Annual Event Held By AAUW

A fellowship luncheon in honor of a young scholar, Dr. M. Bethy Fagioli from the Ministry of Agriculture of Argentina, was voted a success by members of the Medford and Ashland branches of American Association of University Women who gathered at the Medford Hotel Saturday afternoon in spite of the fact that the honored guest did not attend. More than 50 members were present.

An international grantee of the AAUW doing research at the University of California, Berkeley, Dr. Fagioli was expected to arrive by plane late in the morning. Only after the expectant group had gathered was it learned that Dr. Fagioli's plane had had trouble in flight and had returned to Berkeley. Mrs. Harold Cook, chairman of the fellowship program, then persuaded Mrs. Mabel Winston, Ashland, a vice-president on the national board of AAUW and registrar of Southern Oregon college who had come over with other Ashland members, to become speaker of the day. She took as her subject the "history of the fellowship program in AAUW."

Speaking informally Mrs. Winston regretted that the group could not meet one of the grantees in order to realize the extent of this educational program and the good fellowship between nations it created. In 1928, the AAUW decided to raise a million dollars to provide education for American women scholars in all fields. Though it took 25 years to raise this endowment fund, many women were helped by the fund each year. In Oregon, the "Margaret Snell fellowship fund" was established about 1936. The fund of $50,000, all invested, is giving women opportunities to study every year. After WW II, when university women all over the world lost their opportunities for education, international grants were established to extend the same help to foreign woman scholars and the whole program is now a fellowship program for both American and foreign women.

Mrs. Winston declared "The good of these international grants cannot be measured in money. We must have faith that as long as peoples minds are free and they are able to develop their ideas, we are doing a great thing to continue to help them in whatever field of knowledge they choose as the field of study. We are in a program that will never end, there will never be enough money to meet the need, and we must keep on working on it as our most important function."

The luncheon tables were decorated in the international theme. At the speakers' table the centerpiece was a replica of the United Nations building, and miniature flags of the United Nations were in the center of all the tables. Spring daffodils and winter flowering shrubs and berries with trailing ivy made an interesting contrast with the many colored flags.

Miss Rhoda Williams, assisted by Mrs. Bernice Scofield, Mrs. Milo Kubalek, Mrs. Fletcher Fish and Mrs. R. V. Keeney, was in charge of the decorations. Mrs. Frances Willett was ticket chairman.

A tea for Dr. Fagioli, planned by the board of directors at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Dowson after luncheon, was cancelled by Mrs. Emerson Anderson, president, who presided at the luncheon.

District Director Attends Session Of Garden Club

Jacksonville — Mrs. Kenneth Farley was hostess for a meeting of the Jacksonville Garden club at her home on the Jacksonville highway Thursday.

The district director Mrs. A. O. Floyd and Mrs. Mrs. Fitzgerald, Eagle Point, were visitors.

Three sets of slides were shown for the program. Shown were Weyerhaeuser's slides on "Wild Life," "Roadside Protection Slides" from the Oregon Federation of Garden Clubs and the garden and new introductions of iris from C. Benson of Missouri.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. W. Krebs, Miss Claire Hanley and Mrs. Albert Burch. Mrs. Otto Heckert and Mrs. Ray Coleman poured.

Reviewer Says Virtuosi Di Roma "Near Perfect"

Members of the Community Concert association who went from Medford to Grants Pass Sunday afternoon were privileged to hear the Virtuosi di Roma.

This group of 13 virtuosi on stringed instruments with an oboist and pianist, presented a program of ancient Italian music in as near perfect a manner as this reviewer has ever heard. They are all truly virtuosi, namely masters of their art and instruments.

To some the program may have not been very interesting from a "time" standpoint but Zanfini's skill on the oboe and that of Sabbadini on the viola d'amore could not escape anyone.

It was refreshing to hear the viola d'amore, this ancient ancestor of the violin, with its seven playing strings and seven sympathetic vibratory strings for which old Joseph Haydn wrote so much.

Sabbadini played on the viola d'amore "Concerto D Minor for Viola d'Amore and Strings," by A. Vivaldi.

Zanfini opened the program with another Vivaldi composition, "Concerto in C Minor for Strings," and the anonymous "Concerto in C Minor for Oboe and Strings."

The other four parts of the program included Vivaldi's "Concerto in A Minor for Two Violins and Strings," played by Franco Gulli and Edmondo Malanotte, violinists, and "Recitation From the Concerto in F for Violin and Strings," by Bonporti played by Renato Ruotolo, violin, and "Sonata No. 3 in C Major for Violins, Cellos and Contrabass," by G. Rossini played by the group.

The music by Antonio Vivaldi has been published or is in the course of publication by the firm of G. Ricordi and company (Milan and New York). For the most part, these works come from the collection Foa and Giordano, now reposing in the National Library of Turin. The revisions are by G. F. Malipiero, artistic director of the Vivaldi Institute, and others.—R.D.W.

PTA Carnival To Be Friday

Final plans for the annual Lincoln school parent-teacher carnival have been made and the event will be held in the school gymnasium Friday, February 24, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Directed by Mrs. Austin Caldwell, chairman of the ways and means committee, the annual carnival is the unit's one big money-raising event of the year. Carnival funds are used for PTA tuition scholarship, to buy musical instruments to add to the band or orchestra, and for many other worthwhile projects.

Besides the regular carnival booths of fishpond, bean-bags, darts shooting gallery and others making a total of seventeen games, there will also be a side-show with can-can girls and other attractions.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—THREE

Party Observes 91st Birthday

Wilbur Miller, 145 South Oakdale avenue, celebrated his 91st birthday anniversary at a family party Wednesday, February 15. Mr. Miller, born in Mt. Vernon, Ind., has lived in Medford 15 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller came to Medford from Klamath Falls where he was an employee of the federal government at the Klamath Indian agency for a number of years.

The birthday celebration was arranged by Mr. Miller's half-brother, H. G. Wilson, and Mrs. Wilson. A birthday cake was provided by Mr. Miller's daughter, Mrs. Edna Johnson, Portland, who recently visited the Millers here, and Mrs. Miller was given a corsage for the event.
