

Lake Readied For Regatta This Sunday

Members of Western Speedboat association said today that the course and facilities are set for their annual regatta at Emigrant lake.

The races are billed for Sunday afternoon at the irrigation reservoir four miles southeast of Ashland on Highway 66.

Stands are up and buoys have been put in place on the course. Most of the work was accomplished last week end. Racing members of the WSA have spent spare hours at the lake this week tuning up their outboard motors and getting the feel of their craft on the Emigrant surface.

Enough entries already are in to assure a full program of events, the WSA officials have said. Some 50 entrants have registered so far. There will be six races of two heats each. Heats will be of five laps. Competition will be for B and D stock hydroplanes, F hydros and DU, BU and D runabouts.

Contestants are expected from throughout Oregon and from northern California. The list of entries is expected to swell over the present total since a number of racers, including some of the local ones, are not planning to register until almost the last minute.

Invitations have been sent out to clubs up and down the Pacific coast.

There will be cash prizes as well as trophies for winners. First race is to get underway at 1 p.m.

Solons Have Young Squad; Dressen's Fingers Crossed

(This is the 15th in a series on the 1956 prospects of the major league clubs.)

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
Charleston, S. C.—(U.P.)—Manager Chuck Dressen is quite enthusiastic about having "the youngest club in the American League," but the inexperienced Washington Senators may make an old man of him before the year is out.

Dressen says he's keeping his fingers crossed and hoping that the kids pan out, but if they don't, the Senators could wind up in the basement for the second straight year.

If the kids click, on the other hand, Washington could go as high as sixth, but fifth place seems out of reach even though Dressen says he thinks the Senators are "an outside chance" of finishing in the first division. Pitching is "All Right."

Dressen says he thinks his pitching will be "all right," but it shapes up a long way from being spectacular.

For starters, he names left-handers Dean Stone, Chuck Stobbs and Bob Weisler, acquired during the winter from the Yankees, and right-handers Ted Abernathy, Camillo Pascual and Dick Brodowski. Hal Griggs, who won 15 games with Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. last year, has looked good this spring and could shoulder his way into the starting rotation.

Dressen also expects to receive some pitching help from right-hander Connie Grob, who won 11 games for Mobile last season and was Washington's No. 1 draft choice last November, and possibly from Al Curtis, another right-hander, who came to the Senators from the Red Sox in the deal which sent Mickey Vernon, Bob Porterfield and Johnny Schmitz to Boston.

Pedro Ramos and Bob Chalkles probably will head the bullpen crew.

In the catching department, Dressen has been heartened by the work of Lou Berberet, another ex-Yankee. Ed Fitzgerald and Clint Courtney are the other Senator catchers.

Infield Not Set
Washington's infield isn't set yet but Dressen says he isn't overly worried about it. At first base, he may alternate right-handed hitting Roy Sievers and left-handed hitting Julio Besquer, with Sievers moving to the outfield on days he doesn't play first.

Rookie Herb Plews, who batted .302 with Denver last year, has been handed the second base job and Jose Valdivielso will probably hold down shortstop although Jerry Snyder also is a contender for the position. Veteran Eddie Yost, who reports his arm ailment all but healed, will be at third base.

In the outfield, Dressen has been playing Pete Runnels, a converted second baseman; little Ernie Oravetz and big, lumbering Carlos Paula. He also has Johnny Groth, Karl Olson and bonus baby Jerry Schoonmaker along with Dick Tettelbach, Whitey Herzog and Jim Lemon.

Canadiens Take Second Straight

Montreal—(U.P.)—The Montreal Canadiens, fresh from two straight victories over the Detroit Red Wings, headed for the Motor City today, hoping to bring back hockey's most prized trophy—the Stanley Cup.

The colorful Canadiens made no doubt about Tuesday night's second game in the best four-of-seven finals, after coming up with a "frenzied" four goal, third period in the opening game to win 6-4.

Tuesday night they jumped out in front with a single goal in the first period and kept improving it for the next 40 minutes, winning the second game by a wide margin of 5-1.

DUCKS CRIPPLED

Eugene—(U.P.)—Bob Reid, veteran Oregon pole vaulter, suffered a sprained ankle in practice and probably will miss the Oregon State track meet here Saturday. Coach Bill Bowerman said today. Martin Pedigo, 1955 Northern division champion broad jumper, also is on the sidelines. He has a pulled leg muscle.

Detroit is farther from Houghton, Mich., than it is from Baltimore or Washington, D.C.
