Washington Gym Play-Off Scene

Seattle — (U.P.) — The NCAA basketball play off game between Idaho State and Seattle university will be played at the University of Washington pavilion here March 13, it was announced today.

The site was decided this morning during a three-way telephone conference among Reeves Peters of Kansas City, Mo., chairman of the western selection committee of the NCAA; Al Brightman, Seattle coach, and John Vesser, Idaho State athletic director.

A flip of a coin between Seattle and Pocatello, Ida., decided the site after it was reported the game could not be played at Corvallis or Eugene, Ore., due to prior commitments by both facilities.

Russell Selected Player of Year

New York — (U.P.) — Bill Russell, undefeated University of San Francisco's center, has been named "player of the year" on the Collier's magazine 1956 All-America college basketball team.

Others named to the team are K. C. Jones, also of San Francisco; Robin Freeman of Ohio State; Sihugo Green of Duquesne; and Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State.

YOUNG CRITICS—Olympic skating champ Tenley Albright does a practice spin at the Boston Skating Club for a pair of admiring young critics, Randy Byrnes, 9, and Anne Dexter, 9. Tenley canceled her European tour because of ankle injury and returned to the U. S. She has since decided to defend one of her skating crowns at the National Figure Skating championships in Philadelphia, March 14-17.

Big Loops Officially Open Spring Training

By UNITED PRESS
It's baseball time in America once again as the big league teams officially opened their spring training season today with hopes gleaming brightly and last year's failures forgotten under the balmy skies of the sunny Southland.

The rookies have been drilling for a couple of weeks, with a few veterans getting in some advance voluntary work. But March 1 is the official start and the day the "varsity" players are due to report.

Players not on hand for the first drills become officially regarded as holdouts, and there were 20 players in the running for that label. Some of these were expected to make a hasty scribble on the dotted line and grab a bat today but some were darn serious about their holdouts.

The Cleveland Indians frankly admitted that both Gene Woodling and Bobby Avila were in the "serious" class. General Manager Hank Greenberg got caught way off base Wednesday when he announced Woodling had signed—an assumption he jumped to when he heard Gene had arrived in camp.

Holman Defeats Rowan in Bout

Miami, Fla. — (U.P.) — Big Johnny Holman, who stooped to conquer smaller Joey Rowan in their TV-radio fight, said today he figured he could win with the same tactics in a title bout with Rocky Marciano.

"I wish they'd give me a title shot with Rocky, so I could try bendin' down to meet him," said six-foot-four Johnny of Chicago, who bowed forward Wednesday night and used a lifting attack of uppercuts and hooks that had Rowan of Phoenixville, Pa., practically out on his feet at the final bell.

But Truman Gibson, executive secretary of the International Boxing club, said 28-year-old Holman — the fourth-ranking contender — probably would have another Miami fight in early May against the winner of a bout between Hurricane Jackson and England's Johnny Wiggins. They tangle at Washington, D. C., on April 13.

BEAVERS INK CATCHERS
Portland — (U.P.) — The Portland Beavers signed a pair of catchers to 1956 contracts yesterday as the list of players in the fold began to swell with spring training just around the corner. Ron Botler, local Portland boy who played with Columbus, Ga., in the Sally league last season, and Bob Gauthier, purchased last week from Eugene of the North-west loop, were signed yesterday.

IN THE NOSE
Holdredge, Neb. — (U.P.) — The March of Dimes mail campaign here is especially comprehensive. Even the mayor's horse got a campaign letter. And the envelope was addressed to the stable.

Veteran Coquille Quintet To Oppose Crater Comets In A-2 Area Hoop Series

Central Point — An experienced all-senior aggregation will take the floor this week end for the Coquille Red Devils this week end when they skirmish the Crater High Comets for the District 6 A-2 basketball diadem.

Four lettermen and one capable transfer will be in the lineup for the Devils when they meet the Comets Friday night at Coquille and Saturday night at Central Point.

Through the season the transfer has been the main force of Coquille. He is Don Nelson, 6-2 forward, who came from Laureldwood Academy, Portland. He has piled up 382 points in 23 games.

At the other forward may be Tom Creager, 5-10, or Leroy Ames, 6 feet. Ames has been bothered by a bad knee and his services could be limited. Center is Howard Waggoner, 6 feet. At guards are Leroy Sargent, 5-10, and Jack Liles, 5-7.

17 Victories
Coquille will match a 17-win 6-loss record against Crater's 11-11. The Red Devils won a play-off for the northern sub-district title after knocking at a 10-2 record with Myrtle Creek for the regular season. Crater won a southern division tournament, knocking Phoenix in the finals after finishing second to the Pirates in the Rogue league.

Crater may have a slight edge in height that could help it on the backboards but the Devils reportedly have more speed and could outrun the Comets. Coquille is a club which will run if it gets the chance. Curt Jarvis is coach of the coast area club.

