Arts, Crafts and Hobby Fair Sunday At Camp White Veterans Domiciliary

Twenty-one local organizations will sponsor an arts-and-crafts and hobby fair in the Veterans Administration domiciliary at Camp White March 18 from 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The Veterans Administration

EMIL KROEGER
Vets' Art Fair Chairman

Volunteer Service project will be open to the public with no admission charge. Exhibits at the fair will all be from projects carried on by veterans at the domiciliary. Most items on display will be available for purchase by visitors. A wide range of projects will include both creative and pictorial art, whittling, carving and wood projects as examples of woodcraft; hand weaving and sewing projects; leathercraft; all types of rugs; a lapidary exhibit including gem making and mineral collections; collectors' items such as stamps and coins; and a miscellaneous exhibit for crafts and hobbies not otherwise classified.

Judge will be O. J. Wilda, Southern Oregon college; Be-noyde Bayless, art teacher at McLaughlin Junior High school, and Clifford Platz, Medford artist. First, second and third prizes in each category will be furnished by the various sponsoring organizations. Emil Kroeger is general chairman of the fair. Committee chairmen include Helen Lusk, publicity; Austria Barneburg, judges and awards; Mrs. Olive Floyd, decorations; Mrs. Ardena Kretschmer, refreshments, and Mrs. Lelia Birch, reception. Coffee and cookies will be served.

In Medford's Schools

McLOUGHLIN JUNIOR HIGH
Karen Lytle, ninth grade violinist at McLaughlin, went to Portland with a group of senior high students to play in the all-state orchestra. The group left early Wednesday and joined students from other schools to form a 150-member orchestra.

John Drysdale accompanied the students to Portland. They will play for the Oregon Education association meetings, and will also appear on radio and television programs.

George Sloniger is organizing a golf program for boys at Mc-

Loughlin. He will also sponsor a group at Hedrick. According to the schedule, lessons will be given on Tuesdays, competitive matches played on Fridays, and the other days will be devoted to practice and play. Golfers will meet after school classes, and will play at the Rogue Valley Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Voss are attending the convention of Oregon Educators association in Portland, March 14 to 16. McLaughlin is closing the basketball season with a single elimination intra-mural tourney. Twenty-six home games are participating. The first games were played Monday morning, and finals will be held Wednesday noon. Members of the school's regular squad are serving as officials, and boys who did not play in competition are playing in this wind-up tourney.

400 Attend Journal Juniors Performance

Between 400 and 500 persons attended last night's performance of the Journal Juniors and Seniors at the Medford high school auditorium, sponsored by Loyal Order of Moose.

The 25 acts were performed by 30 youngsters ten years of age and over, all from the Portland area. They have travelled about 18,000 miles and entertained 150,000 people in the past year.

The first $100 of the show's net proceeds will go to the new Rogue Valley Memorial hospital and the remainder to finance civic enterprises of the local Moose lodge. Show Chairman Ray Martin stated.
