

Y Seeks Equipment For Nursery

Nursery equipment donations for the proposed YMCA-sponsored nursery school are being sought by the women of the Y. The school is being established for any habit-trained pre-schoolers whose mothers are enrolled in the new Homemaker's Holiday classes at the Y.

All kinds of materials are needed, and it is hoped that donors will feel free to give any used toys that are still useable. These could be educational toys like building and alphabet blocks, used crayons, wheelers, simple jig saw puzzles, story books, and children's records, according to Mrs. Stanley Berger, director of women's program at the Y. Donations should be taken to the Y building by February 14.

The school will be open during the Y class hours, 10 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.—each Tuesday and Thursday, starting February 9. It will be supervised by Mrs. Robert Newland and Mrs. Richard Lamb, both of whom are well-trained in nursery school and kindergarten work, Mrs. Berger states.

Classes operating in conjunction with the nursery school will include a music appreciation series, a copper enameling workshop, and a gym-swim consisting of volleyball and calisthenics in the morning, and Mrs. Fixit, a knitting workshop and gym-swim consisting of beginner's swimming, badminton, and calisthenics in the afternoon.

It should be noted that swimming is possible at this time since the Y pool is heated to the proper temperature both winter and summer. Instructors for these classes are volunteers from many Medford homes and businesses, each of whom is qualified in his own particular field.

Registration for the classes will be at the first class session, Thursday, February 9.

Society

Cancer Control Topic of Group; Project Adopted

Mrs. Ray Frisbie spoke on cancer control at a meeting of Alpha Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority February 2. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Austin Murray, 1709 Lenora drive.

Mrs. Frisbie showed three movies regarding cancer detection and control. Following the movies there was a general discussion period, and Mrs. Frisbie then demonstrated the method used in processing and making bandages for cancer patients. The bandages will be made at each meeting held by the chapter. Mrs. Herbert L. Haglund and Miss Jacqueline Walker were appointed chairmen of this service project.

A regular business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Nils Edin. Plans were made for a rummage sale which will be held March 10. Mrs. Frederick Krugel, Jr., Miss Jean Cardona and Mrs. Robert Hubbard were elected to the nominating committee.

Mrs. Hubbard announced that a leap year party for members of the chapter and their husbands and escorts will be held March 3. The party will be given by the new pledges.

The annual Valentine party for chapter members and guests will be held February 16 at the home of Miss Walker, 2320 Kings highway. It will be a "secret desire" costume party and valentines and handkerchiefs will be exchanged between secret sisters.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and Miss Joan Pence.

Moderator to Be Guest in Medford

Dr. Paul S. Wright, Portland, moderator of the 167th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of America, will be honored guest at three events in the Rogue valley Thursday, February 9.

At 12 o'clock Dr. Wright will be guest speaker at a men's luncheon to be held in First Presbyterian church. At 6 p.m. he will be honored at a dinner to be held in the Medford hotel.

Thursday at 8 p.m. Dr. Wright will be principal speaker at a Presbyterian rally to be held in Phoenix Presbyterian church. Ministers, elders and church members from all parts of the county will attend.

Art Collection Premiere Set March 3 in Portland

Portland—The 101 paintings from the Walter P. Chrysler Jr. collection left New York Friday, February 3rd, on a year long circuit of eight American museums, and the world premiere of the famous collection is scheduled for March 3 to April 15 at the Portland Art Museum. The paintings, valued at $3,500,000, will travel here along a secret southerly route.

The vans will be doubly manned. They will travel in convoy at two mile intervals. However, drivers and other personnel on the vans will carry no weapons and will not remain on post at the vehicles at night.

State police will be notified by ticker of the convoy's arrival at state lines. A discreet surveillance of the shipment will be maintained from border to border. An hour-by-hour schedule of movements will be sent in advance to local police along the route. Somewhere in Texas the entourage will turn north and head for Portland. The exhibition will open at the Portland Art Museum March 3d.

The send-off Friday culminated three years of planning. It will end two years of intensive work for Dr. Francis Newton, curator of the Portland Museum. Dr. Newton has been putting in days of fourteen to sixteen hours at an East Side warehouse with the eager if not artistically literate assistance of its employees.

The sculptures pieces in the shipment are not to be part of the full swing. They will remain at the Portland Museum for a year and be returned to New York. The paintings will move on to Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Detroit.

This will be the first time that so many of the more than 2,000 pieces in the Chrysler collection will have been on public display. Individual paintings have appeared from time to time in New York City.

The pictures are going on the trip with the protection of blankets, fiberboard, cellulose tape and $3,500,000 insurance. They will not be boxed—an advantage of vehicular travel. In the past collections have traveled by rail. They have had to be crated before being submitted to the uncertainties of parcel handling. The galleries are sharing the $25,000 cost of shipment, and a contract was awarded after bidding by each of four major van lines that have full forty-eight-state licenses. The paintings range in value—based on the amounts for which they are insured—from $140,000 down to several thousand dollars. The items were selected by Theodore Rousseau, curator of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; Thomas Colt, director of the Portland Museum, and Dr. William Suida of the Kress Collection.

If You Catch More Than One Cold A Winter

Here's how to relieve suffering fast! Use Vicks VapoRub—the proved medication that works two ways at once. When you rub it on, VapoRub quickly relieves muscular soreness. At the same time, VapoRub's medicated vapors bring relief with every breath. Soothing medication travels deep into the nose, throat and large bronchial tubes. Congestion starts breaking up. Coughing eases. Warming relief comes, lasts for hours. So when colds strike, always depend on Vicks VapoRub!
