No Abbreviation for Ohio Said Good Idea

Columbus, O.—(U.P.)—Its better to spell out "Ohio" than to use the abbreviation, "O," a New York state school boy has learned in a ruling through the highest of channels. Wyman Swenson of Mahopac Falls, N. Y., wrote to Gov. Frank J. Lausche that his son came home with an exam paper indicating there was no abbreviation for the name of the Buckeye State. Lausche handed over the matter to Prof. Robert M. Estrich, chairman of the English department of Ohio State University. Estrich ruled that "there is no single answer to the questions you raise," but: "I think your son's teacher would be wise to teach her pupils not to use an abbreviation like 'O.' for Ohio. On the other hand, if she says it never is done, she is, of course, wrong. It is done very commonly. And common use makes it permissible... there is no absolute right or wrong in the matter... common sense suggests it is a good idea not to abbreviate Ohio."

Ground Protection for Strawberry Beds 'Must'

Geneva, N. Y.—(U.P.)—George L. Slate, fruit specialist at Cornell University's agricultural station here, says ground protection for strawberry beds during the winter is a "must." Slate explained that the cover prevents heaving of the plants from the frost and protects them from severe cold. Straw and marsh hay, used to a depth of three to four inches, provides an excellent cover. For home plantings, Slate recommended leaves in depth of two to three inches.

Benson's Work in Sarena Case Praised

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.), a frequent critic of the Republican administration, today praised Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson for representing the "public interest and welfare" in the Al Sarena timberlands case. "It is not often that a senator of one political party has opportunity or motivation to praise a Cabinet member of the other political party," Neuberger said in a Senate speech. But, he said, Benson deserves credit for his department's opposition to granting Al Sarena Mines, Inc., rights to timber on 15 disputed mining claims in an Oregon national forest. "I commend Secretary Benson for allowing one of the great agencies of his department to fulfill its historic conservation mission by trying to stand guard, to the end, over national forest timber in its care," Neuberger said. Neuberger, member of a Senate-House committee investigating the Al Sarena grants, called the Department of Interior "the culprit in this case." The Interior Department awarded the grants in 1954.

Ripplebrook Townsite May Become Reality

Portland—(U.P.)—Plans for a townsite for loggers and their families at Ripplebrook on the upper Clackamas river in Mt. Hood National Forest may become a reality. Rep. Clair Engel (D-Calif.) informed sponsors of the Ripplebrook project today that he had introduced a bill which would authorize the secretary of agriculture to set up such townsites in national forests on application of cities, counties or other local government subdivisions. At present, some loggers in the Mt. Hood forest drive more than 50 miles to work every day. Clackamas county, the Forest Service, loggers and mill owners have urged the government to permit setting up of communities near their work. Engel's bill provides that the sites not exceed 640 acres and that towns must show a "satisfactory need" for them.

$3 Bought a Lot of Groceries in 1891

Madison, Wis.—(U.P.) — Ever wonder when you're in a grocery how much $3 bought back back in the Gay Nineties? Don Jones, city building inspector, found out the other day when he discovered a slip of paper blowing around outside the city hall. The paper, which probably blew out of some city office, was signed by Charles Hinrichs, superintendent of poor, and was dated March 30, 1891. It authorized a person to buy $3 worth of groceries and charge it to the Dane County Poor Fund. Penciled on the back of the blank was this list of items bought with the $3: Fifty-pound sack of flour, $1.40; sugar, 50 cents; coffee, 25 cents; 1/2 pound tea, 18 cents; bacon, 38 cents; soap, 10 cents; 1 pound of crackers, 8 cents; candy, 5 cents; tobacco, 6 cents.

Smallest Railroad's Life Comes to End

Muskegon, Mich.—(U.P.)—The Muskegon Railway and Navigation Company's "belt line," which local citizens liked to describe as the "smallest railroad in the world" has died. The Grand Trunk Western Railroad, which has held controlling interest in the small line since 1924, ended the corporate "life" of the railroad and it became a part of Grand Trunk. The railroad was established 36 years ago to serve as a main switching line and service road for Muskegon industry.

Background on Algeria

By UNITED PRESS
Background on Algeria: France has been in Algeria since 1830 and used that country as a base to conquer neighboring Tunisia and Morocco. It has never been a free nation — its history is one of conquest upon conquest.

Legally Algeria is an extension of metropolitan France and not a protectorate or a colony but in recent years there has been a growth of nationalism and as in Tunisia and Morocco there has been a growing move to oust the French.

The current rebellion broke out on All Saints Day, Nov. 1, 1954, in the rugged Aures mountains in the south. French officials boasted it would be easily quelled, but the "Army of Allah" spread north into the Constantine department to the sea and along the border of Tunisia.

The rebellion spread west into the Kabylie mountains and then jumped further west to the border of Morocco. Where the Army of Allah has risen, fields lie burned and untended. Roads are cut. Telephone lines are down and dead, farm animals stink in the ruins of once prosperous farms.

Some 15,000 ill-armed guerrillas without artillery are pinning down 210,000 French troops with air and armor. Forty thousand more French troops are on the way. But the main French problem is with whom to negotiate.

First Major Act
France's Socialist Premier Guy Mollet flew to Algeria today for several days to stay "three weeks if necessary" to try to end the rebellion that threatens France's empire. His mission was the first major act of his office.

He took with him a plan for political equality for the Moslems — the beginning of new deal reforms that may lead to a federal union between an independent Algeria and France.

Mail Order Heir's Estate Settled

Chicago — (U.P.) — Judge Julius H. Miner today approved a settlement ending a bitter, 19-month fight over the will of mail order heir Montgomery Ward. Under the settlement, Maureen Ragen, and her mother, Alene, will get $350,000.

Thorne's second will, leaving Miss Ragen half of his $2,000,000 estate and her mother a fourth, was set aside. Under that will Thorne's mother, socially prominent Mrs. Marian Thorne, and his aunt, got one eighth each.

In his first will the youth had bequeathed virtually his entire estate to his mother.

WALL STREET
New York — (U.P.) — Anticipation of early passage of the natural gas bill sent some utilities soaring in an irregularly higher stock market today.

The utility average made its best gain since Feb. 24, 1955, and set a new high for the year. Industrials moved higher. Rails lost a trifle on average because of a dip in such roads as Southern Pacific and Nickel Plate.

Special Care Planned For Aging Veterans

Long-term aging veteran patients, some hospitalized 20 years or more, are being concentrated in special sections of Veterans Administration hospitals for a new program of "all-out" specialized treatment to promote their recovery or to prevent further loss of body and mind functions.

The new so-called intermediate program is underway in 30 VA hospitals and will be expanded to others as rapidly as possible. Dr. William S. Middleton, Chief Medical Director, said.

Dr. Middleton explained that the function of the program is to provide active rather than custodial care for those long-term patients in the VA hospital system who no longer need definite hospital treatment, cannot return home, and lack the capabilities necessary for the new planned-living program in VA domiciliarys.

The need to develop suitable long-range plans to cope with this problem is inherent in the present veteran population of 22,000,000, according to Dr. Middleton, since a considerable number will eventually require long-term hospital care. He said 584,000 veterans now are 65 years of age, but only five years hence the number is expected to exceed 1,780,000.
