Franklin Proverbs for Modern Times

By H. D. QUIGG
United Press Correspondent

New York — (U.P.) — Today is the 20th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin. It's about time we brought "Poor Richard" up to date with some proverbs for modern times.

A stitch in time save nine, but hell hath no fury like a woman trying to fix a broken zipper.

Too many cooks spoil the broth by serving too many martinis before dinner.

Oil and water don't mix. If they did, somebody already would have mixed it, condensed it, powdered it, and packaged it for sale as instant oily-water.

Spoil the hot-rod and spare the child.

Time is money. And any consumer-credit survey will show you we're living on borrowed time.

A bird in Brooklyn is worth two cheers in the Bronx.

Time wounds all heels. Hope you don't feel hurt.

You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear, but it's a safe bet that the Du Pont company can.

You can lead a horse to water but you can't drive him to drink. Good horses don't drive while drinking.

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing. Have you considered what the tax is on $64,000?

Fair faint never won heart, lady. Try an unfair faint.

If you're fat, slow down your eating-haste makes waist.

Look before you leap—particularly this year, which already is leaping with anxious Lenas.

Society is the vice of life.

It's a long lane that has no turning and the speed limit is 60 miles and hour and it's radar-checked and it has a toll gate every 20 miles.

In Los Angeles, every smog has a silver screening.

What goes up must come down—except satellites during the international geophysical year.

Early to bed and early to rise and a good plastic surgeon keeps some dolls in guise.

Rome —(U.P.)— Romano Mussolini, bashful younger son of the late dictator, will play the piano in a jazz sextet at the San Remo International Jazz Festival Jan. 28.

Baker — (U.P.) — Larry Smith, 22, Baker, escaped from the county jail sometime between Saturday night and Sunday morning, sheriff's officers reported.
