

Methodist Worker To Speak Twice In Jackson County

Gold Hill — Miss Theresa Hoover, young field worker for the Woman's Division of the Methodist church, will speak for a meeting of southern Oregon Methodist women to be held Monday, February 13, in Gold Hill. It will begin at 2 p.m. in Gold Hill Community church, and will be followed by coffee.

Miss Hoover, a Negro, is a graduate of Philander Smith college and has had additional training in religious education at Garnett Bible institute. She was at one time active in the Little Rock Methodist council in Arkansas and in other women's work in that area.

Miss Hoover attended the School of Missions in Camp Magruder, Ore., in July of 1953 and recently returned to this country from a tour of India and Pakistan.

The worker helps to organize new women's societies for the Methodist church, and conducts study courses.

Monday evening Miss Hoover will speak at a special meeting of Wesleyan Service guild members, First Methodist church, Medford. All Methodist women are invited to attend both the Gold Hill and Medford meetings, it is announced.

Miss Hoover is speaking at meetings on the coast, and will be met at Smith River by Mrs. Everett Faber, Central Point, western jurisdiction secretary of Woman's Society of Christian Service. She will be a guest of Mrs. Faber Sunday and Monday, and Tuesday the two women will go to Cottage Grove where Miss Hoover will continue her speaking tour.

Conference For Youth Announced

Ashland — Ashland branch, American Association of University Women, and Ashland Rotary club have announced that the two groups will sponsor the 1956 conference of young adults. It is set for Saturday, March 31 at Southern Oregon college, and young people of southern Oregon and northern California are invited to attend.

Family life will be the theme of this year's conference, the title being "Between Two Families." Some of the topics to be discussed are "Getting along with two generations," "Going steady—pro and con," "Are parents people?" "So you think it's love," "Understanding the other sex," and "Building your marriage."

Aiding the discussion will be Dr. Lester A. Kirkendall, professor of family life at Oregon State college for the last seven years and a teacher of undergraduate courses in marriage and family life.

Dr. Kirkendall will deliver the keynote address at the conference. Non-students, such as parents and advisers, will have a chance to hear Dr. Kirkendall speak on the topic, "Living with Teen-agers," at a luncheon to be sponsored by Ashland Rotary club at the Ashland Elks' club March 31 at noon.

Members of AAUW and Rotary club in Ashland will help schools arrange for transportation and lodging when necessary. AAUW branch members will serve as hostesses for the students while they are on the SOC campus. Luncheon will be served at Susanne Homes hall for students, and college students will assist in conducting group sessions.

Lady Lions Hold Annual Dinner

The annual dinner of Medford Lady Lions and firemen of Medford Fire department was held recently at the main firehall. The dinner is given each year by the women in appreciation of the work the firemen do in repairing wheeled toys for the club's annual Christmas toy project.

Following dinner a report on the toy project was given by the president, Mrs. Alan Jewett and a history of the project was read from the historian's book by Mrs. Eston Humphrey.

A brief meeting was held with plans being made for a pot-luck dinner for the Medford Lady Lions and their husbands to be held Tuesday evening, February 21, at Girls Community Hall.

Lutheran Church To Hold Banquet Friday Evening

The annual father and son banquet of Zion Lutheran church, one of the social highlights of the year for the church, will be held tomorrow, February 10, at 6:30 p.m. at the church.

It is stated that one ticket is sufficient for father and son, and men of the church who have no sons are urged to invite another boy.

Herbert Kinder will serve as master of ceremonies, and a variety program has been planned. Members of Zion Women's guild will serve the dinner.

Program Given On Fluoridation

Fluoridation was the topic for a meeting of St. Mary's Parents' club held Monday night. A colored film was shown. Dr. Andrew Bulkeley and Dr. John P. Dickson explained the benefits derived from fluoridation and a lively question and answer period followed the talks.

Brays to Attend Play in Corvallis

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Bray and son, Philip, Lozier lane, left earlier this week for Coos Bay where they will visit friends and fish for striped bass. Dr. Bray was formerly pastor of North Bend Methodist church. From Coos Bay the three will go to Corvallis by way of Newport. They will visit Dr. Bray's son, Charles and daughter, Mrs. Perry Dixon, in Corvallis. While in Corvallis they will attend a performance of the play, "The Late George Apley," which will be presented by Oregon State college drama students February 9 through 11.

Charles Bray will play the role of Roger Newcomb in the play. He is a freshman.

The Brays will return Sunday.

When you buy wool garments and yard goods, you know the quality, for it is protected by a rigidly enforced Federal law, the Wool Products Labeling Act. This law is almost unique in legal history, for it reversed the practice of putting the burden of assuring value on the buyer. The seller must assume responsibility for the quality of wool in a garment just as the quality of drugs and food must be assured.
