AAUW President On Planning Unit For Conference

The president of the Oregon State Division, American Association of University Women, Mrs. Willard R. Duncan, Klamath Falls, has been named to the general planning committee for the conference of presidents of state divisions to be held at the Sheraton Park hotel, Washington, D.C., June 20-23. Mrs. Duncan will serve as hostess for the Wednesday evening social hour.

Every other year the association calls state presidents to Washington for a conference on programs and plans for the national convention and for the association in general. Theme for this year's meeting—Based on the 1955 Los Angeles national convention theme—"The Future: Product of Our Choice."

Mrs. Wade E. Shurtliff, Ohio state president, is chairman of the 10-member planning committee of presidents from nine states and the District of Columbia.

Participants in addition to state presidents will be the national association officers, including Dr. Anna L. Rose Hawks, president, former dean of women at Mills College, Oakland, Calif., board members and headquarters staff.

In anticipation of the 1957 national convention at Boston, a survey committee has presented the following question for consideration at the state presidents conference: How can the American Association of University Women develop a vital program for its members and for society in its next quarter of a century? The survey committee is inviting branches and individual members to study this question and make recommendations for AAUW program in the next 25 years.
