

News About Books From the Library

By MISS HELEN WEBSTER
Medford Librarian

A donation of $100 was made to the Medford Public Library last week by the Jackson County Public Library association for the purchase of books about family life.

A list of 13 titles which the association would like to have available in the Medford Public and Jackson County libraries was also submitted, and these will be purchased immediately to start the well-rounded collection of books on this subject, which the donation will make possible.

Other groups are invited to participate in the same way to build up subject collections in which they are interested, thus making additional books available to all their members. The library's limited funds for books must be extended as impartially as possible over hundreds of subject interests, without specializing in any.

It buys general books on religion, for instance, but cannot attempt to cover the histories and doctrines of the many denominations. However, it would gladly accept gifts of from one to five books of standard worth on any of these.

Lodge Gift

Another organization which has made a library donation recently is the Olive Rebekah Lodge which, in memory of the late Mrs. Carrie Mae Rickett Morand, is purchasing "The Home Gardening Encyclopedia," for library circulation. The selection was made after consultation with the librarian as to titles already in the library's collection and new books available. More advantageous purchase can usually be made in this way, groups are advised.

Individual donations were received during March from Mrs. W. M. Voter, Fred B. McKee, Mrs. J. D. Althouse, Margaret Hanawalt, Lucille Ames, and Mrs. Harry L. Tilton. A total of 153 gift books were added to the library this month, and 393 purchased books. Of the 546 total, 296 were new titles, 213 of them adult. The list of these follows:

Fong Murder Trial Recessed Saturday

Portland — (U.P.) — The Fong murder trial resumed briefly in Circuit Court here Saturday and then was recessed until Monday when the defense was expected to recall Pio Riego to the witness stand.

Wey Him Fong is on trial for the second time, charged with the first degree murder of Diane Hank, his 16-year-old babysitter. Fong's wife has been convicted of second degree murder in connection with the case but has appealed.

Circuit Judge Frank J. Lonergan denied a defense request to have Riego disrobe in the judge's chambers to determine if there were any marks on his body. The witness testified through a Filipino interpreter that there were no marks on his body and he replied "nobody" when Defense Attorney John P. Hannon asked him if police officers had struck him.

Riego testified earlier that Fong had threatened to kill him if he went to the authorities with the report that Fong wanted Riego's help in disposing of a body in the trunk of his car.

The state concluded questioning of 29 of its own witnesses Friday. Deputy District Attorney Howard Lonergan said he hoped to complete the state's case by the middle of next week.

Meeting of Interim Elections Group Set

Salem — (U.P.) — The Legislative Interim Committee on Elections will meet here at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Chairman Pat Lonergan of Portland said major items to be considered will be a research memorandum covering voters' pamphlets, initiative, referendum and recall district elections, and a preliminary study draft of legislation intended to provide the organizational framework and a few of the procedural requirements of the recommendations the committee has approved.

The research memorandum recommends that only one voters' pamphlet be distributed to each household. It is estimated that this would save at least 35 per cent of the number of pamphlets required. The pamphlet now goes to each registered voter — usually two or more to a house.

Labor Organization Acquires New Name

Portland — (U.P.) — When merger of the state AFL-CIO unions is completed in June, the new organization will be called the Oregon State Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

Details of the new organizational structure were reported Saturday by state union officials. President of the combined union organization will be J. D. McDonald, present head of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, composed of former AFL unions.

Jess Bell, president of the Oregon State Industrial Union Council, made up of former CIO unions, will be first vice-president of the new group.

J. T. Marr, present executive secretary of the state CIO council, will take over similar duties in the merged union organization.

Petitions Circulate For Lt. Governor

Portland — (U.P.) — Petitions aimed at creating the office of lieutenant governor were being circulated Saturday in Oregon by the Oregon State Grange, the Oregon Farmers Union and the AFL-CIO.

The petitioners hoped to have 40,093 valid signatures on the petition by July 3.

The initiative measure would be a constitutional amendment creating the lieutenant govern-nor's office with the person elected next in line of succession to the governor's chair.

Under the proposal, the lieutenant governor would be acting governor in event the state's chief executive was out of the state and he also would serve as president of the Senate. His salary would be not less than $5,000 a year.

Moves to create the post of lieutenant governor in Oregon have been defeated by the voters on four previous occasions. Thirty-nine states have lieutenant governors.

Mrs. Burton To Head Oregon Kefauver Drive

Portland — (U.P.) — Mrs. Lillian Burton, Democratic national committeewoman for Oregon, has been named to head the women's division for the write-in campaign for Sen. Estes Kefauver for the Democratic presidential nomination in Oregon's May primary.

Mrs. Burton's appointment was announced Saturday by Jack Bain and William L. Josslin, joint chairmen of the Oregon-for-Kefauver committee.
