Elementary PTA Plans Activities For Eagle Point

Eagle Point — Many activities and projects were discussed at a meeting of Eagle Point Elementary Parent-Teacher association held recently at the high school library. Mrs. Dale Ackerman, president, conducted the meeting.

The group voted to assist Eagle Point High school PTA in setting up a committee to plan more activities and proper chaperonage for Eagle Point Teen-Age club.

It was reported that the new multi-purpose school building and the high school's agriculture building are progressing almost on schedule, despite rainy weather.

Completion of blackout curtains for David Harbison's fifth grade room was announced by the room representatives.

A new plan to add books to the school library is nearly ready for participation by the community, it was announced.

A book presented to the library in honor of a birthday, a special event or in memory of a loved one will now bear book plates inscribed in remembrance.

In this way it is hoped to build up the new library to the state standard for a first-class district.

A small increase in enrollment will result in the district being first class, it was said.

Mrs. H. J. Adams, Mrs. Elbert Heffley and Mrs. David Harbison were named to the by-law committee.

Vernon Bonebrake, safety committee chairman, introduced Claude Haggard, safety engineer for The California-Oregon Power company. Mr. Haggard stated that it is possible for him to show the dangers of electricity because with proper care it is so safe.

Most accidents are the result of neglect or carelessness, he stated.

It was the 100th time Mr. Haggard had spoken and given the safety demonstration.

Mrs. Helen Bekker's first grade room won the penny drill.

Refreshments were served by mothers of children in the first grade, with Mrs. Tom Shearin and Mrs. Don Kimmel in charge.

Camp Fire Girls cared for the small children.

More Winter Weather Due To Plague Texas

By UNITED PRESS

More snow and freezing rain Monday threatened the Southwest, already throttled by a record five-day blizzard that left up to 30 inches of snow.

At least 30 persons were dead in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico from the storm, which finally eased and trailed northward.

Weathermen, however, warned that another low pressure front moving into west Texas would draw warm gulf air over the cold air mass—possibly producing the same kind of weather that buried the area under the worst snowfall in years.

Residents of dozens of South-west towns used what might be a brief lull to dig out from the record snowfall.

Streets were being cleared slowly by crews working 24 hours in the hard hit cities of Plainview, Amarillo and Lubbock, Tex.

At Tucumcari, N. M., heroic bus driver John Heaton, 38, rested after walking 10 miles through deep snowdrifts to summon help to his stranded vehicle and 15 passengers.

One Child Aboard State police finally rescued the passengers, who had been without food for over 20 hours except for two small sandwiches given the only child aboard.

Most highways in the south plains and Panhandle sections of Texas remained extremely dangerous. Only trucks were permitted to travel on some roads while on others, permis-

Flat Noses Declared Convenient for Kissing

Tokyo — (U.P.) — A prominent Japanese artist told the Japanese today not to worry about their flat noses because, for one thing, they are "convenient" for kissing.

Artist Keiichi Takasawa was commenting on the popularity of plastic surgery among Japanese women to achieve a higher "western type" nose.

"It is a mistake to try to make the nose alone higher," he said. "Flat faces have their advantages. For one thing, they look younger. Flat noses are more convenient for kissing. They have stability and give a warm impression."
