Women Rate High in Home Accidents According to Life Institute Study

New York—(U.P.)—It's women first—in home accidents.

Accidents in the home top all others as killers. Last year 27,500 lives were lost. And a new study, reported by the Institute of Life Insurance, shows the most frequent victims are women.

This fact came out in a safety project, conducted by the Parent-Teacher association and Richland County, O., health department. The project involved 114 families, or nearly 500 men, women and children.

At the start of the project, it was found that accidents occurred at the rate of more than six injuries per year for every person. In 16 weeks, the rate had dropped, so that the average would be about one a year.

Notes Are Needed
All that was needed to cut the accident toll apparently was a notebook.

The Institute said that by members of families making a note of every injury that occurred—whether it was a burnt finger or sprained ankle—they found themselves on guard against new accidents.

The project showed that women are twice as vulnerable as men to home accidents. The kitchen proved to be one of the most dangerous places, because of its hot surfaces, sharp knives and other kitchen tools.

Injuries to women took place most frequently between 10 and 12 in the morning, and from four to eight p.m., the hours when most household chores are done.

The study showed that the time of greatest danger to children under 10 is in the afternoon and evening, although the Institute said it does not know why these particular hours are the most hazardous.

Artists' Coming Workshop

Because of school spring vacation, the regular meeting of Southern Oregon Society of Artists scheduled for March 14 has been postponed to Wednesday, March 21 at 7:30 p.m. It will be held in the art room of Hedrick Junior high school, 1501 East Jackson street.

A program committee made up of Mrs. Fred Rankin, chairman, Mrs. Ralph Hixon, Central Point, and Miss Cathy Fonkin, Hedrick junior high school art teacher, have planned the second in a series of workshop programs.

The topic will be "Oil Techniques and Composition," to be given by a professional artist. Dr. E. O. Muhs of Camp White is society president.

Rebekahs Honor Carrie Morand With Memorial

A book on flowers, in memory of a former member, Mrs. Carrie May Rickert Morand, will be given to the Medford public library by Olive Rebekah lodge members, it was announced last week. The members made the decision at a lodge meeting Monday evening at which the charter was draped in Mrs. Morand's memory.

Taking part in the service were Mrs. Lewis Thompson, conductress, Mrs. J. A. Thomasson, warden, Mrs. Jessie Howard, who carried the charter, Mrs. Carrie Milnes, who placed a bouquet of flowers, Mrs. Lucretia Jordan, and Miss Caroline Leader, a friend of Mrs. Morand's family, who played special music for the occasion. Miss Leader had been read an article which had been put in the year book of the Rebekah Assembly when Mrs. Morand was president of the assembly.

The easel used for the charter was one made by Floyd Murray for Mrs. Murray when she was president of the Past Noble Grands club last year. The vase was one that was given to the lodge last year by Mrs. Helen Chauman while she was noble grand, in honor of Mrs. Sara Redden, a deceased member.

At the Monday meeting an invitation was read from Mt. Pitt Rebekah lodge asking the Olive Rebekah lodge to attend a Friendship night observance March 21. Another letter was read which had been received from a committee from Tillamook, who will entertain at a state convention of Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and cantons and auxiliaries starting May 19.

A degree of chivalry pin was presented to Mrs. Lora Straham fulfilling a request made by Mrs. Marie Hansen before her death. The pin was to have been given to Mrs. Hansen.

Mrs. Margaret Davis was recommended for the degree of chivalry.

Spring flowers were used to decorate refreshment tables.

Chicago—(U.P.)—Among the new items displayed at the home furnishings winter market were a coffee table covered with black and white vinyl floor tile, an 80-inch long rosewood buffet with its own bread board, a sofa that is sold by the foot in lengths up to nine feet, and lamps that go on and off by the touch of a finger.

OEA Annual Meeting Announced

Portland—The 53rd annual Oregon Education association convention will be held in Portland March 15, 16 and 17 with some 6000 Oregon educators expected to be in attendance. Two general sessions which have been scheduled for Thursday morning and Friday afternoon, March 15 and 16, at the Portland Civic auditorium will highlight the convention program.

