Artificial Heart Valve Made From Plastic Substance

San Francisco (U.P.)—Two University of California medical scientists have discovered how to make a life-saving artificial heart valve out of the same material used in the common plastic kitchen sponge.

The technique may soon do much to eliminate death from the ravages of rheumatic fever and congenital deformity in newborn infants, they said.

The scientists, Drs. Edwin J. Wylie and Benson B. Roe, described their experiments at a news conference here.

The valve, designed by U.C. Engineer David Moore, is made from polyvinyl alcohol—the same material the householder commonly uses to swab the sink or wash the family car.

The doctors said that so far the valve has been used only on dogs, but the success of the experiments warrants the assumption that its use on humans may not be far off.

Dr. Roe explained that in a healthy human, the pulsation of the heart forces blood up into the aorta with each beat, opening a three-leaved valve.

Between output beats, the valve prevents the blood from returning to the heart.

But in the aftermath of rheumatic fever or in the case of a congenital deformity, this natural valve is often impaired, causing improper heart function and eventually death.

In his animal experiments, Dr. Roe has managed to place his artificial valve at the entrance to the aorta without shutting off the total blood supply from the heart during the operation—a condition which would cause critical brain damage or death within minutes.

The scientist declined to reveal his ingenious surgical method until after he has described it in a recognized surgical journal.

Confederate Bombing Of Chicago Scheduled

Memphis, Tenn.—(U.P.)—Radio disc jockey Ollen English, an advocate of the South's segregation pattern, flies to Chicago today to drop 25,000 miniature Confederate battle flags on the city if the weather permits.

The record spinner, employed by station WSUH in Oxford, planned his flight in retaliation for the dropping of copies of the U.S. Constitution over Jackson and Greenwood, Miss. Chicago Negro disc jockey Al Benson sponsored the Mississippi drop to emphasize the U. S. Supreme Court's school segregation rulings.

Lakeview Youth Killed in Wreck

Klamath Falls — (U.P.) — A jeep skidded off a muddy road early today and plunged down an embankment onto Highway 97, killing one person and injuring two others, one seriously.

Police said Phillip Harry Mike Noe, 28, a pre-med student at the University of Oregon from Lakeview, was killed.

Ralph Wise, 19, Klamath Falls, suffered a punctured lung and other injuries and was in serious condition. Glenn Hilyard, 24, Klamath Falls, escaped with a gash above the left eye.

Police said the jeep plunged headlong over a 600 to 700 foot embankment and landed upside down on the highway. Hilyard, who was driving, said he told the others to jump as the jeep skidded. The accident happened about a mile south of here. Police said the dirt road was muddy from thawing snow.

Noe was the son of Mrs. Milton J. Noe, a nurse in Ashland.

A. Robert Smith, Norblad Sees Slim Chance of Rising Higher in House

Washington—Rep. Walter Norblad (R-Ore.) estimates that it would take him "almost a lifetime" to rise substantially any higher in the ranks of the House of Representatives.

This was his answer to the Republican objection voiced by Oregon's Republican national committeewoman, Mrs. Marshall Cornett, to Norblad's decision to abandon his congressional seat and run for governor.

Norblad has been Oregon's first district congressman
