First National Shows Deposit Increase

Deposit increases of more than $36,000,000 during 1955 marked the greatest year of growth of the First National Bank of Portland, C. B. Stephenson, president, has announced.

The Medford branch showed deposits totaling $33,845,117 as of Dec. 31, and loans totaling $12,724,334, according to C. E. Hedberg, branch manager and vice president.

Comparable totals for the Medford branch for the year ending Dec. 31, 1954, were $26,578,476 in deposits and $9,805,366 in loans, Hedberg said.

Deposits for the 71 branch banks totaled $821,125,576 on Dec. 31, according to Stephenson, an increase of $36,394,149 over the 1954 total of $784,731,426. Loans during 1955 totaled $420,674,522 and resources were $903,435,045. Loans increased $52,429,439 during 1955, Stephenson said.

Last year was the first year in which the firm did not purchase or merge with other banks, Stephenson said.

Disease In The Farm Yard

Few city dwellers realize how great a toll disease takes of the farmer's animals. Cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens and turkeys are likely to be killed off by the hundred in epidemics of various kinds. I was just reading in Science News Letter that, at the recent meeting of the American Veterinary Medical Association it was reported that today, in spite of very care that can be taken, one out of every three pigs born dies before it is ready for weaning.

In order to keep from "losing his shirt," every raiser of animals must become a pretty good physician. He must know how to protect his animals with good hygiene, clean ground, clean houses, good clean food, and injections with several anti-sera. Always he must take great care not to introduce into his farm diseases brought in with new stock he has bought.

A Better Treatment of Tuberculosis

Recently, Dr. J. W. Clegg of The Brompton Hospital, London, reported that he was getting excellent results in the treatment of tuberculosis by combining paraaminosalicylic acid with isoniazid. The new compound seems to work very well. For a long time the two drugs have been given together.

Dr. Alvarez regrets he hasn't the time in which to read or answer requests for information.

Method Weeds Out Neurotic Patients

Milwaukee — (U.P.) — Because more and more persons who consult doctors have imaginary ailments, a Cleveland physician has devised a list of ways for doctors to distinguish the truly ill from the neurotic patients.

Dr. Leonard L. Lovshin of the Cleveland Clinic revealed his methods in a recent speech to members of the Interstate Postgraduate Medical Association of North America at their meeting here.

Dr. Lovshin cited these examples as illustrations of neurotic symptoms rather than organic ailments:

Female patients who dye their hair platinum blonde or some other color, wear dark glasses and offer the doctor written symptoms.

Persons whose fingernails are bitten, especially when otherwise groomed; those who pluck their eyebrows and pencil in substitutes, and relatives who accompany patients to the office and answer more questions than the patients.

Dr. Lovshin said such actions are hints of possible mental conflicts in their patients and should be looked into if a thorough examination fails to show any organic difficulties.

DECLARE DIVIDEND

The board of directors of Investors Mutual, Inc., of Minneapolis, have declared a quartely dividend of 16 cents per share to stockholders of record at the close of business Dec. 30, 1955. The 61st consecutive dividend will be paid from the mutual fund affiliate of Investors Diversified Services, Inc. E. John Rossi and J. W. Ambler are local representatives of the firm.

Detective story fans have wondered for a long time if Sgt. Joe Friday could lick Sherlock Holmes if they met face to face.

It's only a simple deduction on our part that he not only could but that his partner Frank Smith could also kick the stuffing out of Dr. Watson in the preliminary.

Abacus Cuts Down On Army Paper Work

Fort Riley, Kan.—(U.P.)—When Mess. Sgt. Chun Leung Ho of Honolulu bogged down in Army paper work in his job, he dug out with the aid of a build-it-yourself abacus.

"Works better than an electric adding machine," Ho said. "At least it does for me."

The abacus is a simple device consisting of a frame and wires upon which are strung counters. Ho dug up some beads from a Christmas toy and made one while fretting with paper work in Schweinfurt, Germany.

Ho said he hadn't had a bit of trouble since he made his copy of the ancient calculator. One thing he still needs, however, is a set of division tables.

"I have written my mother in Hong Kong for the tables," he said. "When I get them, I'll really be in business."

TOO OLD

Milwaukee — (U.P.) — Tommy Chapman, 6, broke into tears recently when his father, Ray, told the family his company was transferring him to Chicago and they would have to move. Tommy explained his reluctance to leaving Milwaukee to a belief he was "too old to make new friends."

Camera Operates With Twist of Head

St. Louis— (U.P.) —"It's using your head that counts, according to jet test pilot, Gerald Huelsbeck, who has invented a helmet-mounted camera he can operate with a twist of the head.

Huelsbeck, who flew 54 combat missions in Korea, said he never did like the idea of taking his hands off the controls to make movies of other jets in flight.

So the 27-year-old former Navy pilot took a modified gun camera, weighing less than a pound, and attached it to the side of his flight helmet. The sight projects on wire in front of his right eye. To compensate for the weight, he hooked lead weights to the other side of the helmet.

Now all he has to do to make 50-foot movies with the electrically operated camera is to turn his head toward the subject.

"There have been no complaints about the pictures," the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. pilot said.
