soon as possible, will be tilt-up concrete with some brick veneer around the office area. A wood truss roof will support composition roofing. High pressure steam will be used both for heat and for processing.

Total cost of the project has not yet been announced.

Woman Found Slain In Nebraska Home

Lincoln, Neb.—(U.P.)—The nude body of an attractive 24-year-old woman was found bound, beaten, and gagged in her home yesterday and Sheriff Merle Karnop called it a "really vicious" murder.

The body of Mrs. Darrel F. Parker was found by her husband. There was a piece of clothes line around the neck, a man's handkerchief stuffed into her mouth, and her hands were tied behind her back.

The murder occurred just five days after the fatal shooting in Omaha, 60 miles away, of University of Omaha coed Carolyn Marie Nevins, 20.

Gloria Swanson Fascinated by Party In Rome Thrown by Prince and Princess

Written for United Press

Rome—Prince and Princess Massimo (the princess is the English actress, Dawn Addams) gave a huge cocktail party for Lord and Lady Milford Haven. The apartment of the hosts is an extremely beautiful one. Though on the top floor of one of the most modern buildings in the new part of Rome, it is filled with historical pieces of art.

Before the party had become too overpowering I wandered from one room of art treasures to another. I came upon the last but not the least of treasures! A wall of shelves holding Etruscan works of art—coins of all sizes, urns, vessels large and small.

Most fascinating of all was what the Etruscans used for mirrors.

Brothers Plan First Meeting in 47 Years

Chicago—(U.P.)—Two brothers who haven't seen each other in 47 years will have a Christmas reunion this year in Portland, Ore.

They will meet for the first time since 1908 in front of the information booth of the railroad station there on Dec. 20.

One of the brothers is George Kitto, 74, who works in the mail and shipping room of an advertising agency here.

The other is Arthur Kitto, 72, retired government auditor who lives in Portland.

The brothers grew up together in Virginia, Minn., but in 1908 had an argument and did not correspond with each other until two months ago, when George said he figured it was time to forgive and forget.

rors in the centuries from the eighth to the third before Christ. Dawn's husband, Vittorio, had excavated them himself.

Age Shows

While I was feasting my eyes, I became aware of someone standing beside me. With no difficulty I recognized Mr. Roberts of "Mr. Roberts." Just as I was about to ask him many questions about the making of movies in Italy, and especially about his last, "War and Peace," which Henry Fonda away from me. That's the trouble with large cocktail parties—or is it my age?

As I reflected upon this latter disadvantage, I counted the blessings of "growing up." Just think, said I to myself, I can now allow myself the privileges and joys of doing and saying exactly and honestly what I want. Why, I could even have the pleasure of being known as an eccentric. What fun! I'll start off by making some new rules for myself:

I'll not be so fastidious about answering letters.

No more guilty complex every time I buy something for myself.

No bore, no matter how handsome, allowed to cross my threshold more than once.

Must Contribute

No guests who won't at least make the effort to contribute something of themselves. Just standing looking pretty isn't enough.

Never arrive at the height of a cocktail party. Always very early so that I can get a word in edgewise with my hosts, or very late when their few staunch friends help them make the place look like home again. Shoes can be taken off tired feet, put up on a sofa—and hair generally let down.

The new rules will include the best feature of party-giving for me—never have more than 20 guests for cocktails or buffet, no more than five to seven for lunch. And certainly not more than "one" for breakfast!

Wind Topples Portland Trees

By UNITED PRESS

Howling east winds blew down trees and caused power outages in the Portland area Tuesday night but the cold weather brought a smile to faces of slide-conscious Astorians.

The cooler air and lack of rain slowed down creeping Coxcomb hill and Astoria officials were hoping that two or three days of cold weather might stop the slide. Ten families left their homes and at least eight houses were damaged. Pavement was cracked and sewer lines and water mains were broken.

Slides in the Astoria area have caused more than $250,000 damage in the last five years.

The howling east wind reached gusts up to 63 miles per hour at the Portland airport. A tree fell across the yard of W. A. Lamb near Oswego and a limb entered the kitchen but the family escaped possible injury by taking shelter in the basement.

Numerous power outages were reported. Firemen in Portland battled a stubborn wind-whipped blaze at a concrete and steel pipe company before dawn.

At least 31 trees were blown down in the Lake Grove-Oswego area, nine of them across roads.

Eber Brock Ward rolled the first bar of industrial steel in America at his Bessemer steel mill at Wynadotte, Mich., in 1864.

British Comet Completes Fiji To Honolulu Flight

Honolulu—(U.P.)—A British Comet jet completed a 3200 mile flight from the Fiji Islands to Honolulu Tuesday night in the record breaking time of 6 hours and 52 minutes.

The Comet knocked 3 hours and 48 minutes off the record.

Gaitskell Heads British Labor Party

London—(U.P.)—Hugh Gaitskell won the leadership of the opposition Labor party last night in a vote that represented a resounding defeat for American-hating leftist leader Aneurin Bevan.

The 49-year-old friend of the United States bested both Bevan and moderate laborite Herbert Morrison, winning the majority required for election in a first ballot victory that eliminated the need for a runoff.

Gaitskell won 157 votes out of 267 cast. Bevan got 70, and Morrison ran last with only 40.

Gaitskell's victory put him in line for the post of Prime Minister in any Laborite government formed while he holds the job.

The leadership was vacated by the resignation last week of Clement R. Atlee, who has since been made an earl by Queen Elizabeth II.

Future of Horatio Alger Story Secure

Chicago—(U.P.)—The executives of a major oil company believe the future of the Horatio Alger story is secure.

A survey conducted by Standard Torch, the employee magazine of Standard Oil, shows that 21 per cent of the company's executives in the Midwest—12 out of 58—did not go to college.

Of the 46 men who did go to college, 37 helped pay their way by working.

The executives generally advise young men wanting to attend college to work their way if necessary. But several caution prospective students not to tie themselves down so by outside jobs that they don't have enough time to study properly or to join in campus activities.

Most of the company officials believe that college degrees are "door-openers" but that a young man can succeed without college even though it "may take a little longer."

Dr. William J. McGill, general manager of industrial and public relations, who worked part-time during college, said: "Not everyone needs to or should go to college. But if anyone really wants to and uses some ingenuity, it is just as easy today to pay all or part of your expenses as it was 25 years ago."
