Minimum Salary Schedules Asked By OEA Group

Establishment of a statewide minimum salary schedule was called for in a motion approved by the economic welfare committee of the Oregon Education association at a meeting December 10 of the group at the association's headquarters building in Portland.

The recommendation of the group is to be acted upon by the association's representative council in March, and if approved by the policy making body, will be submitted to the 1957 Oregon State Legislature for enactment into law, according to Committee Chairman DeVere Taylor of Medford.

Mr. Taylor explained that the schedule would provide a floor of $3,400 for teachers with less than a bachelor's degree, $3,700 for those with the bachelor's degree, and $4,000 for those with master's degree. He said it would also provide regular annual increments for each year of experience to certificated Oregon educators. "Teacher turnover is greatest and salaries lowest in districts which do not provide salary schedules," stated Chairman Taylor. He further explained that the purpose of the committee in its action was to promote efficiency in school district programs through reduction of turnover.

Most Patients Want To Know of Cancer

Chicago —(U.P.)—Most patients would want to be told if they had cancer, a survey shows.

The study was conducted by Dr. Otis Brown, of Bremen, Ind., who sent out 1,000 questionnaires and got 477 replies. His findings, reported in Science Digest, showed that 96.6 per cent of all persons who replied said they would want to know if they had cancer.

Brown said 99.1 per cent of those between the ages of 18 and 35 wanted to know the truth, compared to 92.5 per cent between the ages of 66 and 90.

A slightly higher percentage of men than women wanted to know the truth.

Brown said patients who probably should not be told the truth are those too young to understand, those mentally unfit, those who previously have said they would rather not be told and a few of the very aged with slowly growing malignancies.

Christmas Trees Often Fatal To Parakeets

Portland —(U.P.)—Pet shop owners warned today that Christmas trees and parakeets don't mix.

They warned that trees frequently are fatal to the talking birds. One store reported 15 or 20 calls last year and in all but one case the bird died.

The sap of the fir needle was said to contain a poison which in many instances will kill the bird and plastic snow and other decorations also are fatal, the store said.

If you'd like to add a novel touch to your traditional turkey dinner, consider the relish tray! Scoop out the centers of crisp radishes, and stuff them with a mixture of blue and cream cheese. And here's a different way to use the all-important cranberry: open one No. 2 can of sliced peaches and drain the juice without removing the peaches and drain the juice without removing the peaches. Soften one envelope of unflavored gelatin in 1/4-cup cranberry-juice cocktail. Heat; add another 1/2 cup of the cranberry juice, and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Cool until thickened, pour into the can of peaches, and chill until firm. Remove the mold from the can and cut through in layers; then cut layers in half to serve with your turkey dinner or as a garnish for a cold-turkey platter.
