Washington Mail Suits Threatened

Portland — (U.P.) — Plans of some survivors of the sinking of the Washington Mail to possibly sue owners of the ship were revealed here today by a Portland missionary who was aboard the freighter when it split into two parts and sank in the Gulf of Alaska Saturday.

Miss Charlotte Rogers of Beavercreek said attorneys for the owners had offered the passengers $200 plus refund of their passage money in exchange for signatures on a settlement.

Miss Rogers said "most of them appeared quite unsatisfied with such a meager settlement. She added that she "heard some discussion afterward that many of them were planning to sue the ship owners." She reported that the clothes she lost in the sinking were worth more than $200.

Miss Rogers was the first of 13 Oregonians aboard the Washington Mail to arrive home. The vessel went down in the Gulf of Alaska Saturday. The 60 persons aboard were rescued.

Square Dance — Pioneer Square Dance club will conduct a dance Saturday, March 10 at 8:30 p.m. in the Kershaw square. Potluck refreshments will be served. Gordon Kershaw and Ken Howe will call the squares.

Sale — Phoenix Thursday club members will hold a rummage sale Monday, March 12, at 9 a.m. in the Fehl building, 108 North Ivy st. Proceeds will go toward funds for the Phoenix city library which has been the club's main project since its organization.

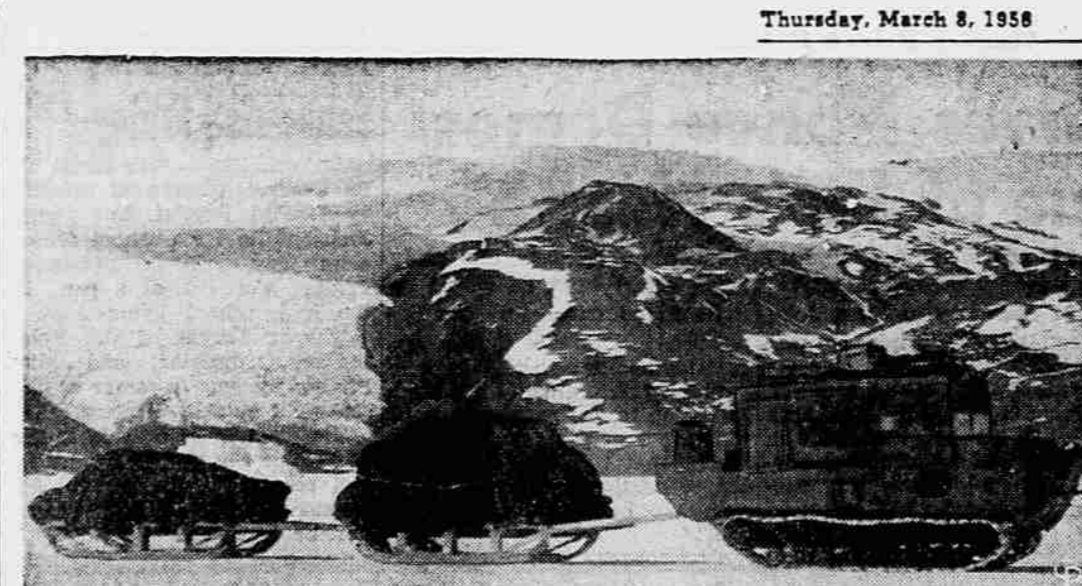

Visit Tribune — Members of Boy Scout Cub Pack 8, Den 8, Jackson school, visited the Mail Tribune plant Wednesday afternoon. On the visit were Dee Forbes, Frankie Davis, Dower Grimes, Jimmy Schulz, Roger Stricklin, and the den mother, Mrs. Doris Forbes.

Fined — William R. Payton, 35, Lone Pine rd., appeared in district court Tuesday on a charge of trespassing on real property owned by Ben Alfonso, route 1, Rogue River. Payton paid $10 and court costs after Judge Rawles Moore suspended $40 of a $50 fine. He told the court he was hunting on Alfonso's place Feb. 12.

Back Injury — Virginia Wilson, 11, daughter of Harold Wilson, 3045 Table Rock rd., is reported today in "good" condition at Sacred Heart hospital. She was taken there about 2 p.m. Wednesday from Howard school by Medford Ambulance service attendants who reported that she received a back injury.

Leg Fracture — Marvin Guisinger, 45, of 114 Van Ness ave., Ashland, is at Sacred Heart hospital for treatment of a compound leg fracture received while working at Kopag sawmill, according to Medford Ambulance service attendants who took him to the hospital after the accident about noon yesterday. The hospital report indicates that he is in "fair" condition.

Annual Tests — Annual tests for Bliss Heine's Juniors will be given Saturday, March 10, in the Moose hall. Selection of judges started last week. It is expected that all majorettes wear slacks or jeans. Ratings, promotions and awarding of a wrist watch and ring by Picard's jewelers will be made Saturday morning, March 17, during class periods. Plans are under way for a drum exhibition next week. All members who have tickets for sale for a performance of Oregon Journal Juniors and Seniors next Wednesday are asked to turn in money for tickets sold next Saturday.

WALL STREET

New York — (U.P.) — Stocks moved up on increased volume today with the railroad division making the best percentage gain.

Demand for rails sent the leader, up a point or better. Chrysler was outstanding in motors, rising nearly two points. The company retailed 13.6 more cars in February than in January. Other motors moved narrowly.

Steels, chemicals, oils and mercantiles moved up from early lows. Johns-Manville led building issues higher. Montgomery Ward was strong in the mercantiles. Metals ruled firm.

OUT OF POCKET

Indianapolis — (U.P.) — A hotel guest awakened just in time to see his pants slowly moving through the air toward an open window. He grabbed them, but not quickly enough to save $93 in the pocket. Police found a cement block and a long stick beneath the window.

Second Orphan Gets Vision From Priest

Milan, Italy — (U.P.) — A second blind orphan regained her sight today through the eyes of a blind priest.

Dr. Cesare Galeazzi removed the bandages from the eye of 18-year-old Amabile Battistello and discovered the transplantation of a cornea from the eye of the priest, Don Carlo Gnocchi, was a success.

He said the girl could see faintly through the grafted tissue. Amabile had been blind since she was two months old when he was stricken by typhoid fever and conjunctivitis.

The cornea of the other eye of the priest was given to Silvio Colagrande, 12. He saw for the first time in eight years yesterday when the doctor removed the delicate opaque egg skin which held the tissue in place. Galeazzi warned that both the boy and the girl might become totally blind again in the next few weeks if the grafted corneas become opaque. But he added that if this happened they would be in better condition to withstand a second operation.

STRAY HOGS

Hartford City, Ind. — (U.P.) — Farmer Orth Harvey penned up 23 stray hogs which wandered into his front yard, and through a newspaper story, found that the animals' owner lived about a mile down the road. He returned them, but that wasn't the last he heard of them. Two Camden, Mich., men, who also saw the story, drove many miles to stake a claim on the chance their missing hogs had strayed the more than 100 miles.

Ohio mines have produced 1.8 billion tons of coal since 1800. Americans spend about $1,700,000 yearly for television sets.
