

Astoria Girl Winner Of Contest

Minneapolis — Oregon's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow is Miss Judith Kivisto of Astoria.

The 17-year-old Knappa High school senior received the highest score in a written homemaking examination taken by 3,225 graduating seniors in 140 of Oregon's schools.

She will receive a $1,500 educational scholarship to the college of her choice from General Mills, sponsor of this $100,000 homemaking scholarship program which enrolled a quarter million girls in more than 10,000 of the nation's high schools.

She and her school advisor will tour Washington, D. C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia April 8-12. Miss Kivisto will be a candidate for the Betty Crocker American Homemaker of Tomorrow $5,000 scholarship award which will be made at the nationally televised American Table banquet April 12 in Philadelphia.

Receiving the second rating in Oregon was Miss Kathryn Ann Compton of Siuslaw Union High school, Florence. She will be awarded a $500 scholarship as Oregon's Award of Honor winner in this homemaking project.

Miss Kivisto plans to use her $1,500 scholarship for a home economics course at Oregon State College. "Ever since I was in the eighth grade I've hoped I could go to college and study to be a home economics teacher," says this winner of 75 4-H blue ribbons.

Two years ago, in a competition with 7,000 Oregon girls in 4-H cooking, she won a trip to Chicago. She is still doing a great deal of 4-H work, and is also active in the Future Homemakers of America.

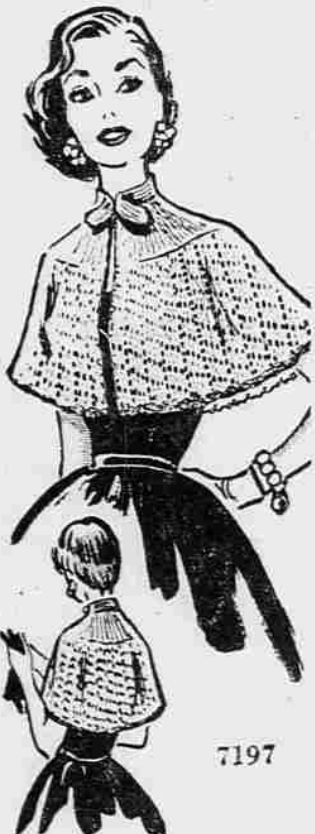

Her principal hobby is raising dahlias, of which she has 500 different species. She also takes care of the family pets—one dog, four cats, four goldfish and two canaries. But her favorite is Nancy, the Jersey cow which she bought for one of her 4-H projects.

In addition to her extra-curricular activities, such as editor of the school annual, playing volleyball and softball, and belonging to all the girls' organizations in school, Miss Kivisto is the second ranking student in her class, and "an extra good helping hand around the house" according to her mother.

Knappa High school will receive a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica in recognition of Miss Kivisto's selection as Oregon Homemaker of Tomorrow.

As fresh fruits come into the markets delicious desserts can be made by simply poaching them with a little sugar and muscatel, port or other dessert wines.

Women Prefer Style, Looks Over New Miracle Fabrics

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY United Press Correspondent New York (U.P.)—The golden future when our clothes would be made of almost indestructible fabrics and ironing would become a forgotten skill now seems more distant than it did 10 years ago.

We called the miracle fabrics. Pop could take off his overcoat and toss it into the Monday wash. Tuesday he'd take it off the line and wear it to work. Clothes would resist stains, wrinkles, moths, storms, stress—everything but fire and theft.

Well, miracles do happen, if somebody wants them desperately enough. But now we have shown that we're not desperately anxious for the indestructible party dress or the washable Tuxedo.

No Miracles Women like children's clothes which require little or no ironing; they look for sports clothes for their own week end outings that are easy to pack and keep clean. But they don't expect miracles.

So the newest fabrics for next year are combinations of "miracle"—dubbed fibers and other familiar fibers.

"It is less important than you would think to develop completely washable, no-iron fabrics," one manufacturer's spokesman explained. We have discovered that women buy the style and the looks of the fabrics. This is true in inexpensive clothes as well as expensive dresses. Women want to be informed just how to take care of the dress, but they don't expect a good dress that requires no special care."

Little Ironing Another man described his company's new washable synthetic fabrics as requiring "little or no ironing, with the emphasis on the little ironing."

Women's willingness to give gentle care to a dress, suit or coat they like is only one reason for our new realism about miracles, according to another expert. A second reason is the difficulty in turning fabrics that are washable and wrinkle-proof into dresses with identical durability.

"Women who sew can sympathize with the dress manufacturers," one man explained. "The thread must be tested for machine washability; the linings must be cut on identical bias to shrink identically; the buttons must be rust proof."

If the style has to suffer for the durability, women will pick up the iron rather than give up the style.

The next meeting, March 15, will be held at the home of Mrs. Warren Holbrook, 825 East Jackson street, Medford.