Educators from throughout the state will be in attendance as most school districts will close for spring vacation during this week.

Key noting the Thursday morning opening session will be an address by Dr. Israel Chodos, Rabbi, Sinai Temple, Los Angeles. Dr. Chodos will talk on "Outlooks and Insights in Creative Thinking." He is the author of "Count Your Blessings" and conducted a regular Sunday afternoon television program for four years in Oklahoma where he was a member of the University of Oklahoma faculty for five years. Following Dr. Chodos on the Thursday morning program will be Dr. Georg Leczkowski, association professor of political science, University of California at Berkeley. Dr. Leczkowski will talk on "Major American Security Problems in 1956." He is author or co-author of four books, three of which are primarily concerned with the Middle East.

On Program
John W. Vandercook, radio news commentator, author and explorer from New York City will appear as a special feature of the convention at the Friday afternoon session with "Men, Machines and Minds" as the title of his address. Vandercook has lived in or visited 81 different countries of the world and has served as a newspaper reporter and feature writer in addition to having authored several books.

Two new features will add interest to all the usual events of the convention, which is Oregon's major annual educational event. The first of these will be a pre-convention open meeting at 7 p.m. at the Lincoln high school auditorium at which Dr. Lionel de Silva of Los Angeles will speak on "Looking Ahead in Professional Activity Programs." Dr. de Silva's talk will be followed by separate meetings of the OEA Teacher Education and Professional Standards commission, OEA Ethics commission and the OEA Improvement of Instruction committee.

The second new event will be a dinner fashion show on Friday evening, March 16, on the 8th floor tea room of Lipman Wolfe and Company. This occasion is calculated to attract the attention of women teachers.

Top entertainment feature of the convention will be the OEA general convention banquet in the grand ballroom of the Multnomah hotel starting at 6:30 o'clock. At this time the OEA "Education Citizen of the Year" award will be made. John Lester Buford of Mt. Vernon, Ill., who is the president of the National Education association, is slated for the feature address of the banquet. This event is sponsored by the OEA Department of Classroom Teachers, of which Mrs. Maxine Smith, Medford, is president.

Conservative Suit Best Buy According To Designer Small

Los Angeles—(U.P.)—One top designer advises women by all means to follow a fad. Occasionally, that is.

But she warns, be conservative when you buy a suit. Designer Edith Small says a woman might well go frivolous on a hat or an evening frock. "But a suit is the backbone of a good wardrobe," said the small blonde designer. "It never should be extreme in design."

Keep it timeless.
About 12 per cent of the nation's hogs come from Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Texas. Top states are Iowa and Illinois.

League Member Presents Report For Zonta Club

Mrs. Irving Thomas of Medford League of Women Voters spoke to Zonta club members at a meeting Thursday. She reported on the recent hearing of the legislative interim committee on local government which was held in Medford March 1.

The speaker said the purpose of the committee is to determine what legislation needs to be enacted. One of the chief problems in this area, she said, is that of the "fringe" areas. People have been moving out of the city to such an extent that fringe areas are now becoming heavily populated and a series sewage problem has developed, the speaker said. The committee heard recommendations on this including the pros and cons of annexation. Mrs. Thomas said that Medford is fortunate in having the newly formed planning commission.

The Zonta meeting was held at noon at the Jackson hotel.

COMBINE PORK, NOODLES

New York—(U.P.)—Pork left from a loin or shoulder roast combines with noodles for an easy to prepare supper dish. Brown a sliced onion and 1 cup of diced celery in fat in a skillet. Add 1 cup of cooked noodles and continue cooking. Add 2 cups of diced, broiled pork. 1 cup of bouillon and a dash of salt.

ANOTHER USE FOR WAX

Morgantown, W. Va.—(U.P.)—The West Virginia University home economics department suggested application of a coat of wax on the screw-top section of a nail polish bottle. If applied when the bottle first is opened, the cap will not stick later.

Cover and cook over low heat 20 to 25 minutes.
