Country Blanketed With Warning System

Washington—(U.P.)—The government revealed today it has blanketed the country with a radioactive fall-out warning system—a move that will give the stricken areas an increased chance of survival in event of an H-bomb attack.

Prior to Feb. 1, when the expanded service was set up, the warning system covered only the 70 most critical target areas in the country.

The Weather bureau and Civil Defense administration said the service now has been enlarged to "meet the possibilities of atomic attacks on any part of the United States, including key military and Atomic Energy commission installations which are not located in or near the 70 critical target areas."

JIVE FANS IRKED

Oxford, England—(U.P.)—Members of the Oxford University Jazz club complained of discrimination today because the university rejected their application to hold jive sessions. The members said the University Ballet club teaches jive dancing under the title, "Modern Theatrical Dancing."
