

World Traveler Says People Have Power To Bring World Peace

The American people have it within their power to bring about lasting world peace, according to Harrison Wood, world traveler and author who spoke at Rogue River Valley Knife and Fork club last night at Rogue Valley Country club.

If the people of the United States would take a definite stand against Communist aggression and warn the Russians that this country will not tolerate any further aggressive acts, peace could be insured, Wood stated. He said this determination would be backed by this country's great superiority in atomic power, in food, arms and oil production.

The speaker said Zhukov, commissar for national defense of the USSR, "is the man to watch in Russia," and predicted that the present government in the Soviet union would end within five years. It will be replaced by a coalition of three great underground movements now in Russia, he believes, the coalition to be sponsored by the Red army with Zhukov at the top.

Wants One Thing

Wood said Zhukov wants only one thing, and that is for the Russians to be allowed to lead their own lives and to seek the religion of their choice, and that he doesn't "want any territory." "Pay no attention to Bulganin or Khrushchev," the speaker added.

The speaker said the Russians "don't want to be destroyed," and know that "we could destroy everything in Russia above ground, including 75 per cent of the population, within two hours if we choose." He elaborated on the effectiveness of the H-bomb and said if used, it would not only "destroy us," but have a lasting effect on coming generations.

The speaker said he had recently conferred at some length with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and that Dulles, "who had been too patient in the past," was now "fed up with Russia."

China, declared Wood, "is just a cripple that couldn't establish a first class war with any country."

From world politics the speaker turned to recent scientific advances saying "we have a remarkable future ahead of us" because of research in the field of silicon and solar energy. Saying that pure silicon would "change everything we use." Wood stated that while atomic energy would be useful in the field of medicine and armed power, "the sun is greater than atomic energy" and the sun's forces would be harnessed to provide heat, light and energy for domestic and industrial uses without "the expense and danger of atomic power."

Year of Decision

The speaker closed by saying that 1956 "is the year of decision" and warned that unless the people of the United States take a definite stand this year against Communist aggression, it may be too late.

Answering a question, Wood stated that while the UN will eventually succeed in bringing peace to the world, it is not now "doing its job" and he advocated that this nation "walk out until every delegate is willing to abide by the charter." He said the United Nations needs charter revision, an espionage system and a mobile military force to implement its decisions.

Random remarks by the speaker during the question period included the statement that the U. S. government should be reorganized under the Hoover plan; that the federal government should be allowed to do "only what the states can't do," that nationwide projects should be financed by a bank similar to the world bank and not through federal tax-raised monies; that private business can be "snuffed out" by exorbitant taxes; that "if we let Communism alone it will die, but before that we'll be broke," and that this country should "turn the hucksters of America loose and let them sell our way of life to the rest of the world, instead of spending all our energies selling things to one another."

The speaker was introduced by Neil Davidson, vice-president of the club, who also introduced guests.

Prisoner Moves for Marion County Trial

Salem—(U.P.)—Millard R. Williams, 19, recently convicted by a jury of escaping from the Oregon state penitentiary, yesterday moved for a new trial in Marion county Circuit Court.

He based the action on his claims that he is unlawfully confined in the penitentiary. Through his attorneys, he said the original crime with which he was charged, taking a calf without authority, was not tried in the county where it was committed. He said the crime occurred in Jefferson county in February, 1954, and he was tried in Deschutes county. Williams' motion further claims that his original sentence of 30 months was in excess of statutory provisions.

Williams had been convicted in December of escaping from a prison work crew last July. He was within four months of parole at the time of his flight.

Terrier Rescued From Basement Mud

Seattle—(U.P.)—A wire haired terrier, buried in a basement full of mud for four and one-half days, yelped and wagged its tail in joy today on being reunited with its 10-year-old mistress.

Bonnie, the dog, was rescued from her muddy tomb yesterday after members of the King County Humane Society and her mistress' father worked for three hours to free her.

The dog was trapped last Thursday when a mud slide demolished the James O. Sneddon home here. Sneddon's daughter, Heather also was buried alive for about 15 minutes in her bedroom, but her father clawed the mud from around her and snatched her to safety.

Salem—(U.P.)—Circuit Judges Ralph M. Holman of Clackamas county and Dal M. King of Coos county have been appointed to sit as temporary members of the Oregon Supreme Court. Chief Justice Harold J. Warner announced today.

These appointments are in addition to the appointment of Circuit Judge James W. Crawford of Portland, who will sit with the Supreme Court on cases tomorrow and Thursday.

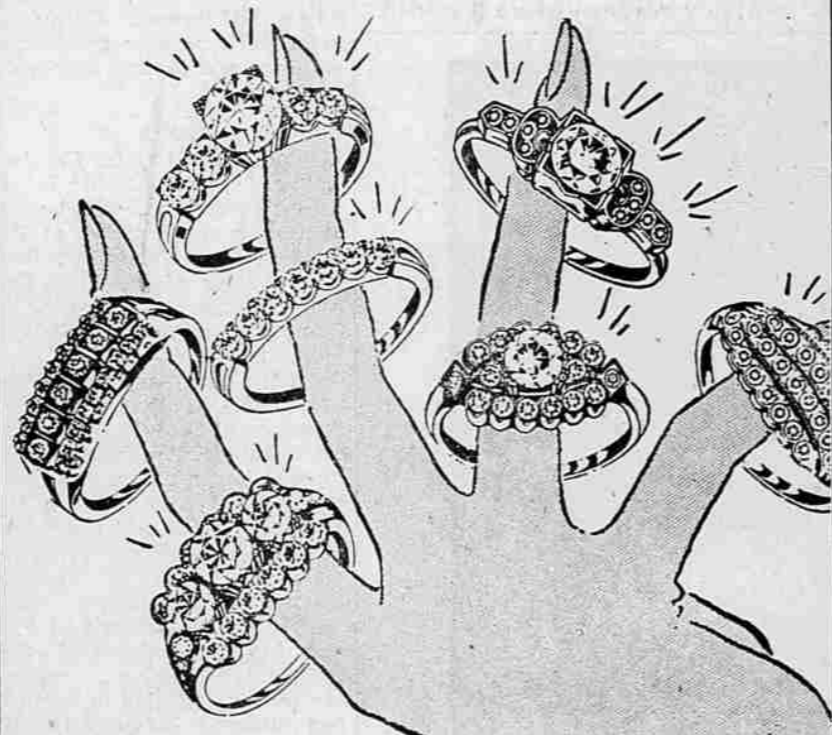

The addition of the temporary justices was made to speed up the hearing of cases by the Supreme Court, which has a backlog.