HORN BROOK Weather Opinions Divided

By MRS. H. H. CHAPMAN Hornbrook —Two schools of thought prevailed concerning the weather in this area the past week—(1) that it was good—(2) that it was bad, depending on whether one was a youngster in grammar school, or was engaged in the logging or lumber industry.

The children thought it was great, as they enjoyed a three-day unexpected holiday, due in part to the inclement weather. On Monday the furnace at school broke down, and on Tuesday the school bus driver, Louie Freitas, was unable to get through the high water covering the road between his place and Hornbrook, so school had to be called off. Wednesday being Washington's birthday was a regularly scheduled holiday.

The lumbermen, however, are taking a dim view of the weather. They no longer get underway with their operations than another spell of heavy rains comes along and they are forced to shut down again.

Walter Bray, who has been the Union Oil Co. truck driver in this district for some years, suffered a broken shoulder and severe bruises last week when he pulled out to pass another car on Highway 99 about one-quarter mile south of Henley Way. Due apparently to some fault in the steering apparatus, the truck refused to pull back on the right side of the road, and continued across the road and over the embankment. He was taken to the hospital in Yreka where he is reported recovering satisfactorily. "Walt" is a Hornbrook boy, and is a brother of Mrs. Rob Cummins and Mrs. Henley Clawson.

Mrs. James Hodge entertained the Contract Bridge club at her home on Old Highway 99 on Feb. 22. The Washington's birthday theme was used in decorations and refreshments. Members playing were Mrs. L. E. Jeter, Mrs. Laura Swinnerton, Mrs. Duane Hamner, Mrs. Lester Nye, Mrs. Bertha Bradley, Mrs. Grace Quigley, Mrs. Ed Smith, and the hostess, Mrs. Jeter won high score, Mrs. Swinnerton, second. Campfire Girls

Group Active O-Ne-Kizu Camp Fire group of Eagle Point has been very busy in the past few weeks.

We gave a skating party for the March of Dimes, with guests invited. A nice donation was made, through the cooperation of the Rogue Valley ballroom where the party was held. This project was sponsored by both the Camp Fire groups in Eagle Point.

Mrs. Ray Chamberlain has been helping us with music and choral reading for our coming birthday dinner. To complete our 1955-56 birthday project, we attended an Eagle Point city council meeting.

For Valentine's day, the two girls working on fire makers' rank, Lana McGraw and Edna Gray, planned a formal dinner party for a mixed group. This fulfilled two of their main requirements. The two girls had to budget and plan their menu, do the buying, and cook the dinner, and plan the entertainment for fourteen guests. Each girl in our group was present, accompanied by a male escort.

We finished hospital favors for the Sacred Heart hospital maternity ward. This helps the trail seekers in our group fulfill one of their requirements. Our current service project is supplying baby-sitting for every meeting of the Eagle Point Elementary PTA.

odist church met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry Chapman. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Thomas Watt Jr. Mrs. Minnie Bloomingcamp presented the devotionals on "Opportunities in the Small Town." Election of officers was held with the following being elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Clarence Gowing, vice-president, Mrs. Ernest Adams, secretary, Mrs. Minnie Bloomingcamp, and treasurer, Mrs. Ardon Burns. The next meeting will be March 8 at the church with the out going officers serving as hostesses at a tea. The new officers will be installed.

Week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Adams on the Klamath river were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Heinle of San Leandro, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Johnson of Oakland, Calif., have moved in to their place at the airport strip on Old Highway 99.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greive of Yreka were Sunday visitors at the home of Charles Greive and "Grandma" Greive. "Bob" advised friends here that his mother, Mrs. E. R. Greive, who lived here many years and retired last year as a teacher, is to enter St. Mary's hospital in Reno, Nev., within the week to undergo major surgery. Since retiring and selling their ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Greive have been making their home at Nevada City, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winters have returned after spending the past four months visiting their children in the middle west and the south.

The PTA Founders' day program, which has already had to be postponed twice due to the weather and to illness among the children, has been postponed indefinitely.

On Feb. 24 Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Walsh were hosts to the third in a series of birthday parties which a group of friends have been holding. Honored were Loran Payne and Mrs. Ralph Bennett, both of whom have birthdays in February.

Oliver Fick drove to Grants Pass Monday to attend the concert given at the Assembly of God church by the choir from the Canyonville Bible academy, of which he is an alumnus.

Mrs. Frank Ward 66, of Hilt, died Feb. 25 in the Siskiyou County General hospital in Yreka where she had been a patient since Nov. 12.

Although living lived in Hilt for the past 23 years, she was well-known and had many friends here. She was a member of Stella chapter, Order of Eastern Star of Yreka, and in 1955 was made an honorary life member of the Hilt PTA. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bernice Gilcrest of Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Jackie McCullough of Medford, a son, Donovan, Hilt, four grand-daughters and a great-grandson.

Funeral services were held Tuesday with the Rev. Harold Coleman of the Methodist church of Yreka, and Stella Chapter, O. E. S., officiating. Burial was in the Henley Hornbrook cemetery.
