

Ike Must Accept Higher Corn, Wheat Supports for GOP Backing, Source Says

Washington — (AP) — A Republican congressional source said today President Eisenhower will have to accept higher support prices for 1956 crop corn and wheat to get maximum GOP support for revamping the Democratic "catch-all" farm bill.

A Senate-House conference committee still is working on the catch-all bill and hopes to have it ready for a showdown vote on the House floor April 11. It contains many features the administration finds objectionable.

Mr. Eisenhower yesterday urged Congress to produce "a good farm bill," and to do so "promptly." He made the statement in signing into law two measures which he hailed as "an important step forward in our agricultural program."

Administration forces plan to try to revamp the catch-all bill when it is returned by the conference committee to the House. One big question is whether the administration on that showdown vote can win the support of some of the 21 Republicans who helped the Democrats put a rigid 90 per cent bill through the House by a five-vote margin last year. The Republican source, who declined to be quoted by name, told a reporter that some of these Republicans already have indicated they would refuse to support the administration move unless:

1. The compromise legisla-
2. President Eisenhower pass-

tion calls for at least 85 per cent or possibly 87 per cent of parity on basic crops this year. es the word that he would definitely veto 80 per cent support legislation.
