Rynning Receives Engineer Appointment

County Engineer Paul B. Rynning has been appointed county engineer until Jan. 1, 1957 by the county court.

The appointment was made so Rynning's appointment will coincide with the elective term of county surveyor, an office held simultaneously with that of engineer.

The order by the court clears up a discrepancy which in the past made the terms end at different dates. Rynning's last appointment ended July 1, 1955.

The Medical Roundup

by Walter Alvarez

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Rheumatoid Arthritis Can Be Much Worse in Winter

Recently, Dr. Charles L. Short, president of the American Rheumatism association, stated that figures show that the severe painful type of arthritis, called "rheumatoid" is likely to begin or to get worse in the winter months.

Dr. Lamont-Havers made the following suggestion to patients with severe arthritis: On going out bundle up and keep warm. When necessary use overshoes. Avoid fatigue and rush and emotional strain. Take enough food so as to keep well nourished.

A miserable disease of the lungs is called Emphysema. What happens is that the walls of thousands of tiny air sacs tend to break down, making larger and larger sacs which have a lessened aggregate surface for the passage of oxygen from the air into the red blood cells in the blood vessels. This leads to inefficient aeration of the blood, and as a result, the man feels short of breath and asthmatic. Many a man who thinks he has chronic heart disease or asthma really has emphysema. His lungs lose their natural elasticity, and this is bad. The chest tends to get big and to stay big and barrel-shaped, with the muscles in the neck contracted. The man tends to have an anxious look, and perhaps a slight blue tinge in his skin due to the defective aeration of his blood.

Now come Drs. Francis C. Lowell, William Franklin, Alan L. Michelson and I. W. Schiller, of Boston, to report a study of 40 emphysematous patients that showed that all got into trouble after the age of 40 and after many years of heavy smoking.

Dr. Alvarez regrets he hasn't the time in which to read or answer requests for information.

As We Live

By ELIZABETH HURLOCK, PH.D.

WOMAN IS THINKING TOO MUCH OF HERSELF

Most people are willing to give a person a second chance when they see he is anxious to turn over a new leaf. The person who thinks more of her own reputation than of helping another who is down and out does not win the admiration and respect she wants.

(Q) "My brother-in-law got into an argument with a man, knocked him down in a fight so he had to be taken to the hospital and, as a result, my brother-in-law was sent to jail. We moved away after this happened as I did not want people to know that he belonged to our family. Now he is out of jail and my husband has not only given him money to help him get started again but has asked him to stay with us. Don't you think this is wrong? What will people think of us? If my husband felt he would be disgraced and wanted to move, why would he ask his brother to come to stay with us now when he is out of jail?"—Mrs. V. B.

Dr. Hurlock

(A) Aren't you being very intolerant of your brother-in-law's mistake and thinking more of yourself than of him? He has had a bad break and you should try to help him turn over a new leaf if he wants to do so.

He was wrong in knocking down and injuring another person, even if he did get into an argument with him. But he has already been punished for this by the law of the community which prohibits such behavior. And he has paid the penalty for his misconduct by serving a term in jail.

More Trouble Possible

Unless you want him to go back to jail, it is up to you to help your husband give his brother another start in life. If his family turns against him and does not help him now, he is likely to get into trouble again and be back in jail in a very short time.

I am sure that many people will not turn against you for helping your brother-in-law, as you seem to fear they will. Of course there will be some who will scorn you if you help him but there will be others, and many more I am sure, who will feel you are doing the right thing.

It is never pleasant for a family to have a problem such as you are now facing. On the other hand, it is up to the members of the family to help each other when they need help. As you have married into your husband's family, his relatives are your relatives and you should help them just as you would the members of your own family.

Navy Chief Warns On Building Delays

Washington — (U.P.) — Adm. Arleigh A. Burke told Congress yesterday Russia is now "second only to the United States" in naval power. He said any delays in building up an atomic age U.S. naval fleet may be "fatal."

Burke, chief of naval operations, asked the House Armed Services Committee for approval of a $1,429,000,000 Navy shipbuilding program. It includes a new Forrestal class supercarrier, six more atomic powered submarines, guided missile destroyers and frigates, the world's first atomic-powered cruiser, and a start on an atomic powered carrier.

"We cannot afford a holiday," Burke told the committee in his first apperance before Congress since taking over as Navy chief.

Bombay Police Break Up Communist-Led Mobs

Bombay, India — (U.P.) — Police with rifles and tear gas battled Communist-led labor mobs in newly partitioned Bombay Province yesterday in clashes increasing the week's casualties to at least seven dead and 20 wounded.

The rioters fought back. At least 25 policemen were injured by stones flung by the mobs, and four police stations were set on fire.

At noon, the authorities clamped a dusk to dawn curfew on most of Bombay and prohibited meetings of five or more persons. Nearly 400 persons were arrested during the morning, increasing total arrests this week to nearly 1000.

In its 33 century history, Jerusalem has endured more than 20 major sieges.
