

Feast of Carols To Be Presented Sunday Evening

The seventh annual feast of carols will be presented at the First Methodist church, Sunday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m. Three choirs, numbering more than 90 voices, will participate in the service which has become a tradition here during the Advent season.

Preceding the service a group of carolers will sing outside the church under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Shields. The service will begin with a medley of international carols played as festive music on the organ. The Children's, Youth, and Chancel choirs will sing the traditional song, "Joy To The World" by Handel.

In addition to the choral presentation of carols including "O Tannenbaum" to "In The Bleak Midwinter," the congregation will join in singing carols, old and new, from Christian folk-songs of many lands.

Dickie Denning will sing "The Little Black Lamb" and the Caroleers, Sanctus singers, and the Men's choir will present numbers. Mrs. C. R. Adamson and Mrs. George Sloniger will direct the choirs. Mrs. Richard Schuchard and Miss Sue Donno Doolen are the organists.

"The Doctrine of the Unity" will be the sermon subject of Dr. Raymond E. Balcomb at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services. The Youth choir will sing at the earlier service, and the Chancel choir at the later. Dr. G. A. Dierdorff will be soloist at both morning services.

Ashland Methodists Plan Sunday Program

Ashland—The Ashland Methodist church Christmas program is planned for Sunday evening at the church. The arrangements have been made by Mrs. Della Weber and a committee from the commission of education.

The theme will concern the Star of Bethlehem and will be portrayed through a family scene with three choirs participating.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Ainsworth, Bruce and Nonda Ainsworth, and Danny Donnelly will enact the scene. Soloists will be Mrs. Jay Kayler, Mrs. Zola Peters and Gene Gosson.

Church of Christ Entertainment Told

The Church of Christ of Christ, Central ave. and Jackson st., will present a Christmas program Sunday at 7 p.m., at the church.

Children and young people will take part in the program and treats for the children will be provided during the evening's entertainment. Music, recitations and a pantomime will be on the program.

Theme of the morning service will be "The Beginnings of the Gospel," and will be given by the Rev. Ellmore J. Gilstrap, pastor of the church.

Program To Be In Two Sections At Advent Church

The Christmas program Sunday at 7:30 p.m., at Advent Christian church, West Jackson st., between Fir and Holly sts., will be given in two parts.

The first part will include carol singing directed by Evangelist Eddie Carter, and recitations and songs by the Sunday school department under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Babb. Musical selections by the orchestra will be directed by Mrs. Virgil Baldwin.

The church personnel directed by Mrs. Ruth Carter will present the pageant, "A Story Beautiful."

The public is invited to attend.

A 15-minute prelude of Christmas music will precede the program and will be given by Mrs. Carter, organist, and Miss Treat Thumith, pianist. Mrs. Carter and Miss Thumith are members of the Carter Gospel team which will conclude their ministry in Medford on Dec. 25.

Choir To Present Cantata at Temple

The choir of the Temple Baptist church, 794 Lozier lane, will present a Christmas cantata Sunday, at 7:30 p.m. John Mitchell will direct the hour-long cantata entitled "Heralds of Joy."

Scripture reading, recitations and a short address by the pastor, Floyd Yeats, will be given during the program.

A Christmas tree and program by the Sunday school will be held at the church Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. The program is titled, "The Light of the World," and will consist of a reading choir, quartet, soloists and pantomime, and a program by the nursery, beginner, primary and junior departments. After the program all the children will be given favors. No exchange of gifts will be conducted.

Central Point Church Program Set for Sunday

The annual Christmas program of the Central Point Presbyterian church school will be held Sunday, Dec. 18, at 7 p.m.

The story of the birth of the Christ-child will be told in many ways, in songs by the nursery and kindergarten departments, and through a "Pageant of Lights" presented by the Senior and Junior high departments.

The Primary Department will give a playlet entitled, "God's Promise—Joy to All," and the Junior classes will have the story of the symbols of Christmas. The Adult class will be represented by Mrs. H. W. Selleck who will give a reading.

An offering for the work of the board of foreign missions will be received, and the children are to take "white gifts" of canned foods to help with a local project.

Dr. Norman K. Tully, the pastor, and all the teachers of the church school invite parents and friends to this event.

As We Live

Fighting Is Sometimes Necessary for Children

Encouraging children to pick fights is wrong. On the other hand, they should not be so discouraged from fighting that they cannot protect themselves.

(Q) "I have a problem with my six-year-old son who is in the first grade. In the morning he walks to school with a friend who is in kindergarten and he goes to school happily. His friend only attends school half days. In the afternoon

Dr. Hurlock my son wants me to take him to school because he says he is afraid. He says there are a couple of boys who push him around and call him names. I haven't given in to him and taken him to school but I am finding that he is trying to get out of going to the afternoon session.

"I don't want him to learn to dislike school, but at the same time, I don't want the other children to think he is a baby and has to have his mother take him to school. I have always told my children that fighting was wrong and they get along very well together. Do you think my son is afraid to fight because he thinks it is wrong?"—Mrs. W. M.

(A) It is very possible your son is not only afraid to fight because he thinks it is wrong but also because he is afraid he will be beaten by the other children.