VIKES BEAT PIONEERS

Portland — (U.P.) — A pair of gift tosses by Fletch Frazier after the final gun gave Portland State a 76-74 win over Lewis and Clark here last night as both clubs wound up their regular season schedule in the inter-league battle. The win preserved the Vikings string over the Pioneers this season at three straight.

The Yankees were waiting for early word today on whether lefty ace Whitey Ford will accept their latest offer of a $6,000 raise and $28,000. Chances were that sparkplug Billy Martin would sign when he arrives in camp today. But pitcher Jim Konstanty was insisting he shouldn't be judged salary-wise on last year's record and outfielder Irv Noren left camp after rejecting the Yanks' offer.

Journal Shoot To Open Sunday

Members of Medford Gun Club will begin firing Sunday, March 4, in the annual Oregon Journal 16-yard telegraphic trapshoot.

The event will run for eight Sundays. This week end the Medford gunners will fire against Klamath Falls, McMinnville and Myrtle Point. Each of the following Sundays they will shoot against four other clubs.

Top three scores in 25-target competition will count in the weekly rivalry.

Medford shotgunners also will have a team shoot this Sunday. Traps open around 10 a.m.

District 7 Schedules Three Night Tourney

Baker — (U.P.) — A three night playoff has been devised to pick District 7 entries in the State class A-1 high school basketball tourney at Eugene after three clubs of the Blue Mountain league ended the counting campaign with identical seven-won and two-lost records.

The tourney will be played in three heats, opening Friday and games following on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Baker, Pendleton and Mac-Hi will be going for the two spots allotted to the district.

Baker and Mac-Hi open Friday night at Baker. Tuesday night Pendleton takes on the winner for the number one spot. Losers of the first two rounds meet Wednesday for the second spot.

Shingle Weavers Favor Strike Action

Portland — (U.P.) — A spokesman for the AFL-CIO shingle weavers in Oregon and Washington said yesterday that the union had voted 8 to 1 in favor of calling a strike in the two states if negotiations with employers fail to produce a settlement. The union has about 2000 members in the two states.

The union is asking for a raise of 25 cents an hour as part of a 10-point proposal covering wages, health and welfare and working conditions.

Employers have offered a pay hike of 8 3/4 cents hourly.

Wife Presents Terms To Halt Divorce Plan

Des Moines, Ia. — (U.P.) — Mrs. Martha Hoffman said Wednesday she would call off her divorce proceedings if her husband agreed to:

Enter into conversation with her.

Spend the "main portions" of his time with his family instead of his newspaper and radio.

Take her out once a week, even if it means he has to give up bowling.

through the year are much better than a single heavy application. One pound of sulfate of ammonia to each 10'x10' area, applied three or four times a year will keep a lawn in a good vigorous condition. This will thicken the grass up so that weeds have a harder time competing.

In making the spring application put a little extra fertilizer on any patches of moss that may be showing. This will burn the moss out and stimulate the re-establishment of the grass. Whenever fertilizers are used on lawns they should be thoroughly watered in or rather severe burning will result. In the case of the mossy areas it is desirable not to sprinkle for 24 hours so that the fertilizer will have a chance to burn up the moss. The grass, while injured, will quickly recover.

Garden Notes

By C. B. CORDY
County Extension Agent for Horticulture

The selection of a proper fertilizer to use on garden plants is dependent upon a few simple rules. Most of our soils are well supplied with lime and most of our horticultural plants prefer soils which are slightly acid. As a result it is generally inadvisable to use any lime and in some cases definitely injurious. Ashes likewise should be avoided.

A few plants such as Clematis and Delphinium like a soil high in lime but applications should be judicious as neighboring plants would not be benefited and plants seeded in that area in the future likewise might be damaged.

Acid Loving Plants

Acid loving plants such as azalea and rhododendrons generally find too much lime in our soils and an acid fertilizer is desirable. For these 1/4 pound of sulfate of ammonia to a square yard would be desirable. If this is repeated once or twice a year it would help maintain an acid condition. This same application would be beneficial to other established plants.

In preparing the soil before planting the use of a complete fertilizer would be desirable. Phosphate and potash are most beneficial in the seedling stage so the use of 5 pounds of a complete fertilizer mixed into the soil before planting would stimulate the growth of the young seedlings.

Search Concentrated For Lost Eureka Men

Eureka — (U.P.) — Searchers concentrated on the lower slopes of Red mountain today as they resumed their attempt to find two missing television technicians.

Helicopters and ground crews completed the search yesterday on the upper slope of the mountain. It was the first time that the weather cleared enough to allow helicopters to take part.

The missing men are Romie Smith, 28, and Glenn McMartin, 25. They disappeared Friday on a routine trip to check microwave equipment maintained by station KIEM-TV at the 4200-foot level on the mountain.
