

NEW DAIRY FEED—A new dairy feed, now being produced on two Jackson county dairy farms, is grown by planting seeds in a chemical solution in heated, glass enclosed units. Each tray of seeds, when sprouted, produces about 40 pounds of feed. Shown above at Gilman's Dairy are W. G. Jamieson, area agent for the units, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Gilman.

Dairy Feed From Sprouted Grain Recently Introduced in County

A dairy feed from newly sprouted grain has been recently introduced in Jackson county.

Units to produce feed for 60 cows were recently installed at Gilman's Dairy, Merriman rd., and a 20 cow unit at Laurel Haven dairy farm owned by James and Noela Edge, Eagle Point.

Seed placed in trays in the units are automatically heated and kept damp by water containing a chemical to hasten growth. In six days sprouts on the seed grow to a height of about eight inches.

Operators of the units at Gilman's claim that when cattle become accustomed to the new feed the amount of hay fed may be reduced 50 per cent and the amount of dairy feed, 33 per cent. The manufacturers of the units claim that milk production and butterfat content of the milk will increase about 10 per cent when the sprouted grain is fed.

Gilman stated that the new feed has not been used on his ranch long enough to determine results accurately.

A 20-cow unit, constructed of glass and steel, has seven layers with 10 trays in each layer.

Torrid Letters Bring Rage of Tokyo Wives

Tokyo—(U.P.)—Scores of Tokyo husbands paled in bewildered fright today. And scores of angry Tokyo wives waved torrid, perfumed letters under the noses of their husbands and demanded an explanation.

"That night when I, an innocent little girl who knew nothing about worldly things ran away from home to you my beloved," the letters began, "was for me my first embarrassing, yet happy experience as a woman."

"We have now become inseparable. Recalling memories of that night, my little heart will be filled with your lovable face. Your Tsu-yuko—I am and always shall remain lovable."

That was about as far as most of the wives read before they turned on their stunned spouses.

The husbands read further and found the answer. The letters were an advertisement for a Tokyo picture, "Iro Zange," or "Penitence for Sexual Passion."

Portland Minister Faces Assault Charge

Portland — (U.P.) — The second trial on assault and battery charges brought by a Portland woman against the Rev. Elbert D. Riddick was under way today in Circuit court.

Riddick was convicted of the charge in Municipal Court but appealed to the Circuit Court.

Mrs. Lizzie Sheppard, 28, accused the clergyman of striking her with a rake as she and four children walked past his church last August.

Estes Kefauver Takes Campaign Into California

San Francisco — (U.P.) — Sen. Estes Kefauver flew to California today to capitalize on his stunning victory in the Minnesota presidential primary election.

The presence of the Tennessee Democrat spurred his enthusiastic followers to get out and work even harder for a victory in California's June 5 primary where Kefauver again opposes a slate pledged to Adlai E. Stevenson. in State Five Days

Kefauver arrived in San Francisco before dawn after a flight from Great Falls, Mont. He will be in California five days.

After a brief rest, he planned to appear at a news conference. Then he scheduled personal appearances in San Francisco's populous Mission and Fillmore districts.

Tonight, he appears at a Bonds for Israel dinner and then crosses the bay to Richmond to address a labor meeting. He leaves for Los Angeles tomorrow.

Meanwhile, supporters of Kefauver and Stevenson differed in their interpretations of the Minnesota primary results.

Crossing Lines Seen
California Attorney General Edmund G. Brown, leader of "regular" party forces backing Stevenson, said the results meant that many Republicans crossed party lines to vote against Stevenson, "recognizing him as the most dangerous threat to President Eisenhower's election."

But Lyle Cook, Northern California Kefauver campaign chairman, issued a statement saying Brown was "hard pressed for a cheerful response" to the election.

Siskiyou Supervisors Vote Down Sales Tax
Yreka — A one per cent Siskiyou county sales tax was voted down by the board of supervisors here Tuesday after considering the desires of cities of the county.

The main criticism of the tax was that it would drive more trade into Oregon.

Six towns in the county opposed the tax increase while only three favored the move. Those opposed were Yreka, Tulelake, Etna, Montague, Weed and Dorris.

Representatives from Tulelake stated that if the tax were imposed there, some of the merchants would sell their businesses because they would no longer be able to compete with the Oregon market.

Oregon Journalism School Selects Dean

Eugene — (U.P.) — The University of Oregon today announced the appointment of Charles T. Duncan to be fifth dean of the University's journalism school. He has been acting dean since the resignation of Gordon A. Sabine last June.

Duncan, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, has been a member of the staff of the 40-year-old professional school since 1951. In the journalism field he has worked as a reporter, advertising manager, managing editor and wire service correspondent.

The appointment is subject to confirmation by the State Board of Higher Education.

Bend — (U.P.) — George McGrath, publisher of the Lower Columbia Eagle at Cathlamet, Wash., announced yesterday that he has purchased the Mid-Statesman, weekly newspaper here. McGrath said he will assume the duties of editor and publisher.

Ernest Borgnine, 'Marty' Grab Coveted Motion Picture Oscars

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Correspondent

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Homely newcomer Ernest Borgnine and his picture, a low-budget little film named "Marty," swept over veteran actors and expensive pictures Wednesday night to win Hollywood's coveted Oscars.

Another offbeat newcomer to Hollywood films, Italy's fiery Anna Magnani, was honored as the best actress of 1955 for her explosive role in "The Rose Tattoo," her first U. S. movie.

The supporting player awards made it an all-newcomer year. Jo Van Fleet snared the award for "East of Eden" and Jack Lemmon was honored for "Mister Roberts."

But it was the toothy Borgnine and the unpretentious "Marty" that captured the sentiment of more than 2,000 celebrities in black tie and glittering evening gowns who jammed the Hollywood Pantages Theater on Hollywood Blvd., for the 28th annual award ceremony.

Taken From TV
"Marty" was made in New York from a television drama at a cost of only $300,000. But it swept over such multi-million dollar production as "Picnic" and "Mr. Roberts" in the election among the 1,700 members of the honorary academy of motion picture arts and sciences.

Borgnine a year ago was only a player of small villain roles in films and a virtual unknown. But Wednesday night the 38-year-old actor heard his name called by Grace Kelly, last year's best actress winner, as the top actor of 1955 for his first starring role—a gentle, lonely butcher in "Marty."

None of the winners had been nominated before for an academy award. Miss Van Fleet, a recent addition to Hollywood from the New York stage and TV, won the supporting actress Oscar for her first film. Lemmon is another comparative newcomer who was lured from New York television.

"Marty" also walked off with Oscars for best direction, to Delbert Mann, and for best screen play to Paddy Chayefsky. Both collected their trophies at the New York section of the telecast.
